Margaret Laurence, 2003 Travel was closely connected to Margaret Laurence's creativity. Laurence realized that her travels especially to Africa provided her with new perspectives on Canada. Heart of a Stranger originally published in 1976 is a fascinating travelogue chronicling Laurence's geographical journeys to many lands and historic places. She notes I saw somewhat to my surprise that they are all in one way or another travel articles. And by travel I mean both those voyages which are outer and those voyages which are inner. Laurence writes about her travels to Egypt in Good Morning to the Grandson of Ramesses the Second, to Scotland in Road from the Isles and to Greece in Sayonara Agamemnon. In The Very Best Intentions Laurence sees herself as a stranger in a strange land in Ghana. She reflects on the many places she lived in Put Out One or Two More Flags Down East, The Shack and Where the World Began. Professor Nora Foster Stovel's new introduction to Heart of a Traveller explores how Laurence's experiences in other lands influenced and shaped her writing. She contends that Heart of a Stranger constitutes a concealed autobiography for in chronicling her literal life journey Laurence also reveals her spiritual odyssey.

Helen was the daughter of a small farmer in a place called Dalwhairn in the parish of Irongray where after the death of her father she continued with the unassuming piety of a Scottish peasant to support her mother by her own unremitted labour and privations, a case so common that even yet I am proud to say few of my countrywomen would shrink from the duty.
