Case Studies in Music Education Frank Abrahams, Paul D. Head, 2005 This book is about making the journey as a music teacher about the critical real world problems and conflicts music teachers face that rarely seem to get any notice in college or graduate school music courses How should a music teacher balance learning and performing What is the best way to handle an angry parent What are the consequences of the grades teachers assign What are the best ways to discipline students How should teachers relate to the administrators and to other teachers What if the school is breaking copyright laws These are just a few of the issues covered in this book The emphasis here is not on the solution but on the process There are many viable approaches to nearly every obstacle but before any meaningful long term solutions can be made teachers must identify their own personal philosophy of music education and recognize those traits that are admirable in another's style This book is one that will engage you and help you become a more effective music teacher Sociology for Music Teachers Richard Colwell, Hildegard Froehlich, 2015-07-02 For upper level undergraduate and introductory graduate and doctoral courses in music education Outlining the basic aspects constructs and concepts relevant to understanding music teaching and learning from a sociological perspective this volume introduces students to the discipline as a tool in understanding their own work The text shows how certain academics in music sociology and education have thought about the relationship of music to education schooling and society and examines the consequences of such thinking for making instructional choices in teaching methods and repertoire selection School music teaching is imbedded in two major societal traditions 1 the tradition of music making listening and responding and 2 the tradition of education as a societal mandate The first tradition holds firmly to music artistry and musicological scholarship the latter of which includes music sociology The second tradition that of education as a field of study relies mostly on pedagogical principles rooted equally in psychology and sociology Hildegard Froehlich bases the book upon the premise that a music teacher's work is equally shaped by both traditions The more music teachers become aware of how societal structures shape their own lives as well as the lives of their students colleagues and superiors the more reality based their teaching will become Society is a composite of communities in which different social classes groups and reference groups co exist to varying degrees of compatibility due to real or perceived differences in norms and values as well as hierarchies of power Informed or intuitive choices made by an individual indicate allegiances to particular groups how those groups are structured hierarchically and where and how each individual fits into those hierarchies This is true for the music world as it is true for the world of education The Routledge Companion to Music, Mind, and Well-being Penelope Gouk, James Kennaway, Jacomien Prins, Wiebke Thormahlen, 2018-12-07 In recent decades the relationship between music emotions health and well being has become a hot topic Scientific research and new neuro imaging technologies have provided extraordinary new insights into how music affects our brains and bodies and researchers in fields ranging from psychology and music therapy to history and sociology have turned their attention to the question of how music relates to mind body feelings and health generating a wealth of insights as well as new challenges Yet this work is often divided by discipline and methodology resulting in parallel yet separate discourses In this context The Routledge Companion to Music Mind and Well being seeks to foster truly interdisciplinary approaches to key questions about the nature of musical experience and to demonstrate the importance of the conceptual and ideological frameworks underlying research in this field Incorporating perspectives from musicology history psychology neuroscience music education philosophy sociology linguistics and music therapy this volume opens the way for a generative dialogue across both scientific and humanistic scholarship The Companion is divided into two sections The chapters in the first historical section consider the varied ways in which music the emotions well being and their interactions have been understood in the past from Antiquity to the twentieth century shedding light on the intellectual origins of debates that continue today The chapters in the second contemporary section offer a variety of current scientific perspectives on these topics and engage wider philosophical problems The Companion ends with chapters that explore the practical application of music in healthcare education and welfare drawing on work on music as a social and ecological phenomenon Contextualising contemporary scientific research on music within the history of ideas this volume provides a unique overview of what it means to study music in relation to the mind and well being

The Artist and Academia Helen Phelan, Graham F. Welch, 2021-03-29 The Artist and Academia explores the relationship between artistic and academic ways of knowing Historically these have often been presented as opposites the former characterized as passionate and intuitive and the latter portrayed as systematic and rigorous Recent scholarship presents a more complex picture Artistic knowledge demands high levels of skill and rigor while academic research requires creativity and innovative thinking This edited collection brings together leading artists and scholars as well as artist scholars to offer a variety of philosophical educational experiential reflexive and imaginative perspectives on the artist and academia The contributions include in depth scholarly discussions on the nature of knowledge and creativity as well as personal artistic statements from musicians dancers actors and writers Additionally it explores both the mediational and subversive spaces created by the meeting of artistic and academic traditions While the book addresses global themes by global writers its core case study is an educational experiment called the Irish World Academy of Music and Dance at the University of Limerick in Ireland Established in 1994 it set out to reconfigure the place of the artist in the context of contemporary higher education The material is clustered into three parts Part One and Part Two explore the artist as mediator educator and subversive in academia Grounded in close to practice research Part Three concludes the volume with a set of case studies from the Irish World Academy Artistic and academic knowledge come together in this unique set of pieces to explore the development of more inclusive and imaginative pedagogical values
