Healthy First Courses:

Healthy First Courses Diane Rossen Worthington, 1995 Extending healthy ageing across the life course World Health Organization, 2024-11-21 This was the second virtual meeting to initiate WHO's new area of work on connecting healthy development and healthy ageing throughout the life course following the first in June 2022. The meeting put into practice the approach to collaboration that will draw on everyone's expertise and interest. Over 120 participants joined from all six WHO regions. Participants included persons from life course centres, experts in individual life stages including children, adolescents, adults, and older adults, members of the Consortium on Metrics and Evidence for Healthy Ageing (CMEHA) including academics, civil society representatives, and policy makers, as well as staff from WHO and other international agencies.

A First Course in Systems Biology Eberhard Voit, 2017-09-05 A First Course in Systems Biology is an introduction for advanced undergraduate and graduate students to the growing field of systems biology. Its main focus is the development of computational models and their applications to diverse biological systems. The book begins with the fundamentals of modeling, then reviews features of the molecular inventories that bring biological systems to life and discusses case studies that represent some of the frontiers in systems biology and synthetic biology. In this way, it provides the reader with a comprehensive background and access to methods for executing standard systems biology tasks, understanding the modern literature, and launching into specialized courses or projects that address biological questions using theoretical and computational means. New topics in this edition include default modules for model design, limit cycles, and chaos, parameter estimation in Excel, model representations of gene regulation through transcription factors, derivation of the Michaelis-Menten rate law from the original conceptual model, different types of inhibition, hysteresis, a model of differentiation, system adaptation to persistent signals, nonlinear nullclines, PBPK models, and elementary modes. The format is a combination of instructional text and references to primary literature, complemented by sets of small-scale exercises that enable hands-on experience and large-scale, often open-ended questions for further reflection.
