Haiku People Big And Small In Poems And Prints:

The Art of Haiku Stephen Addiss, 2022-11-29 In the past hundred years haiku has gone far beyond its Japanese origins to become a worldwide phenomenon with the classic poetic form growing and evolving as it has adapted to the needs of the whole range of languages and cultures that have embraced it This proliferation of the joy of haiku is cause for celebration but it can also compel us to go back to the beginning to look at haiku's development during the centuries before it was known outside Japan This in depth study of haiku history begins with the great early masters of the form like Basho Buson and Issa and goes all the way to twentieth century greats like Santoka It also focuses on an important aspect of traditional haiku that is less known in the West haiku art All the great haiku masters created paintings called haiga or calligraphy in connection with their poems and the words and images were intended to be enjoyed together enhancing each other and each adding its own dimension to the reader's and viewer's understanding Here one of the leading haiku scholars of the West takes us on a tour of haiku poetry's evolution providing along the way a wealth of examples of the poetry and the art inspired by it

Routledge Handbook of Ecocriticism and Environmental Communication Scott Slovic, Swarnalatha Rangarajan, Vidya Sarveswaran, 2019-02-01 Ecocriticism and environmental communication studies have for many years co-existed as parallel disciplines occasionally crossing paths but typically operating in separate academic spheres These fields are now rapidly converging and this handbook aims to reinforce the common concerns and methodologies of the sibling disciplines The Routledge Handbook of Ecocriticism and Environmental Communication charts the history of the relationship between ecocriticism and environmental communication studies while also highlighting key new paradigms in information studies diverse examples of practical applications of environmental communication and textual analysis and the patterns and challenges of environmental communication in non-Western societies Contributors to this book include literary film and religious studies scholars communication studies specialists environmental historians practicing journalists art critics linguists ethnographers sociologists literary theorists and others but all focus their discussions on key issues in textual representations of human nature relationships and on the challenges and possibilities of environmental communication The handbook is designed to map existing trends in both ecocriticism and environmental communication and to predict future directions This handbook will be an essential reference for teachers students and practitioners of environmental literature film journalism communication and rhetoric and well as the broader meta-discipline of environmental humanities
