The Insula of the Menander at Pompeii Roger Ling, Penelope M.

Allison, Paul R. Arthur, 1997 The Insula of the Menander is one of the most completely excavated city blocks in Pompeii with buildings ranging from small shops to large aristocratic houses This volume the third in a series of five volumes examining the Insula is the first ever comprehensive study of the contents of Pompeian houses and buildings within their original contexts It provides a great insight into living conditions in Pompeii during the final years of the city

The Insula of the

Menander at Pompeii Penelope M. Allison, 2007-01-04 This book contains catalogues analyses photographs and drawings of some 2 000 archaeological artefacts excavated from the Insula of the Menander in Pompeii The catalogues and analyses are organized by provenance buildings rooms and location within rooms so that the reader can understand the artefacts as household assemblages The functions of artefacts and groups of artefacts are discussed as are the Latin names which are often given to these artefacts and the relationships of these assemblages to the state of occupancy of the buildings in the Insula during the last years of Pompeii This study therefore provides a wealth of information not only on the range and use of artefacts in Pompeian houses but also on Roman artefacts and Roman society more generally

Chemical Structure, Spatial Arrangement

Peter J. Ramberg, 2017-05-15

Offering a comprehensive narrative of the early history of stereochemistry Dr Ramberg explores the reasons for and the consequences of the fundamental change in the meaning of chemical formulas with the emergence of stereochemistry during the last quarter of the nineteenth century As yet relatively unexplored by historians the development of stereochemistry the study of the three dimensional properties of molecules provides a superb case study for exploring the meaning and purpose of chemical formulas as it entailed a significant change in the meaning of chemical formulas from the purely chemical conception of structure to the physico chemical conception of molecules provided by the tetrahedral carbon atom This study is the first to treat the emergence of the unique visual language of organic chemistry between 1830 and 1874 to place in context the near simultaneous proposal of the tetrahedral carbon atom by J H van t Hoff and J A Le Bel in 1874 Dr Ramberg then examines the research programs in stereochemistry by Johannes Wislicenus Arthur Hantzsch Victor Meyer Carl Bischoff Emil Fischer and Alfred Werner showing how the emergence of stereochemistry was a logical continuation of established research traditions in chemistry In so doing he also illustrates the novel and controversial characteristics of stereochemical ideas especially the unprecedented use of mechanistic and dynamic principles in chemical explanation Jahres-bericht über die erfahrungen und fortschritte auf dem gesamtgebiete der landwirthschaft, 1905
