Health, Quackery & the Consumer Warren Edward Schaller, Charles R. Carroll, Charles Robert Carroll, 1976

Quackery, a $10 Billion Scandal United States. Congress. House. Select Committee on Aging. Subcommittee on Health and Long-Term Care, 1984 Quack Medicine Eric W. Boyle, 2013-01-09 This timely volume illustrates how and why the fight against quackery in modern America has largely failed laying the blame on an unlikely confluence of scientific advances regulatory reforms changes in the medical profession and the politics of consumption Throughout the 20th century anti quackery crusaders investigated exposed and attempted to regulate allegedly fraudulent therapeutic approaches to health and healing under the banner of consumer protection and a commitment to medical science Quack Medicine A History of Combating Health Fraud in Twentieth Century America reveals how efforts to establish an exact border between quackery and legitimate therapeutic practices and medications have largely failed and details the reasons for this failure Digging beneath the surface the book uncovers the history of allegedly fraudulent therapies including pain medications obesity and asthma cures gastrointestinal remedies virility treatments and panaceas for diseases such as arthritis asthma diabetes and HIV AIDS It shows how efforts to combat alleged medical quackery have been connected to broader debates among medical professionals scientists legislators businesses and consumers and it exposes the competing professional economic and political priorities that have encouraged the drawing of arbitrary vaguely defined boundaries between good medicine and quack medicine Resources in Education ,1976 Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.), First multi year cumulation covers six years 1965 70 Surgical Limits Shelley McKellar, 2003-01-01 A biography of the life of Gordon Murray Swindlers, Hucksters and Snake Oil Salesman United States. Congress. Senate. Special Committee on Aging, 2001 Health Planning Reports Personal Author Index United States. Bureau of Health Planning, 1981 Lists citations to the National Health Planning Information Center s collection of health planning literature government reports and studies from May 1975 to January 1980 Health, the Science of Human Adaptation Charles R. Carroll, Dean F. Miller, 1979 Discusses aspects of the human life cycle including genetics disease personality mental health smoking marriage sex population eating consumerism environment and dying Health Planning Reports: Subject index. 4 v United States. Health Resources Administration, 1978 Health planning reports subject index United States. Health Resources Administration, 1979 Profit Without Honor Stephen M. Rosoff, Henry N. Pontell, Robert Tillman, 1998 Profit Without Honor White Collar Crime and the Looting of America seeks to elucidate a very broad subject white collar crime How broad Its domain stretches from the small price gouging merchant to the huge price fixing cartel It can breed in an antiseptic hospital or a toxic dump It is at home on Main Street Wall Street Madison Avenue and countless other addresses including at times 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue The Context of Medicines in Developing Countries Sjaak van der Geest, Susan Reynolds Whyte, 2012-12-06 Western pharmaceuticals are flooding the Third World Injections capsules and tablets are available in city markets and village shops from traditional practitioners and street vendors as well as from more orthodox sources like hospitals. Although many are aware of this pharmaceutical invasion little has been written about how local people perceive and use these products. This book is a first attempt to remedy that situation. It presents studies of the ways Western medicines are circulated and understood in the cities and rural areas of Africa, Asia and Latin America. We feel that such a collection is long overdue for two reasons. The first is a practical one: people dealing with health problems in developing countries need information about local situations and they need examples of methods they can use to examine the particular contexts in which they are working. We hope that this book will be useful for pharmacists, doctors, nurses, health planners, policy makers and concerned citizens who are interested in the realities of drug use. Why do people want various kinds of medicine? How do they evaluate and choose them and how do they obtain them? The second reason for these studies of medicines is to fill a need in medical anthropology as a field of study. Here we address our colleagues in anthropology, medical sociology and related disciplines.

The Body Electric Carolyn Thomas de la Pena, 2003-05-01. Between the years 1850 and 1950 Americans became the leading energy consumers on the planet, expending tremendous physical resources on energy exploration, mental resources on energy exploitation and monetary resources on energy acquisition. A unique combination of pseudoscientific theories of health and the public's rudimentary understanding of energy created an age in which sources of industrial power seemed capable of curing the physical limitations and ill health that plagued Victorian bodies. Licensed and quack physicians alike promoted machines, electricity and radium as invigorating cures, veritable fountains of youth that would infuse the body with energy and push out disease and death. The Body Electric is the first book to place changing ideas about fitness and gender in dialogue with the popular culture of technology. Whether through wearing electric belts, drinking radium water or lifting mechanized weights, many Americans came to believe that by embracing the nation's rapid march to industrialization, electrification and radiomania, their bodies would emerge fully powered. Only by uncovering this belief's passions and products, Thomas de la Pena argues, can we fully understand our culture's twentieth-century energy enthusiasm.

Medical Charlatanism in Early Modern Italy David Gentilcore, 2006-09-21. From the mid sixteenth century onwards, the Italian Protomedicato tribunals, Colleges of Physicians or Health Offices, jurisdiction varied from state to state, required charlatans to submit their wares for inspection and, upon approval, pay a licence fee in order to set up a stage from which to perform and sell them. The licensing of charlatans became an administrative routine. As far as the medical magistracies were concerned, charlatans had a defineable identity constituting a specific trade or occupation. This book studies the way charlatans were represented by contemporaries and by historians, how they saw themselves and, most importantly, it reconstructs the place of charlatans in early modern Italy. It explores the goods and services charlatans provided, their dealings with the public and their marketing strategies. It does so from a range of perspectives: social, cultural, economic, political, geographical, biographical and, of course, medical. Charlatans are not just some curiosity on the fringes of medicine they offered health care to an extraordinarily wide sector of the population Moreover from their origins in Renaissance Italy the Italian ciarlatano was the prototype for itinerant medical practitioners throughout Europe This book offers a different look at charlatans It is the first to take seriously the licences issued to charlatans in the Italian states compiling them into a charlatans database of over 1 300 charlatans active throughout Italy over the course of some three centuries In addition it makes use of other types of archival documents such as trial records and wills to give the charlatans a human face as well as a wide range of artistic and printed sources not forgetting the output of the charlatans themselves in the form of handbills and pamphlets Subject Guide to Books in Print ,1983 Positive Health Mary K.
