Heartbeat Geography Selected Uncollect:

Heartbeat Geography John Brandi, 1995 A major collection of Brandi's work spanning nearly thirty years of travel from early poems written in South America to those from India Southeast Asia the Himalayas the Arctic the North American outback the deep solitude of New Mexico's mountains and always from the continent of the heart Brandi's sandy poem mandalas crisscrossing back and forth on their own paths begin to fill out landscapes in depth Gary Snyder The Italian American Heritage Pellegrino A D'Acierno, 2021-12-12 First published in 1999 The many available scholarly works on Italian Americans are perhaps of little practical help to the undergraduate or high school student who needs background information when reading contemporary fiction with Italian characters watching films that require a familiarity with Italian Americans or looking at works of art that can be fully appreciated only if one understands Italian culture This basic reference work for non specialists and students offers quick insights and essential easy to grasp information on Italian American contributions to American art music literature motion pictures and cultural life This rich legacy is examined in a collection of original essays that include portrayals of Italian characters in the films of Francis Coppola Italian American poetry the art of Frank Stella the music of Frank Zappa a survey of Italian folk customs and an analysis of the evolution of Italian American biography Comprising 22 lengthy essays written specifically for this volume the book identifies what is uniquely Italian in American life and examines how Italian customs traditions social mores and cultural antecedents have wrought their influence on the American character Filled with insights observations and ethnic facts and fictions this volume should prove to be a valuable source of information for scholars researchers and students interested in pinpointing and examining the cultural intellectual and social influence of Italian immigrants and their successors This Compost Jed Rasula, 2012-09-01 Poetry for Jed Rasula bears traces of our entanglement with our surroundings and these traces define a collective voice in modern poetry independent of the more specific influences and backgrounds of the poets themselves In This Compost Rasula surveys both the convictions asserted by American poets and the poetics they develop in their craft all with an eye toward an emerging ecological worldview Rasula begins by examining poets associated with Black Mountain College in the 1950s Charles Olson Robert Creeley and Robert Duncan and their successors But This Compost extends to include earlier poets like Robinson Jeffers Ezra Pound Louis Zukofsky Kenneth Rexroth and Muriel Rukeyser as well as Clayton Eshleman Gary Snyder Michael McClure and other contemporary poets Walt Whitman and Emily Dickinson also make appearances Rasula draws this diverse group of poets together uncovering how the past is a compost fertilizing the present He looks at the heritage of ancient lore and the legacy of modern history and colonial violence as factors contributing to ecological imperatives in modern poetry This Compost restores the dialogue between poetic language and the geophysical biological realm of nature that so much postmodern discourse has sought to silence It is a fully developed carefully argued book that deals with an underrepresented element in modern American culture where the natural world and those who write about it have been greatly neglected in contemporary literary history and theory Contemporary Poets Thomas Riggs,1995 This reference work combines bibliographical biographical and critical information on 900 living poets writing in the English language Entries are arranged alphabetically and this edition includes 120 new entrants including Wendy Cope Benjamin Zephaniah and Rachel McAlpine Directory of American Poetry Books ,1997 Chelsea ,1998 New Mexico Poetry Renaissance Sharon Niederman,Miriam Sagan,1994 In the 1930s a few Hispanic women in northern New Mexico sought to rescue and revive the colonial tradition of colcha embroidery American Book Publishing Record ,1995 Weeding the Cosmos John Brandi,1994 These poems quick flash snippets culled from several years of writings in solitude while traveling in work a day routines or high country switchbacks spring from a tradition as old as the Japanese poet Basho and still just as lively Falling somewhere between haiku and senryu John Brandi calls his three liners twists bringing to light a distinct American style with roots firmly planted in the natural world and the seasons of the human heart Here are poems which leap into the center of gravity They bring your own world home and give you a fresh taste of wonder As delicious as discovering the moon over and over again this book says Wake up Be amazed at what happens no matter what Natalie Goldberg
