Children's Development challenges and offers an alternative to the imposition of best practices on communities by outside specialists. It tells the story of an unexpected partnership initiated by an Aboriginal tribal council with the University of Victoria's School of Child and Youth Care. The partnership has produced a new approach to professional education in which community leaders are co-constructors of the curriculum and implementation proceeded only if both parties are present and engaged. Word of this generative curriculum has spread to numerous Aboriginal communities and now over sixty communities have participated in the First Nations Partnerships Program. Jessica Ball and Alan Pence show how this innovative program has strengthened community capacity to design, deliver and evaluate culturally appropriate programs to support young children's development.

Helping Children with Reading and Spelling Mrs Rene Boote, Rene Boote, Rea Reason, 2002-04-12. Helping Children with Reading and Spelling contains a basic kit of suggestions to help children who struggle with learning to read and spell. The materials build on the content of an earlier manual Learning Difficulties in Reading and Writing which has been widely and successfully used by teachers. The detailed teaching sequences combining the enjoyment of content with the more systematic practice of subskills which were particularly appreciated in the earlier volume have been further developed here. The book is consistent with English National Curriculum Programmes of Study and the Code of Practice on the Identification and Assessment of Special Educational Needs. Teachers using the manual will be following the school-based stages of intervention recommended by the Code and will be providing when necessary an invaluable basis for further action. Its practical A4 format, photocopiable materials and case examples make this an invaluable handbook for day-to-day use in the classroom.

Children, the Magazine for Parents, 1927 Digital Intentions Explorations and Accidents, 2008-01-15. Digital design as seen on the following pages is no longer a discipline with a single visual signature redefining what is visually real but rather branches into a myriad of visual languages, intellectual pursuits and experiential tones. The frames that used to define digital creativities even a decade ago are constantly being re-framed. Accordingly, essays in this compilation were divided into four subject categories directing the reader's attention to various thematic readings. This division reflects the ever-growing richness and diversity of digitally created content. However, any categorization is a simplified convention that provides artificial boundaries. The included projects cover broad conceptual, visual and educational themes. While each paper is internally consistent and coherent, they often cross established boundaries and venture into the unknown.
