Elizabeth Barrett and Robert Browning Colin Falck, Mary Sanders Pollock, 2003 This innovative accessible study demonstrates how Barrett and Browning engaged with a wide range of social political and intellectual contexts in their collaborative works Elizabeth Barrett and Robert Browning Mary Sanders Pollock, 2016-04-28 First published in 2003 this book examines the creative partnership of Elizabeth Barrett and Robert Browning and provides a critical analysis of the poems written by this famous couple during the 16 year period of their friendship courtship and marriage Even quite early in their relationship the Brownings shared a frame of reference similar themes narrative structures and details of phrasing resonate in their works and suggest dialogue rather than merely mutual influence Pollock traces parallels between the Brownings lives and works even before they met and then throughout their courtship and married life suggesting that their creative dialogue continued after Barrett Browning died in 1861 as her presence and themes continued to inform Browning's poetry for at least a decade afterward The Poetry of Robert Browning Britta Martens, 2016-01-01 Robert Browning's pre eminent status amongst Victorian poets has endured despite the recent broadening of the literary canon He is the main practitioner of the period's most important poetic genre the dramatic monologue while his engagement with many aspects of nineteenth century culture makes him a key figure in the wider field of Victorian studies This stimulating introduction to Browning criticism provides an overview of the major responses to the poet's work over the last two hundred years It offers an insightful guide to criticism from various theoretical perspectives elucidating Browning's participation in Victorian debates about aesthetics history politics religion gender and psychology The Oxford History of Classical Reception in English Literature David Hopkins, Charles Martindale, Norman Vance, Rita Copeland, Patrick Cheney, Jennifer Wallace, Philip R. Hardie, 2012 The Oxford History of Classical Reception OHCREL is designed to offer a comprehensive investigation of the numerous and diverse ways in which literary texts of the classical world have stimulated responses and refashioning by English writers Covering the full range of English literature from the early Middle Ages to the present day OHCREL both synthesizes existing scholarship and presents cutting edge new research employing an international team of expert contributors for each of the five volumes OHCREL endeavours to interrogate rather than inertly reiterate conventional assumptions about literary periods the processes of canon formation and the relations between literary and non literary discourse It conceives of reception as a complex process of dialogic exchange and rather than offering large cultural generalizations it engages in close critical analysis of literary texts It explores in detail the ways in which English writers engagement with classical literature casts as much light on the classical originals as it does on the English writers own cultural context This fourth volume and second to appear in the series covers the years 1790 1880 and explores romantic and Victorian receptions of the classics Noting the changing fortunes of particular classical authors and the influence of developments in archaeology aesthetics and education it traces the interplay between classical and nineteenth century

Suffragist Artists in Partnership Lucy Ella Rose, 2017-11-22 Explores the interconnected creative partnerships of the Watts and De Morgans Victorian artists, writers, and suffragists. This is the first book dedicated to examining the marital relationships of Mary and George Watts and Evelyn and William De Morgan as creative partnerships. The study demonstrates how they worked individually and together to support greater gender equality and female liberation in the nineteenth century. The author traces their relationship to early and more recent feminism, reclaiming them as influential early feminists and reading their works from twentieth-century theoretical perspectives. By focusing on neglected female figures in creative partnerships, the book challenges longstanding perceptions of them as the subordinate wives of famous Victorian artists and of their marriages as representatives of the traditional gender binary. This is also the first academic critical study of Mary Watts's recently published diaries, Evelyn De Morgan's unpublished writings, and other previously unexplored archival material by the Watts and the De Morgans.

Key Features Reveals the ways in which the couples promoted progressive socio-political ideas. Draws on extensive archival research and analyses unpublished writings, including diaries and poems. Focuses on neglected female figures in creative partnerships to challenge longstanding perceptions of them as the submissive or subordinate wives of famous Victorian artists and of their marriages as representatives of the traditional gender binary. Shows how male and female writers and artists engaged with mid to late Victorian feminism together and individually, reclaiming them as influential early feminists

Browning, Victorian Poetics and the Romantic Legacy Dr Britta Martens, 2013-05-28 Taking an original approach to Robert Browning's poetics, Britta Martens focuses on a corpus of relatively neglected poems in Browning's own voice in which he reflects on his poetry, his self-conceptualization, and his place in the poetic tradition. She analyzes his work in relation to Romanticism, Victorian reactions to the Romantic legacy, and wider nineteenth-century changes in poetic taste to argue that in these poems, as in his more frequently studied dramatic monologues, Browning deploys varied dramatic methods of self-representation, often critically and ironically exposing the biases and limitations of the seemingly authoritative speaker Browning The poems thus become devices for Browning's detached evaluation of his own and of others poetics an evaluation never fully explicit but presented with elusive economy for the astute reader to interpret The confrontation between the personal authorial voice and the dramatic voice in these poems provides revealing insights into the poet's highly self-conscious conflicted and sustained engagement with the Romantic tradition and the diversely challenging reader expectations that he faces in a post Romantic age As the Victorian most rigorous in his rejection of Romantic self-expression Browning is a key transitional figure between the sharply antagonistic periods of Romanticism and Modernism He is also as Martens persuasively demonstrates a poet of complex contradictions and an illuminating case study for addressing the perennial issues of voice authorial authority and self-reference

Networking the Nation Alison Chapman, 2015 How did nineteenth-century women's poetry shift from the poetess poetry of lyric effusion and hyper femininity to the muscular epic of Elizabeth Barrett Browning's Aurora Leigh Networking the Nation re-writes women's poetic traditions by demonstrating the debt that Barrett Browning's revolutionary poetics owed to a circle of American and British women poets living in Florence and campaigning in their poetry and in their salons for Italian Unification These women poets Isa Blagden Elizabeth Kinney Eliza Ogilvy and Theodosia Garrow Trollope formed with Barrett Browning a network of poetry sociability and politics which was devoted to the mission of campaigning for Italy as an independent nation state In their poetic experiments with the active lyric voice in their forging of a transnational persona through the periodical press in their salons and spiritualist seances the women poets formed a network that attempted to assert and perform an independent unified Italy in their work Networking the Nation maps the careers of these expatriate women poets who were based in Florence in the key years of Risorgimento politics racing their transnational social and print communities and the problematic but schismatic shift in their poetry from the conventional sphere of the poetess In the fraught and thrilling engagement with their adopted nation's revolutionary turmoil and in their experiments with different types of writing agency the women poets in this book offer revolutions of other kinds revolutions of women's poetry and the very act of writing heightening their self consciousness about their audience and generating a poetics of publicness Using methodologies associated with historical poetics and new formalism the book examines the dialogues between poets and periodical reviews from the 1830s to the 1860s It juxtaposes male and female poets and canonical and uncanonical texts Challenging the critical binaries of fame and celebrity the culture of evaluation posits a new way of reading Victorian poetry It illuminates poets engagement with the immediacy and inevitability of writing for the present and for the contemporary media through which poetry was read and disseminated New patterns of reception were created by mass print culture and both poets and reviewers were preoccupied with reaching the newly constituted mass audience The changes to the material forms of poetry e g through the periodical or gift book and the subjection to the commercial imperatives of the literary marketplace encouraged bold experiment with verse The book identifies three poetic strategies for articulating the preoccupation with a mass audience and the demands of mass media voice style and address Chapters on voice style and address explore the development of poetic form in dialogue with periodical reviews

Poetics of Luxury in the Nineteenth Century Professor Betsy Winakur Tontiplaphol, 2013-05-28 Beginning with John Keats and tracing a line of influence through Alfred Lord Tennyson and Gerard Manley Hopkins Betsy Tontiplaphol draws on established narratives of the nineteenth century s social and literary developments to describe the relationship between poetics and luxury in an age when imperial trade and domestic consumerism reached a fevered pitch The luscious poem as Tontiplaphol defines it is a subset of the luxurious a category that suggests richness in combination with enclosure and intimacy For Keats Tontiplaphol suggests the psychological virtues of luscious experience generated a new poetics one that combined his Romantic predecessors sense of the ameliorative power of poetry with his own revaluation of space both physical and prosodic Her approach blends cultural context with close attention to the formal and affective qualities of poetry as she describes the efforts of Keats and his equally though differently anxious Victorian inheritors to develop textual spaces as luscious as the ones their language describes For all three poets that effort entailed rediscovering and reinterpreting the list or catalogue and each chapter s textual and formal analyses are offered in counterpoint to careful examination of the century s luscious materialities Her book is at once a study of influence a socio historical critique and a form focused assessment of three century defining voices

Lives of the Sonnet, 1787-1895 Dr Marianne Van Remoortel, 2013-05-28 In a series of representative case studies Marianne Van Remoortel traces the development of the sonnet during intense moments of change and stability continuity and conflict from the early Romantic period to the end of the nineteenth century Paying particular attention to the role of the popular press which served as a venue of innovation and as a site of recruitment for aspiring authors Van Remoortel redefines the scope of the genre including the ways in which its development is intricately related to issues of gender Among her subjects are the Della Cruscans and their primary critic William Gifford the young Samuel Taylor Coleridge and his circle Elizabeth Barrett Browning s Sonnets from the Portuguese George Meredith s Modern Love Dante Gabriel Rossetti s House of Life and Augusta Webster s Mother and Daughter As women became a force to be reckoned with among the reading public and the writing community the term sonnet often operated as a satirical label that was not restricted to poetry adhering to the strict formalities of the genre Van Remoortel s study in its attentiveness to the sonnet s feminization during the late eighteenth century offers important insights into the ways in which changing attitudes about gender and genre shaped critics interpretations of the reception histories of nineteenth century sonnet sequences Victorian Poetry ,2006 Victorian Environmental Nightmares Laurence W. Mazzeno,Ronald D. Morrison,2019-05-06 The twelve essays in Victorian Environmental Nightmares explore various environmental nightmares through applied analyses of Victorian texts Over the course of the nineteenth century writers of imaginative literature often expressed fears and concerns over environmental degradation in its wide variety of meanings including social and moral In some instances natural or environmental disasters influenced these responses in other instances a growing awareness of problems caused by industrial pollution and the growth of cities prompted responses Seven essays in this volume cover works about Britain and its current and former colonies that examine these nightmare environments at home and abroad But as the remaining five essays in this collection demonstrate environmental nightmares are not restricted to essays on actual disasters or realistic fiction since in many cases Victorian writers projected onto imperial landscapes or wholly imagined landscapes in fantastic fiction their anxieties about how humans might change their environments and how these environments might also change humans Nineteenth-century Literature ,2003
