Halal Food Good Eat Kuala Lumpur:

The Halal Frontier J. Fischer, 2011-08-16 In The Halal Frontier Johan Fischer shows that halal literally lawful or permitted is no longer an expression of esoteric forms of production trade and consumption but part of an expanding globalised market This book explores modern forms of halal understanding and practice in the halal consumption of middle class Malays in the diaspora

Halal Food Jumaatun Azmi, 2003-01-01 This book tackles the biggest city in the world and includes 100 restaurants take away counters and cafes that serve halal dishes The reviews on the London eating establishments are frank and are sprinkled with interesting observations of the places and surrounding areas This means you will know which restaurant you would want to save a month's salary for or just to eat there to survive All halal in all of London Features over 100 reviews of restaurants and cafes descriptive photographs easy to read maps index and icons to find the exact place you want

Halal Matters Florence Bergeaud-Blackler, Johan Fischer, John Lever, 2015-07-16 In today's globalized world halal meaning permissible or lawful is about more than food Politics power and ethics all play a role in the halal industry in setting new standards for production trade consumption and regulation The question of how modern halal markets are constituted is increasingly important and complex Written from a unique interdisciplinary global perspective this book demonstrates that as the market for halal products and services is expanding and standardizing it is also fraught with political social and economic contestation and difference The discussion is illustrated by rich ethnographic case studies from a range of contexts and consideration is given to both Muslim majority and minority societies Halal Matters will be of interest to students and scholars working across the humanities and social sciences including anthropology sociology and religious studies

Islam, Standards, and Technoscience Johan Fischer, 2015-10-23 Halal literally permissible or lawful production trade and standards have become essential to state regulated Islam and to companies in contemporary Malaysia and Singapore giving these two countries a special position in the rapidly expanding global market for halal products in these nations state bodies certify halal products as well as spaces shops factories and restaurants and work processes and so consumers can find state halal certified products from Malaysia and Singapore in shops around the world Building on ethnographic material from Malaysia Singapore and Europe this book provides an exploration of the role of halal production trade and standards Fischer explains how the global markets for halal comprise divergent zones in which Islam markets regulatory institutions and technoscience interact and diverge Focusing on the bigger institutional picture that frames everyday halal consumption Fischer provides a multisited ethnography of the overlapping technologies and techniques of production trade and standards that together warrant a product as halal and thereby help to format the market Exploring global halal in networks training laboratories activism companies shops and restaurants this book will be an essential resource to scholars and students of social science interested in the global interface zones between religion standards and technoscience

Proper Islamic Consumption Johan Fischer, 2008 The West has seen the rise of the organic movement In the Muslim world a similar halal movement is rapidly spreading Malaysia is at the forefront of this new global phenomenon Examining the powerful linkages between class consumption market relations Islam and the state in contemporary Malaysia this is the first book to explore how Malaysia s emerging Malay middle class is constituted through consumer practices and Islamic revivalism By exploring consumption practices in urban Malaysia this book shows how diverse forms of Malay middle class consumption of food clothing and cars for example are understood practiced and contested as a particular mode of modern Islamic practice It illustrates ways in which the issue of proper Islamic consumption for consumers the marketplace and the state in contemporary Malaysia evokes a whole range of contradictory Islamic visions lifestyles and debates articulating what Islam is or ought to be

Muslim Societies in the Age of Mass Consumption Johanna Pink,2020-07-13 In the course of the 20th century hardly a region in the world has escaped the triumph of global consumerism Muslim societies are no exception Globalized brands are pervasive and the landscapes of consumption are changing at a breathtaking pace Yet Muslim consumers are not passive victims of the homogenizing forces of globalization They actively appropriate and adapt the new commodities and spaces of consumption to their own needs and integrate them into their culture Simultaneously this culture is reshaped and reinvented to comply with the mechanisms of conspicuous consumption It is these processes that this volume seeks to address from an interdisciplinary perspective The papers in this anthology present innovative approaches to a wide range of issues that have so far barely received scholarly attention The topics range from the changing spaces of consumption to Islamic branding from the marketing of religious music to the consumption patterns of Muslim minority groups This anthology uses consumption as a prism through which to view and better understand the enormous transformations that Muslim societies Middle Eastern South East Asian as well as diasporic ones have undergone in the past few decades

Halal and Kosher Food Osman Ahmed Osman,Abdel Moneim Elhadi Sulieman,2023-10-12 In both Islamic and non Islamic countries many population groups worldwide such as vegetarians and people of the Jewish faith consumers do not eat pork Amongst these groups consumers are concerned about importing processed food which may contain or has been contaminated with pork or swine derived products This is especially true of halal foods in Muslim communities where the foods may be prepared or processed utilizing one of more non halal ingredients Halal and kosher foodstuff play an incredibly important role in the Muslim and Jewish diet economy and health This makes halal and kosher food product quality safety and shelf life preservation a major topic in these communities and for the manufacturers of halal and kosher food products Halal and Kosher Food Integration of Quality and Safety for Global Market Trends covers a wide range of important topics in halal foods including quality standards safety of food additives antimicrobial and veterinary drug residues aflatoxin in feedstuff application of Hazards Analysis and critical Control Points HACCP Important data regarding halal and kosher food similarities and differences are covered in full Best practices in halal food product manufacturing are covered plus the importance of halal food safety for consumer health Written by elite international halal food experts this work differs from other books on the subject which focus on history legislation and certification Readers can utilize this book as an orientation and practical guidebook to recognize the quality and safety of halal food products      The Other Kuala Lumpur Yeoh Seng Guan,2014-02-05 Kuala Lumpur like many Southeast Asian cities has changed very significantly in the last two or three decades expanding its size and modernising and globalising its built environment For many people these changes represent progress and development This book however focuses on the more marginalised residents of Kuala Lumpur Among others it considers street hawkers and vendors refugees the urban poor religious minorities and a sexuality rights group and explores how their everyday lives have been adversely affected by these recent changes The book shows how urban renewal the law and ethno religious nationalism can work against these groups in wanting to live and work in the capital city of Malaysia

Sustainable Culinary Systems C. Michael Hall, Gossling Stefan, 2013-01-04 There is increasing public and academic interest in local and sustainable foods and food tourism These interests have been reflected in such diverse elements as the growth of farmers markets green restaurants food miles carbon and sustainability labelling concerns over food supply and security Slow Food Fair Trade and a desire to buy and eat locally Food related hospitality and tourism is integral to this process because of the way in which it simultaneously acts to globalise and localise food consumption and create new foodways and commodity chains This book therefore aims to provide an integrated understanding of the contemporary interest in food and food tourism through the use of an international collection of illustrative case study chapters as well as the provision of a novel integrative framework for the book a sustainable culinary system This is the first volume to examine the concept of sustainable culinary systems particularly with specific reference to tourism and hospitality Divided into two parts firstly the notion of the local is explored reflecting the increased interest in the championing of local food production and consumption Secondly treatment of sustainability in food and food tourism and hospitality in settings that reach beyond the local in a business and socio economic sense is reviewed The book therefore reflects much of the contemporary public interest in the conscious or ethical consumption and production food as well as revealing the inherent tensions between local and broader goals in both defining and achieving sustainable culinary systems and the environmental social and economic implications of food production and consumption This book provides the reader with an integrated approach to understanding the subject of how culinary systems may be made more sustainable and will be valuable reading to all those interested in sustainable food and food tourism
