Satoyama K. Takeuchi, R.D. Brown, I. Washitani, A. Tsunekawa, M. Yokohari, 2012-12-06 Japan s traditional and fragile satoyama landscape system was developed over centuries of human life on mountainous island terrain in a monsoon climate The carefully managed coppice woodlands on the hillsides the villages strung along the base of the hills and the carefully tended paddy fields of rural Japan made possible the sustainable interaction of nature and humans Radical changes in the middle of the twentieth century led to the abandonment of satoyama landscapes which now are being rediscovered. There is a new realization that these woodlands still play a vital role in the management of the Japanese landscape and a new determination to manage them for the future. This multifaceted book explores the history, nature, biodiversity, current conservation measures, and future uses of satoyama. The information presented here will be of interest in all parts of the world where patterns of sustainable development are being sought.

Rockwell Kent's Forgotten Landscapes Scott R. Ferris, Ellen Pearce, 1998. In 1960, feeling that his work was unappreciated in America, Rockwell Kent gave the collection of his life's work to the people of the Soviet Union. For nearly forty years, the more than 700 paintings, drawings, prints, and manuscripts have been virtually unseen by western eyes until now.

Who Needs Experts? John Schofield, 2016-02-17. Taking the significant Faro Convention on the Value of Cultural Heritage for Society, Council of Europe 2005 as its starting point, this book presents pragmatic views on the rise of the local and the everyday within cultural heritage discourse. Bringing together a range of case studies within a broad geographic context, it examines ways in which authorised or expert views of heritage can be challenged and recognises how everyone has expertise in familiarity with their local environment. The book concludes that local agenda and everyday places matter and examines how a realignment of heritage practice to accommodate such things could usefully contribute to more inclusive and socially relevant cultural agenda.

Integrated Landscapes in Policy, Practice and Everyday Life Kathryn Moore, Anastasia Nikologianni, Alex Albans, Paul Cureton, 2025-06-27. Exploring the ways in which an integrated landscape vision can help deliver regional, national, and international agendas, this book investigates how a new idea of landscape can reimagine governance, policy, economics, culture, identity, health, transport, and development priorities by connecting in a more powerful and meaningful way with local aspirations and demands. Developed in fieldwork undertaken over the last decade, the capacity of a landscape-led approach to deal with problems such as rapid urbanisation, water and food security, climate change, air pollution, and health is both timely and topical. Divided into three main sections, it includes illustrated case studies from the UK, Europe, East Asia, South Asia, and more. As part of a strategy to capture, build, and disseminate expertise in this approach, the book aims to develop an interdisciplinary body of work that will appeal to academics and professionals by bringing together a number of contributors who are operating at the cutting edge of landscape-led large-scale transformation. This book is essential for practitioners and academics of landscape architecture as well as students in the architecture and design fields.

Europe's Living Landscapes Bas Pedroli, Anne van Doorn, Geert de Blust, 2014-12-22. This book is the result of three symposia of the Dutch Society for Landscape Ecology. The first symposium in 2005 was about the National Ecological Network in the Netherlands. The reason was that the implementation of the NEN, decided upon in 1990, was halfway. The second symposium in 2006 was about urban ecology, and the third one to be held in 2007 will be about civil infrastructure. This book does not cover the conferences completely, and new contributions are added. The three themes are important contexts in which landscape

ecologists do their research and apply their knowledge and skills Of course there are many more subjects to hold conferences about for example climate change urbanisation agriculture landscape ecology itself etc The focus of the conferences is on the Netherlands with its urbanisation intensive land use and water management as characteristic features Although many WLO members do their work abroad or in an international context these conferences offer a window on what happens in the Dutch context The experiences may be of value for other contexts and that is why we present the results in English The selected themes and the focus on the Dutch context are serious demarcations of what landscape ecology in the Netherlands is all about The book does not represent all research and applications of landscape ecology Troy House Ann

Benson,2017-03-09 The architectural history of Troy House in Monmouthshire is positioned at the centre of this extensive new research volume to support a consideration of how the surrounding land was refashioned over time Investigating the estate s main components first individually and then by cross referencing the findings extends our current understanding of them as discreet and at the same time interrelating entities Previously unrecorded historical features are discovered that belong to the house and its landscape and comprehensive evidence is applied to challenge current understandings The house and its pleasure gardens the walled garden the farm and the surrounding parkland are demonstrated together by this research to be a rare surviving example in Wales especially of a complete Tudor estate with Jacobean and Carolean aggrandisement As such Troy House occupies a significant place in history Horrors of War Cynthia J. Miller,A. Bowdoin

Van Riper,2015-05-14 Battlefields have traditionally been considered places where the spirits of the dead linger and popular culture brings those thoughts to life Supernatural tales of war told in print on screen and in other media depict angels demons and legions of the undead fighting against or alongside human soldiers Ghostly war ships and phantom aircraft carry on their never to be completed missions and the spirits sometimes corpses of dead soldiers return to confront the enemies who killed them comrades who betrayed them or leaders who sacrificed them In Horrors of War The Undead on the Battlefield Cynthia J Miller and A Bowdoin Van Riper have assembled essays that explore the meaning and significance of these tales Among the questions that the volume seeks to answer are How do supernatural stories engage with cultural attitudes toward war In what ways do these stories reflect or challenge the popular memories of particular wars How do they ask us to think again about battlefield heroism military ethics and the politics of sacrifice Divided into four sections chapters examine undead war stories in film Carol for Another Christmas The Devil s Backbone television The Twilight Zone literature The Bloody Red Baron Devils of D Day comics Weird War Tales The Haunted Tank graphic novels The War of the Trenches and gaming Call of Duty World at War Featuring contributions from a diverse group of international scholars these essays address such themes as monstrous enemies and enemies made monstrous legacies and memories of war and the war dead who refuse to rest Drawing together stories from across wars branches of service and generations of soldiers and featuring more than fifty illustrations Horrors of War will be of interest to scholars of film popular culture military history and cultural
