Creating Shapes in Civil and Naval Architecture ,2009-06-30 The design construction and verification of complex two and three dimensional shapes in architecture and ship geometry have always been a particularly demanding part of the art of engineering Before science based structural design and analysis were applied in the construction industries i e before 1800 the task of conceiving documenting and fabricating such shapes constituted the most significant interface between practitioner s knowledge and learned knowledge above all in geometry The history of shape development in these two disciplines therefore promises especially valuable insights into the knowledge history of shape creation This volume is a collection of contributions by outstanding scholars in their fields of study archaeology history of architecture and ship design in classic antiquity the Middle Ages and the early modern period The volume presents a comparative knowledge history in these two distinct branches of construction engineering Forschungen und Berichte zur Vor- und Frühgeschichte in Baden-Württemberg ,1972 Forschungen und Berichte der Archäologie des Mittelalters in Baden-Württemberg ,1972

Listen Daughter Constant J. Mews,2016-04-30 The words Listen daughter Audi filia from Psalm 44 in the Latin Vulgate were frequently used in exhortations to religious women in the twelfth century This was a period of dramatic growth in the involvement of women in various forms of religious life While Hildegard of Bingen 1098 1179 has become widely known in recent years as one of the most eloquent and original voices of the period she is often seen as a figure in isolation from her context She lived at a time of much questioning of traditional models of religious life by women as well as by men This volume introduces readers to a range of strategies provoked by the growth in women s participation in religious life in one form or another as well as to male responses to this development In particular it looks at the Mirror for Virgins Speculum Virginum an illustrated dialogue between a nun and her spiritual mentor written by a monk not long before Hildegard started to record her visions While this treatise engages in dialogue with a fictional virgin other writings present women not just Hildegard as teaching both women and men An appendix will provide the first English translation of significant excerpts from the Speculum as well as from other little known texts about religious women from the age of Hildegard The underlying concern of this volume is to examine new ways in which religious life for women was conceived by men as well as interpreted in practice by women within a society firmly patriarchal in character Catalogue of Anglo-Saxon Glass in the British Museum British Museum,Vera I. Evison,2008 This definitive book on Anglo Saxon glass by major scholars in the field is the first monograph to be published on the subject It focuses not only on the British Museum collection but provides a detailed discussion of the various types of early Anglo Saxon glass vessels plus gems beads and window glass placing it in its English context but also drawing widely on Continental and Scandinavian early medieval glass This is complemented by new scientific and technological research on early medieval glass making in England on the Continent and in the Mediterranean The illustrated catalogue also provides information on provenances collectors and excavators plus distribution maps and a
