SNOWMAN

Handcrafted - Dated 2002

I love everything about Christmas—surprise, surprise!
But I have an extra-warm spot in my heart for snowmen.
They'll wait up till all hours for me and the deer and never give us grief if we're a minute or two late.
Plus they laugh at my jokes. "Cold enough for you?"
I'll say, and they'll laugh every time. And another great thing about snowmen—they're just as round as I am.
No dicting talk from them! Why, this delightful snowman even gave me some candy ~~to~~ to keep up your strength.
he said I like the way he thinks!

Stay cool $15

Collaboration and Co-creation Gaurav Bhalla, 2010-11-02 Today's consumers are more knowledgeable networked and vocal For them consumption is not merely an act of buying products and services but an expression of their creative potential. Consequently they are demanding a say and a voice in how companies conceive, develop and deliver value to them. It is not surprising therefore to hear that a large number of companies are transforming how they innovate not only in terms of developing new products and services but in how they are created, delivered and supported to customers. Open Innovation thinking, where companies collaborate with suppliers, distributors and customers to co-create unique value, is fast replacing traditional thinking that viewed innovation as a proprietary activity and marketing as a static one-way broadcast. However, while there is significant advocacy and buy-in for collaborating with customers, there is little guidance for companies on how to undertake the journey from applause and appreciation to execution. Only reading about others' success stories (Nike, Hallmark, P G Mozilla etc.) is not sufficient for helping a company develop a blueprint for themselves. In 'Customer Driven Innovation', strategy and branding consultant Gaurav Bhalla presents a concrete framework to help companies systematically and effectively design and implement collaborative innovation programs with their customers that can be applied in both business-to-business and business-to-consumer contexts. The authors describe how today's technologies allow companies to create dynamic dialogues with their customers through shared networks, virtual marketing techniques and blogs to develop deeper relationships that reinforce brand loyalty and ultimately drive growth. They challenge traditional approaches to market research that measure customer satisfaction from a rear window perspective and help companies and their customers look forward instead. P
