To Be Useful to the World Joan R. Gundersen,2006-12-08 Offering an interpretation of the Revolutionary period that places women at the center Joan R Gundersen provides a synthesis of the scholarship on women s experiences during the era as well as a nuanced understanding that moves beyond a view of the war as either a golden age or a disaster for women Gundersen argues that women s lives varied greatly depending on race and class but all women had to work within shifting parameters that enabled opportunities for some while constraining opportunities for others Three generations of women in three households personalize these changes Elizabeth Dutoy Porter member of the small planter class whose Virginia household included an African American enslaved woman named Peg Deborah Franklin common law wife of the prosperous revolutionary Benjamin and Margaret Brant matriarch of a prominent Mohawk family who sided with the British during the war This edition incorporates substantial revisions in the text and the notes to take into account the scholarship that has appeared since the book's original publication in 1996 This Remote Part of the World Bradford J. Wood, 2004 Between 1700 and 1775 no colony in British America experienced more impressive growth than North Carolina and no region within the colony developed as rapidly as the Lower Cape Fear In his study of this eighteenth century settlement Bradford J Wood challenges many commonly held beliefs presenting the Lower Cape Fear as a prime example for understanding North Carolina and the entirety of colonial America as a patchwork of regional cultures The Ties that Buy Ellen Hartigan-O'Connor, 2009 The author traces the lives of urban women in early America to reveal how they used the ties of residence work credit and money to shape consumer culture at a time when the politics of the marketplace were gaining national significance Consumerism and the Emergence of the Middle Class in Colonial America Christina J. Hodge, 2014-07-14 This interdisciplinary study presents compelling evidence for a revolutionary idea that to understand the historical entrenchment of gentility in America we must understand its creation among non elite people colonial middling sorts who laid the groundwork for the later American middle class Focusing on the daily life of Widow Elizabeth Pratt a shopkeeper from early eighteenth century Newport Rhode Island Christina J Hodge uses material remains as a means of reconstructing not only how Mrs Pratt lived but also how these objects reflect shifting class and gender relationships in this period Challenging the emulation thesis a common assumption that wealthy elites led fashion and culture change while middling sorts only followed Hodge shows how middling consumers were in fact discerning cultural leaders adopting genteel material practices early and aggressively By focusing on the rise and emergence of the middle class this book brings new insights into the evolution of consumerism class and identity in colonial America Choice , 2002 The Oxford Encyclopedia of Women in World History Bonnie G. Smith, 2008 The Encyclopedia of Women in World History captures the experiences of women throughout world history in a comprehensive 4 volume work Although there has been extensive research on women in history by region no text or reference work has comprehensively covered the role women have played throughout world history The past thirty years have seen an explosion of research and effort to present the experiences and contributions of women not only in the Western world but across the globe Historians have investigated women's daily lives in virtually every region and have researched the leadership roles women have filled across time and region They have found and demonstrated that there is virtually no historical social or demographic change in which women have not been involved and by which their lives have not been affected The Oxford Encyclopedia of Women in World History benefits greatly from these efforts and experiences and illuminates how women worldwide have influenced and been influenced by these historical social and demographic changes The Encyclopedia contains over 1 250 signed articles arranged in an A Z format for ease of use The entries cover six main areas biographies geography and history comparative culture and society including adoption abortion performing arts organizations and movements such as the Egyptian Uprising and the Paris Commune women's and gender studies and topics in world history that include slave trade globalization and disease With its rich and insightful entries by leading scholars and experts this reference work is sure to be a valued go to resource for scholars college and high school students and general readers alike Art in a Season of Revolution Margaretta M.
