Guts Glory Great American War Movies:

Guts & Glory Lawrence H. Suid, 1978 An excellent contribution to the growing studies on American films and to the war film genre in particular The author defines war movies as those in which combat or its influence are central although military movies in which military men are portrayed in training or preserving peace are also considered Within these definitions Suid selects several dozen films from The Big Parade 1925 to Apocalypse Now and uses them to develop his main themes the image of the military presented to mass audiences and the related question of the military's assistance to film makers The relationship between Washington and Hollywood that emerges will be a disappointment for anyone seeking confirmation of conspiracy The Pentagon is always looking for positive portrayals of the services and the military's chief concern has been for accuracy in detail and procedure with increasing sensitivity to any costs to taxpayers The author concludes that as long as movies can portray individual bravery perseverance or the excitement of challenging death in personal combat they will maintain their special place in American homes and theaters

Cases in Public Policy and Administration Jay M. Shafritz, Christopher P. Borick, 2015-08-07 Writing the perfect complement to their bestseller Introducing Public Administration Shafritz and Borick highlight the great drama inherent in public policy and the ingenuity of its makers and administrators in this new casebook that brings thrilling true life adventures in public administration to life in an engaging witty style Drawing on a unique assortment of literary historic and modern examples Cases in Public Policy and Administration exposes students to public administration in practice by telling the tales of How Thurgood Marshall led the legal fight for civil rights and made it possible for Barack Obama to become president How the ideas of an academic economist and a famous novelist led to the recession that started in 2008 How Al Gore really deserves just a little bit of credit for inventing the Internet How the decision was made by President Harry Truman to drop the first atomic bomb on Japan in order to end World War II How the current American welfare state was inspired by a German chancellor How a Nazi war criminal inadvertently provided the world with a lesson in bureaucratic ethics How Napoleon Bonaparte encouraged the job of chief of staff to escape from the military and live in contemporary civilian offices How an obscure state department bureaucrat wrote the policy of containment that allowed the United States to win the Cold War with the Soviet Union How Dwight D Eisenhower was started on the road to the presidency by a mentor he found in the Panamanian rain forest How Florence Nightingale gathered statistics during the Crimean War that helped lead to contemporary program evaluation

Remembered Prisoners of a Forgotten War Lewis H. Carlson, 2025-06-25 Remembered Prisoners of a Forgotten War presents a devastating oral history of Korean War POWs The Korean War POW remains the most maligned victim of all American wars For nearly half a century the media general public and even scholars have described hundreds of these prisoners as brainwashed victims who uncharacteristically caved in to their Communist captors or even worse as turncoats who betrayed their fellow soldiers In either case these boys apparently lacked the right stuff required of our brave sons Here at long last is a chance to hear the true story of these courageous men in their own words a story that until now has gone largely untold Dr Carlson debunks many of the popular myths of Korean War POWs in this devastating oral history that is as compelling and moving as it is informative From the Tiger Death March to the paranoia here at home Korean POWs suffered injustices on a scale few can comprehend More than 40 percent of the 7 140 Americans taken prisoner died in captivity and as haunting tales of the survivors unfold it becomes clear that the goal of these men was simply to survive under the most terrible conditions Each survivor's story is a unique and personal experience from missionary teacher Larry Zeller's imprisonment in the death cells of Pyongyang and his first encounter with the infamous killer known as The Tiger to Rubin Townsend's daring escape from a death march by jumping off a bridge in a blinding snowstorm From capture to forced marches isolation permanent camps and torture Remembered Prisoners of a Forgotten War is one of the most fascinating and disturbing books on the Korean War in years and a brutally honest account of the Korean POW experience in the survivors own words

Hollywood's War with Poland, 1939-1945 M.B.B. Biskupski, 2010-01-08 This passionate carefully researched richly detailed well written study reveals the political motives behind WWII Hollywood's portrayal of Poles Choice During World War II Hollywood studios supported the war effort by making patriotic movies designed to raise the nation's morale Often the characterizations were as black and white as the movies themselves Americans and their allies were heroes while everyone else was a villain The peoples of Norway France Czechoslovakia and England were all good because they had been invaded or victimized by Nazi Germany Yet Poland the first country to be invaded by the Third Reich was repeatedly represented in a negative light In this prize winning study Polish historian M B B Biskupski explores why Biskupski presents a close critical study of prewar and wartime films such as To Be or Not to Be In Our Time and None Shall Escape Through memoirs letters diaries and memoranda written by screenwriters directors studio heads and actors Biskupski examines how the political climate and especially pro Soviet sentiment influenced Hollywood films of the time Winner of the Oscar Halecki Prize A Choice Outstanding Academic Title

War and Press Freedom Jeffery A. Smith, 1999-02-25 War and Press Freedom The Problem of Prerogative Power is a groundbreaking and provocative study of one of the most perplexing civil liberties issues in American history What authority does or should the government have to control press coverage and commentary in wartime First Amendment scholar Jeffery A Smith shows convincingly that no such extraordinary power exists under the Constitution and that officials have had to rely on claiming the existence of an autocratic higher law of survival Smith carefully surveys the development of statutory restrictions and military regulations for the news media from the ratification of the Bill of Rights in 1791 through the Gulf War of 1991 He concludes that the armed forces can justify refusal to divulge a narrow range of defense secrets but that imposing other restrictions is unwise unnecessary and unconstitutional In any event as electronic communication becomes almost impossible to constrain soldiers and journalists must learn how to respect each other's obligations in a democratic system

Film Study Frank Manchel, 1990-10 The four volumes of Film Study include a fresh approach to each of the basic categories in the original edition Volume one examines the film as film volume two focuses on the thematic approach to film volume three draws on the history of film and volume four contains extensive appendices listing film distributors sources and historical information as well as an index of authors titles and film personalities

War on the Silver Screen GLEN JEANSONNE, DAVID LUHRSSSEN, 2014-10-01 Americans have been almost constantly at war since 1917 In addition to two world wars the United States has fought proxy wars propaganda wars and a war on terror among others But even with the constant presence of war in American life much of what Americans remember about those conflicts comes from Hollywood depictions In War on the Silver Screen Glen Jeansonne and David Luhrssen vividly demonstrate how war movies have burned the images and impressions of those wars onto the American psyche more concretely than has the reality of the wars themselves That is our feelings about wars are generated less by what we learn through study and discourse than by powerful cinematic images and dialogue Films are compressed intense and immediate and often a collective experience rather than a solitary one Actors and drama provide the visceral impact necessary to form perceptions of history that are much more enduring than those generated by other media or experiences War on the Silver Screen draws on more than a century of films and history including classics such as All Quiet on the Western Front Apocalypse Now and The Hurt Locker to examine the legacy of American cinema on twentieth and twenty first century attitudes about war

A Guide to Films on the Korean War Paul M. Edwards, 1997-03-30 Written by a knowledgeable film critic and Korean War scholar this is the only guide exclusively devoted to the study of Hollywood and television films based on the Korean War 1950-1953 It opens with eight short essays discussing the appeal of the war film genre government and filmmaker cooperation the isolation of Korean War films from other war films why John Wayne didn't make a Korean War film the other actors who did the plots of Korean War films television and Korean War films and the myths resulting from films Eighty-four films are then discussed in alphabetically arranged entries The entries include production unit color status producer director screenwriter actors and actresses movie length and the author's numerical rating of the film The commentary places each film within the context of other war films the Korean War trends in Hollywood and the social and political realities of the United States The films also are listed chronologically Producers directors screenwriters actors and actresses are indexed by responsibility and are included in the general index The book also provides a list of 109 documentary films available for public viewing

Working-Class War Christian G. Appy, 2000-11-09 No one can understand the complete tragedy of the American experience in Vietnam without reading this book Nothing so underscores the ambivalence and confusion of the American commitment as does the composition of our fighting forces The rich and the powerful may have supported the war initially but they contributed little of themselves That responsibility fell to the poor and the working class of America Senator George McGovern Reminds us of the disturbing truth that some 80 percent of the 2.5 million enlisted men who served in Vietnam out of 27 million men who reached draft age during the war came from working class and impoverished backgrounds Deals especially well with the apparent paradox that the working class soldiers families back home mainly opposed the antiwar movement and for that matter so with few exceptions did the soldiers themselves New York Times Book Review Appy s treatment of the subject makes it clear to his readers almost as clear as it became for the soldiers in Vietnam that class remains the tragic dividing wall between Americans Boston Globe

World War II, Film, and History John Whiteclay Chambers II, David Culbert, 1996-10-10 The immediacy and perceived truth of the visual image as well as film and television s ability to propel viewers back into the past place the genre of the historical film in a special category War films including antiwar films have established the prevailing public image of war in the twentieth century For American audiences the dominant image of trench warfare in World War I has been provided by feature films such as All Quiet on the Western Front and Paths of Glory The image of combat in the Second World War has been shaped by films like Sands of Iwo Jima and The Longest Day And despite claims for the alleged impact of widespread television coverage of the Vietnam War it is actually films such as Apocalypse Now and Platoon which have provided the most powerful images of what is seen as the reality of that much disputed conflict But to what degree does history written with lightning as Woodrow Wilson allegedly said represent the reality of the past To what extent is visual history an oversimplification or even a distortion of the past Exploring the relationship between moving images and the society and culture in which they were produced and received World War II Film and History addresses the power these images have had in determining our perception and memories of war Examining how the public memory of war in the twentieth century has often been created more by a manufactured past than a remembered one a leading group of historians discusses films dating from the early 1930s through the early 1990s created by filmmakers the world over from the United States and Germany to Japan and the former Soviet Union For example Freda Freiberg explains how the inter racial melodramatic Japanese feature film China Nights in which a manly and protective Japanese naval officer falls in love with a beautiful young Chinese street waif and molds her into a cultured submissive wife proved enormously popular with wartime Japanese and helped justify the invasion of China in the minds of many Japanese viewers Peter Paret assesses the historical accuracy of Kolberg as a depiction of an unsuccessful siege of that German city by a French Army in 1807 and explores how the film released by Hitler s regime in January 1945 explicitly called for civilian sacrifice and last ditch resistance Stephen Ambrose contrasts what we know about the historical reality of the Allied D Day landings in Normandy on June 6 1944 with the 1962 release of The Longest Day in which the major climactic moment in the film never happened at Normandy Alice Kessler Harris examines The Life and Times of Rosie the Riveter a 1982 film documentary about women defense workers on the American home front in World War II emphasizing the degree to which the documentary s engaging main characters and its message of the need for fair and equal treatment for women resonates with many contemporary viewers And Clement Alexander Price contrasts Men of Bronze William Miles s fine documentary about black American soldiers who fought in France in World War I with

Liberators the controversial documentary by Miles and Nina Rosenblum which incorrectly claimed that African American troops liberated Holocaust survivors at Dachau in World War II In today's visually oriented world powerful images even images of images are circulated in an eternal cycle gaining increased acceptance through repetition History becomes an endless loop in which repeated images validate and reconfirm each other Based on archival materials many of which have become only recently available World War II Film and History offers an informative and a disturbing look at the complex relationship between national myths and filmic memory as well as the dangers of visual images being transformed into reality

Celluloid Mushroom Clouds Joyce Evans, 2018-03-05 Celluloid Mushroom Clouds is a historical account of how the movie industry responded to specific economic and political forces over the postwar years Joyce Evans investigates the transformation of the imagery associated with atomic technology found in Hollywood films produced and distributed between 1947 and 1964 Incorporating qualitative and quantitative research methods over 90 are analyzed in terms of their historical context and the context of film production and distribution

History of the Mass Media in the United States Margaret A. Blanchard, 2013-12-19 The influence of the mass media on American history has been overwhelming History of the Mass Media in the United States examines the ways in which the media both affects and is affected by U S society From 1690 when the first American newspaper was founded to 1995 this encyclopedia covers more than 300 years of mass media history History of Mass Media in the United States contains more than 475 alphabetically arranged entries covering subjects ranging from key areas of newspaper history to broader topics such as media coverage of wars major conflicts over press freedom court cases and legislation and the concerns and representation of ethnic and special interest groups The editor and the 200 scholarly contributors to this work have taken particular care to examine the technological legal legislative economic and political developments that have affected the American media

Film is Like a Battleground Marsha Gordon, 2017-01-04 Film is Like a Battleground Sam Fuller's War Movies is the first book to focus on the genre that best defined the American director's career the war film It draws on previously unexplored archival materials such as Fuller's Federal Bureau of Investigation files and WWII era 16mm films to explore the director's lifelong interest in making challenging thought provoking and often politically dangerous movies about war After establishing the roots of Fuller's cinematographic schooling in the trenches during World War II including careful consideration of his 16mm footage of a Nazi camp at the end of that war Film is Like a Battleground explores Fuller's first forays into hot war representation in Hollywood with the pioneering Korean conflict films The Steel Helmet 1951 and Fixed Bayonets 1951 This pair of films introduced Fuller to his first run ins with the American political machine when they triggered both FBI and Department of Defense investigations into his political sympathies and affiliations Fuller's cold war films Pickup on South Street 1953 and though it veers into hot war territory Hell and High Water 1954 are Fuller's responses to the political pressures he had now personally experienced and resented A chapter on Fuller's representation of pre American invasion Vietnam in China Gate 1957 alongside his unrealized

Vietnam war screenplay The Rifle ca late 1960s illustrates the degree to which Fuller's representation of war and nation shifted even as he continued to probe war's impossible contradictions. Film is Like a Battleground would be incomplete without a thorough exploration of the films depicting the war Fuller personally experienced and spent a lifetime contemplating WWII. Verboten 1959, Merrill's Marauders 1962 and The Big Red One 1980 demonstrate Fuller's representation of a morally justifiable war. Fuller's 1959 CBS television pilot Dogface offers a glimpse at one of Fuller's failed attempts to bring his WWII story into American living rooms. The book concludes with a chapter about a documentary film made late in the director's life that returns Fuller to the actual site of the Nazi's Falkenau camp at which he discusses his experiences there and that powerful unforgettable footage he shot in the spring of 1945. Saints, Sinners, and Soldiers

Jeffrey A. Keshen, 2007-10-01 The first ever synthesis of both the patriotic and the problematic in wartime Canada. Saints Sinners and Soldiers shows how moral and social changes and the fears they generated precipitated numerous and often contradictory legacies in law and society. From labour conflicts to the black market to prostitution and beyond, Keshen acknowledges the underbelly of Canada's Second World War and demonstrates that the Good War was a complex tapestry of social forces, not all of which were above reproach. A Certain Tendency of the Hollywood Cinema, 1930-1980

Robert B. Ray, 2020-07-21 Robert B. Ray examines the ideology of the most enduringly popular cinema in the world, the Hollywood movie. Aided by 364 frame enlargements, he describes the development of that historically overdetermined form, giving close readings of five typical instances: Casablanca, It's a Wonderful Life, The Man Who Shot Liberty Valance, The Godfather, and Taxi Driver. Like the heroes of these movies, American filmmaking has avoided commitment in both plot and technique. Instead of choosing left or right, avant-garde or tradition, American cinema tries to have it both ways. Although Hollywood's commercial success has led the world audience to equate the American cinema with film itself, Hollywood filmmaking is a particular strategy designed to respond to specific historical situations. As an art restricted in theoretical scope but rich in individual variations, the American cinema poses the most interesting question of popular culture: Do dissident forms have any chance of remaining free of a mass medium seeking to co-opt them? Acts Of War

Richard Holmes, 1989-08-04 This wide-ranging and exhaustively researched book is an attempt to grasp the very nature of war. It takes us through the soldier's experience in its entirety, from the humiliation of basic training and the intense comradeship of army life to the terror, isolation, and exhaustion of battle. Reel History

Robert Brent Toplin, 2002 The author makes an argument for clemency in judging Hollywood's interpretations of history and thoroughly investigates its serious limitations and opportunities to construe history. War in Film

Frank Jacob, 2022-03-30 The human experience of war is not only remembered by societies through memorials but also through the depiction of wars and important battles of respective national histories on screen. Very often the image presented is related to existent semiotics, and the respective sign systems determine the image of heroic actions and violence on the screen. The present volume provides a deeper insight into the forces at play when war films are presented on the big screen and intends to show why and how violent conflicts often have an afterlife as visual media as well
