Economic Integration in South Asia Issues and Pathways is one of the volumes of the series titled Imagine a New South Asia presented by ActionAid International Asia This volume envisions a new South Asia free from human deprivation and poverty where countries will become successful proud and inclusive societies This book demonstrates how South Asian countries can learn from the best practices in the region as well as from their failures and also by trying to emulate the successful strategies of introducing egalitarian education and health systems of East Asia China and Southeast Asian countries Rich in analysis and research this volume seeks an alternative people centred perspective and takes into account all those voices that have so long been unheard in policy making processes through reviews of case studies Not only will the findings of this volume be useful in conducting campaigns for appropriate policy and mindset changes but these will also eventually make the emergence of a highly integrated South Asia truly possible Impact evaluation of research by the International Food Policy Research Institute on agricultural trade liberalization, developing countries, and WTO's Doha negotiations Hewitt, Joanna,2008-08-12

This report assesses the impact of IFPRI s work on the agriculture negotiations in the WTO s Doha Round It is set against the context of IFPRI s mission which emphasizes food security and the interests of poor people in low income countries and underlines the importance of active engagement in policy communications to link research work to policy action The report also traces briefly the evolution of IFPRI s work on international agricultural trade more generally noting its broad disposition to market oriented policy prescriptions while illuminating the very different impacts of agricultural trade liberalization on individual developing countries through detailed research at the national and household level from Author s Abstract Trade for Development Ernesto Zedillo Ponce de León,Patrick A. Messerlin,Julia Nielson,2005 First Published in 2005 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company UN Millennium Development Library: Trade in Development UN Millennium Project,2012-05-16 world's targets for dramatically reducing extreme poverty in its many dimensions by 2015 income poverty hunger disease exclusion lack of infrastructure and shelter while promoting gender equality education health and environmental sustainability These bold goals can be met in all parts of the world if nations follow through on their commitments to work together to meet them Achieving the Millennium Development Goals offers the prospect of a more secure just and prosperous world for all The UN Millennium Project was commissioned by United Nations Secretary General Kofi Annan to develop a practical plan of action to meet the Millennium Development Goals As an independent advisory body directed by Professor Jeffrey D Sachs the UN Millennium Project submitted its recommendations to the UN Secretary General in January 2005 The core of the UN Millennium Project's work has been carried out by 10 thematic Task Forces comprising more than 250 experts from around the world including scientists development practitioners parliamentarians policymakers and representatives from civil society UN agencies the World Bank the IMF and the private sector The trading system is unbalanced against developing countries Correcting the imbalance will give developing countries greater economic growth potential and a more effective capacity to defeat poverty The progressive elimination of remaining trade barriers in goods and services with rich countries leading by example coupled with enough support for poor countries to bear adjustment costs and build export capacity must be part of the international pursuit to overcome poverty SAPANA: Whither South Asia?

Imtiaz Alam, 2006 Ex-post evaluation study of IFPRI's research on high-value agriculture, 1994-2010 Kydd, Jonathon, 2015-06-24 This paper reports on an ex post assessment of IFPRI's research on High Value Agriculture HVA over 1994-2010 HVA is defined to include perishable agricultural commodities produced for the market that yield high returns to land labor or both IFPRI's research on HVA has been housed mainly in GRP27 Participation in high value agricultural markets Questions for the study included whether IFPRI had the right research strategy for this topic was focused on the right issues was a leader in the field used the most relevant approaches and methods and was successful in sensitizing influencing the policies of governments agribusiness academia civil society and the international donor community Finally what has been the impact of the HVA policies that IFPRI influenced Case Studies in Food Policy for Developing Countries Per Pinstrup-Andersen, Fuzhi Cheng, 2018-07-05 The food problems now facing the world scarcity and starvation contamination and illness overabundance and obesity are both diverse and complex What are their causes How severe are they Why do they persist What are the solutions In three volumes that serve as valuable teaching tools and have been designed to complement the textbook Food Policy for Developing Countries by Per Pinstrup Andersen and Derrill D Watson II they call upon the wisdom of disciplines including economics nutrition sociology anthropology environmental science medicine and geography to create a holistic picture of the state of the world's food systems today Volume I of the Case Studies addresses policies related to health nutrition food consumption and poverty Agriculture, Natural Resources and Food Security Jagadish Timsina, Tek N. Maraseni, Devendra Gauchan, Jagannath Adhikari, Hemant Ojha, 2022-11-01 This book explains how a former net food exporting Nepal has become a net food importing country due to a lack of an integrated system wide approach to planning and governance of agriculture and natural resources It demonstrates how various components of the food system such as agronomy agrobiodiversity plant health post harvest management livestock and fisheries and socio economics including marketing and trade have been managed in sectoral silos crippling the very foundations of food systems innovations The book also explores ways to tackle climate change impacts while considering gender social equity conservation agriculture practices and crop modeling as cross cutting themes This book utilizes Nepal as a case study in relation to wider questions of food security and livelihoods facing South Asia and synthesizes lessons that are relevant to the Global South where countries are struggling to harmonize and integrate natural resources management for sustainable and effective food security outcomes As such it significantly contributes to the knowledge toward achieving various United Nations Sustainable Development Goals impact of the Food for Education Program in Bangladesh on schooling outcomes and earnings Ryan, James G., Meng, Xin, 2004-11-17 This paper evaluates the influence and impact that IFPRI research and related activities had on the initiation evolution and impact of the food for education FFE program in Bangladesh It reviews the outputs from the IFPRI program and summarizes the perceptions of various stakeholders about the value and influence of these on the FFE program A novel experimental evaluation methodology is used on household sample survey data to analyze the effects of FFE on schooling outcomes Earnings functions are then estimated using national household income and expenditure survey data to assess the effect of schooling on earnings Combining the two the effects of the increased participation and duration of schooling due to the FFE program on lifetime earnings of children are derived Using these incremental earnings figures the internal rates of return for both national and private investments in the FFE program are estimated From these a conservative assessment of the economic value of IFPRI's contribution to the generation of the national benefits is made We conclude that a very conservative assessment of the economic value of IFPRI's contribution to the generation of the national benefits estimated above is that the FFE program began one year earlier than it might have without the IFPRI input Based upon the total cost of the IFPRI FFE research program of US 151 000 the internal rate of return on this research investment ranges from 64.96 percent of all the other benefits are added to this clearly the IFPRI contribution has been an outstanding economic investment These benefits might have been even greater had IFPRI had an explicit communications strategy with more timely and available publications along with appropriate advocacy based upon a more thorough knowledge of the dynamic political economy of government decision making in Bangladesh from Authors Abstract

TRIPS Agreement of the WTO Mohammad Towhidul Islam, 2014-07-24 This book examines the application of the World Trade Organization's WTO Agreement on Trade Related Aspects of Intellectual Property Rights TRIPS in the fields of agriculture public health and economic development in a Least Developed Country LDC such as Bangladesh In particular it evaluates the question whether the TRIPS one size fits all approach compulsorily applicable for all countries irrespective of their development standing fulfils the developmental needs of Bangladesh and other such LDCs in the fields of agriculture public health and economic development The book shows that the TRIPS introduction of IPRs in the name of Plant Varieties Protection PVP and patents not only secures private sector investment in agriculture but also brings traditional agricultural practices within the spectrum of private monopoly increases the price of agricultural products and forces people into dependency on engineered seeds and other agricultural inputs To guard against such trade rules this book recommends that Bangladesh should incorporate the TRIPS flexibilities in the form of redefining patentable invention choosing between patents and PVP and providing for compulsory licensing This book also reveals that the TRIPS patenting in pharmaceuticals encourages innovations by ensuring royalty collections and protects public health by raising standards of living However patenting offers exclusivity to pharmaceutical companies extending the duration of the patent term and establishing their control over production supply and distribution Such control results in exclusivity over drug pricing The flexibilities of the compliance deadline compulsory licensing and parallel importation built into the TRIPS are set to tackle untenable situations arising from patenting exclusivity However patent laws in most LDCs are out dated in terms of dealing with such flexibilities Given this the research recommends that Bangladesh should invoke the TRIPS flexibilities The author of this book further establishes that the TRIPS standard setting in agriculture and pharmaceuticals does not help the country to fulfil subsistence needs or promote economic development through innovation However the appropriation of agricultural and pharmaceutical goods during the use of the TRIPS flexibilities has the potential to feed the people protect public health interests and increase economic development with the supply of food and drugs at home and abroad To this end the research asks Bangladesh to reform its existing IPRs provisions by redefining patentable inventions and simplifying compulsory licensing and other differential treatments to appropriate foreign technologies
