Deleuze Michael Starr,2017-06-14 The writings of H G Wells have had a profound influence on literary and cinematic depictions of the present and the possible future and modern science fiction continues to be indebted to his scientific romances such as The Time Machine The War of the Worlds and The Island of Doctor Moreau Interpreted and adapted for more than a century Wells s texts have resisted easy categorization and are perennial subjects for emerging critical and theoretical perspectives The author examines Wells s works through the post structuralist philosophy of Gilles Deleuze Via this critical perspective concepts now synonymous with science fiction such as time travel alien invasion and transhumanism demonstrate the intrinsic relevance of Wells to the genre and contemporary thought      Vegetarianism and Veganism in

Literature from the Ancients to the Twenty-First Century Theophilus Savvas,2024-05-29 Vegetarianism and Veganism in Literature from the Ancients to the Twenty First Century re assesses both canonical and less well known literary texts to illuminate how vegetarianism and veganism can be understood as literary phenomena as well as dietary and cultural practices It offers a broad historical span ranging from ancient thinkers and writers such as Pythagoras and Ovid to contemporary novelists including Ruth L Ozeki and Jonathan Franzen The expansive historical scope is complemented by a cross cultural focus which emphasises that the philosophy behind these diets has developed through a dialogic relationship between east and west The book demonstrates also the way in which carnivorism has functioned as an ideology one which has underpinned actions harmful to both human and non human animals      History of the Gothic: Gothic Literature

1825-1914 Jarlath Killeen,2009-07-01 Examines how themes and trends associated with the early Gothic novels were diffused in many genres in the Victorian period including the ghost story the detective story and the adventure story

Nineteenth Century Science Fiction David Seed,2023-07-18 This volume presents a selection from the American and British fiction of the nineteenth century which was evolving into what we now know as science fiction Taking Frankenstein as its formative work it assembles stories and excerpts from narratives exploring the complex impact of new technologies like the telegraph and later the cinema or new scientific practices like mesmerism hypnotism and microscopy The selected authors range from those famous within the realist tradition like George Eliot and Mark Twain to scientists like the physician Silas Weir Mitchell and the inventor Thomas Edison They repeatedly destabilize their narratives so that some come to resemble scientific records and frequently leave their endings unresolved encouraging the reader to speculate about their subjects which include extensions to the senses new inventions and challenges to individual autonomy Many focus on experiments but might combine scientific enquiry with the supernatural producing hybrid narratives as a result which are difficult to classify      What Animals Mean in the Fiction of Modernity Philip Armstrong,2008-02-19 What Animals Mean

in the Fiction of Modernity argues that nonhuman animals and stories about them have always been closely bound up with the conceptual and material work of modernity In the first half of the book Philip Armstrong examines the function of animals and animal representations in four classic narratives Robinson Crusoe Gulliver s Travels Frankenstein and Moby Dick He then goes on to explore how these stories have been re worked in ways that reflect shifting social and environmental forces by later novelists including H G Wells Upton Sinclair D H Lawrence Ernest Hemingway Franz Kafka Brigid Brophy Bernard Malamud Timothy Findley Will Self Margaret Atwood Yann Martel and J M Coetzee What Animals Mean in the Fiction of Modernity also introduces readers to new developments in the study of human animal relations It does so by attending both to the significance of animals to humans and to animals own purposes or designs to what animals mean to us and to what they mean to do and how they mean to live

Paranoid Modernism David Trotter, 2001 Seeking reasons for modernism's compulsion to experiment, this book explores contemporary definitions of paranoia and its examination through fiction.

Language, Science and Popular Fiction in the Victorian Fin-de-Siècle Christine Ferguson, 2017-03-02 Christine Ferguson's timely study is the first comprehensive examination of the importance of language in forming a crucial nexus among popular fiction, biology, and philology at the Victorian fin de siècle. Focusing on a variety of literary and non-literary texts, the book maps out the dialogue between the Victorian life and social sciences most involved in the study of language and the literary genre frequently indicted for causing linguistic corruption and debasement: popular fiction. Ferguson demonstrates how Darwinian biological, philological, and anthropological accounts of primitive and animal language were co-opted into wider cultural debates about the apparent brutality of popular fiction and shows how popular novelists such as Marie Corelli, Grant Allen, H. G. Wells, H. Rider Haggard, and Bram Stoker used their fantastic narratives to radically reformulate the relationships among language, thought, and progress that underwrote much of the contemporary prejudice against mass literary taste. In its alignment of scientific, cultural, and popular discourses of human language, Language, Science and Popular Fiction in the Victorian Fin de Siècle stands as a corrective to assessments of best-selling fiction's intellectual, ideological, and aesthetic simplicity.

Evolution and Victorian Culture Bernard V. Lightman, Bennett Zon, 2014-05-29 These essays examine the dynamic interplay between evolution and Victorian culture, mapping new relationships between the arts and sciences.

Unmapped Countries Anne-Julia Zwierlein, 2005 An enlightening, multi-disciplinary investigation into the fascinating and courageous scientific explorations of the nineteenth century.

Food and Culture in the Works of Ford Madox Ford, Gertrude Stein, and Virginia Woolf Nanette O'Brien, 2024 Tracing a line of transatlantic aesthetics and gendered productions of modernism, this monograph reveals the centrality of agriculture, cookery, domestic work, and institutional dining to modernist authors.

H.G. Wells Under Revision Patrick Parrinder, Christopher Rolfe, 1990 Dissatisfied with her relationship with her boyfriend, Constance Wechselburger, a graduate film student embarks on a disheartening, confusing quest in search of her vision of the ideal intellectual mate.

Giants of the Past Lisa Hopkins, 2004 This book considers the ways in which the idea of evolution has been used in popular fiction, focusing mainly on novels of the Victorian and Edwardian periods but also including a closing section on Steven Spielberg's first two Jurassic Park films. The book's overall argument is that in many of these texts, the version of origins proffered by Darwinian theory is suggestively played off against both the version of human origins offered by Milton and the book suggests implicitly supported by Shakespeare and the version of national origins offered by Virgil and by the myth of Brutus legendary grandson of Aeneas and supposed first founder of Britain Nevertheless although these novels tend to give such prominence to alternatives to Darwinian theory they are also very ready to draw on any aspects of it which will lend support to their own agendas especially when it comes to drawing sharp distinctions between races and sexes Although Darwinian theory posed challenges to contemporary orthodoxies and pieties it could thus also be used in the support of some of them
