ECSCW 2003 : supplement proceedings of the Eighth European Conference on Computer Supported Cooperative Work, Helsinki, Finland, 14 - 18 September 2003 ECSCW Helsinki, 2003 Understanding Information Retrieval Systems

Marcia J. Bates, 2011-12-20 In order to be effective for their users information retrieval IR systems should be adapted to the specific needs of particular environments The huge and growing array of types of information retrieval systems in use today is on display in Understanding Information Retrieval Systems Management Types and Standards which addresses over 20 types of IR systems These various system types in turn present both technical and management challenges which are also addressed in this volume In order to be interoperable in a networked environment IR systems must be able to use various types of technical standards a number of which are described in this book often by their original developers The book covers the full context of operational IR systems addressing not only the systems themselves but also human user search behaviors user centered design and management and policy issues In addition to theory and practice of IR system design the book covers Web standards and protocols the Semantic Web XML information retrieval Web social mining search engine optimization specialized museum and library online access records compliance and risk management information storage technology geographic information systems and data transmission protocols Emphasis is given to information systems that operate on relatively unstructured data such as text images and music The book is organized into four parts Part I supplies a broad level introduction to information systems and information retrieval systems Part II examines key management issues and elaborates on the decision process around likely information system solutions Part III illustrates the range of information retrieval systems in use today discussing the technical operational and administrative issues for each type Part IV discusses the most important organizational and technical standards needed for successful information retrieval This volume brings together authoritative articles on the different types of information systems and how to manage real world demands such as digital asset management network management digital content licensing data quality and information system failures It explains how to design systems to address human characteristics and considers key policy and ethical issues such as piracy and preservation Focusing on web based systems the chapters in this book provide an excellent starting point for developing and managing your own IR systems

Cooperative Work and Coordinative Practices Kjeld Schmidt, 2011-01-27 Information technology has been used in organisational settings and for organisational purposes such as accounting for a half century but IT is now increasingly being used for the purposes of mediating and regulating complex activities in which multiple professional users are involved such as in factories hospitals architectural offices and so on The economic importance of such coordination systems is enormous but their design often inadequate The problem is that our understanding of the coordinative practices for which these systems are developed is deficient leaving systems developers and software engineers to base their designs on commonsensical requirements analyses The research reflected in this book addresses these very problems It is a collection of articles which establish a conceptual foundation for the research area of Computer Supported Cooperative Work

The International Handbooks of Museum Studies, 4 Volume Set Sharon Macdonald, Helen Rees Leahy, 2015-07-20 The International Handbooks of Museum Studies is a multi volume reference work that represents a state of the art survey of the burgeoning field of museum studies Featuring original essays by leading international museum experts and emerging scholars readings cover all aspects of museum theory practice debates and the impact of technologies The four volumes in the series divided thematically offer in depth treatment of all major issues relating to museum theory historical and contemporary museum practice mediations in art design and architecture and the transformations and challenges confronting the museum In addition to invaluable surveys of current scholarship the entries include a rich and diverse panoply of examples and original case studies to illuminate the various perspectives Unprecedented for its in depth topic coverage and breadth of scholarship the multi volume International Handbooks of Museum Studies is an indispensable resource for the study of the development roles and significance of museums in contemporary society

Learning in Communities John M. Carroll, 2009-02-24 Most learning takes place in communities People continually learn through their participation with others in everyday activities Such learning is important in contemporary society because formal education cannot prepare people for a world that changes rapidly and continually We need to live in learning communities This volume gathers together all of the scholarly materials directly emanating from a workshop held in August 2005 when a multidisciplinary group of scholars met at Penn State's College of Information Sciences and Technology to discuss learning in communities Initially a sectioned report on the workshop was published as a special section in the Journal of Community Informatics in 2006 Subsequently a special issue of 5 full papers was published in the Journal of Computer Supported Cooperative Work and a special section of 2 full papers was published in the International Journal of Computer Supported Collaborative Learning

Awareness Systems Panos Markopoulos, Wendy Mackay, 2009-06-22 People go about their daily tasks with an in built awareness of their social and physical environments This awareness helps them to work cooperatively in groups coordinate actions and to maintain and enhance social communication with others Networked technology has extended the reach of people's awareness to remote and distributed groups and provided access to a much larger social network than was previously feasible Awareness systems that are designed to support people to build up maintain and make use of these extended networks are attracting the interest of industry and include buddy lists in instant messaging sustained audio video links active contact lists on mobile phones and so forth This book contains contributions from leading researchers in the field and looks at the design of awareness systems from theoretical foundations through to empirical studies and design concepts and will be of interest to practitioners and researchers in the field of HCI

Digital Exhaustion Paul Leonardi, 2025-10-07 A revelatory examination of why you're feeling so worn out and practical daily strategies to change your relationship with your devices Unplugging is not a long term solution for the stress caused by technology If you want to keep your job participate in society and maintain meaningful relationships you can't escape your many apps and devices Paul Leonardi maps out an achievable path to reducing your digital exhaustion drawing on extensive research to show how real people can use technology in healthy ways These are realistic approaches that won't fragment your attention and deplete your cognitive and emotional reserves Many of the changes are simple yet surprisingly effective like waiting longer to respond making sure you're using the right tool for your task and being more conscious of the time and energy we allocate to our devices He also explains the emotional traps that lead us into dysfunctional relationships with our technology and how to escape them With Leonardi as your guide you can build stronger connections be more creative and productive and create the mental space to reclaim your energy and your life

Complex, Intelligent, and Software Intensive Systems Leonard Barolli, Nadeem Javaid, Makoto Ikeda, Makoto Takizawa, 2018-06-18 This book provides a platform of scientific interaction between the three challenging and closely linked areas of ICT enabled application research and development software intensive systems complex systems and intelligent systems Software intensive systems strongly interact with other systems sensors actuators devices other software systems and users More and more domains are using software intensive systems e.g. automotive and telecommunication systems embedded systems in general industrial automation systems and business applications Moreover web services offer a new platform for enabling software intensive systems Complex systems research is focused on the overall understanding of systems rather than their components Complex systems are characterized by the changing environments in which they interact They evolve and adapt through internal and external dynamic interactions The development of intelligent systems and agents which are increasingly characterized by their use of ontologies and their logical foundations offer impulses for both software intensive systems and complex systems Recent research in the field of intelligent systems robotics neuroscience artificial intelligence and cognitive sciences are vital for the future development and innovation of software intensive and complex systems
