Intertextual Exoticism Richard Sperber, 2025-04-24 Intertextual Exoticism reads a body of non canonical German exoticist literature published after imperial Germany's loss of colonial Oceania in 1914 applying theories of intertextuality Kristeva and recent scholarship on literary exoticism to explore Germany's postwar crises of psychology masculinity and national identity mapped onto Oceanic spaces Many readers are familiar with late Victorian texts expressing imperial Britain's anxieties Richard Sperber expands the scope of these texts in the context of a post imperial Europe examining how German exoticist literature published after German colonial loss in Oceania in 1914 intensifies the gothic themes and subjectivities of these Victorian texts The first part of this volume examines eight adventure narratives of Oceania demonstrating how they do not necessarily present or represent a single unified German colonial project They take place on islands owned by Australia and Britain and the unprepared German protagonists amateur naturalists and bungling traders are compared unfavourably to resolute Anglophone adventurers The second part then pairs five well known exoticist texts including Conrad's Heart of Darkness Stevenson's The Beach of Fales Haggard's She Hitchens The Garden of Allah and Wilde's Salome with five non canonical exoticist German texts Sperber shows through these pairings how German literary exoticism becomes a transnational and intertextual literature that rereads dominant themes in 20th century Europe's greater literatures of exoticism and colonial loss
