Hard Work Ye Ken:

"Hard Work, Ye Ken" Ian MacDougall, 1993 Agnes Belle Jessie and Ruth speak to us straight off the page in their characteristic Midlothian in this the second book in the Flashbacks series Each woman has her individual tale to tell but a common thread runs through The life of a bondager was no rural idyll but one of long hours and hard work born with patient dignity Whether digging tatties hoeing turnips or snatching the farmer s chickens when he wasn t looking these four daughters of the soil bestride their busy canvas every facet of their lives brought vividly before us in their own words Mr. Standfast John Buchan, 2015-10-18 I spent one third of my journey looking out of the window of a first class carriage the next in a local motor car following the course of a trout stream in a shallow valley and the last tramping over a ridge of downland through great beech woods to my quarters for the night In the first part I was in an infamous temper in the second I was worried and mystified but the cool twilight of the third stage calmed and heartened me and I reached the gates of Fosse Manor with a mighty appetite and a quiet mind As we slipped up the Thames valley on the smooth Great Western line I had reflected ruefully on the thorns in the path of duty For more than a year I had never been out of khaki except the months I spent in hospital They gave me my battalion before the Somme and I came out of that weary battle after the first big September fighting with a crack in my head and a D S O I had received a C B for the Erzerum business so what with these and my Matabele and South African medals and the Legion of Honour I had a chest like the High Priest s breastplate I rejoined in January and got a brigade on the eve of Arras There we had a star turn and took about as many prisoners as we put infantry over the top After that we were hauled out for a month and subsequently planted in a bad bit on the Scarpe with a hint that we would soon be used for a big push Then suddenly I was ordered home to report to the War Office and passed on by them to Bullivant and his merry men So here I was sitting in a railway carriage in a grey tweed suit with a neat new suitcase on the rack labelled C B The initials stood for Cornelius Brand for that was my name now And an old boy in the corner was asking me questions and wondering audibly why I wasn t fighting while a young blood of a second lieutenant with a wound stripe was eyeing me with scorn The old chap was one of the cross examining type and after he had borrowed my matches he set to work to find out all about me He was a tremendous fire eater and a bit of a pessimist about our slow progress in the west I told him I came from South Africa and was a mining engineer Delphi Complete Works of John

Women at Work, 1860-1939 Valerie G. Hall, 2013 A major contribution to women's history labour history and economic and social history This book examines three different groups of women in coal mining communities in inshore fishing communities and in agricultural labour It demonstrates how the work these groups undertook was fundamental in shaping their experiences as women in different ways and shows that women's experiences varied within class as well as between classes The book illustrates how mining women despite being restricted to domestic roles created through meticulous housekeeping a power base in their homes and rendered their husbands dependent on them while a minority took so active a role in politics that they were said to be the backbone of the Labour Party how fisher women engaging in a household economy reminiscent of pre modern times exercised great influence on financial decision making through their roles in baiting lines and selling fish and how some single female agricultural labourers exercised considerable autonomy whereas those who were tied in a family economy had little independence Overall the book makes a very significant contribution to women's history to labour history and to economic and social history This is a tremendously useful and relevant book for historians of women as well as social and labor historians Professor Joan Scott Institute of Advanced Studies Princeton University VALERIE HALL is Professor Emerita of History at William Peace University North Carolina
