Hear My Roar A Story Of Family Violence:

Hear My Roar Gillian Watts, 2009 Papa loves little Orsa but sometimes it s hard to tell It seems to Orsa Bear that Papa is angry all the time especially after he s had a lot of jack berry wine If Papa s not yelling at Mama about the weeds in their garden he s roaring at Orsa for being clumsy at his chores Orsa is scared and doesn t understand why his father acts this way After a long winter s sleep things get worse but with the help of Dr Owl Mama and Orsa bravely take steps to break the cycle of violence Told in an easy to read graphic narrative format Hear My Roar provides a gentle non threatening approach to talking with children about family violence The foreword and afterword help parents teachers and caregivers use the story with young readers This edition of Hear My Roar was adapted from the first edition by Dr Ty Hochban who has conducted extensive research in child developmental psychology and the effects of family violence Hear My Roar Ty

Hochban, 1994-08-01 This illustrated storybook for children ages 5 and up deals with a situation in which the father becomes abusive towards the mother and child Read this sensitive book to children to help them find appropriate response to abuse in their lives Hear My Roar Ty Hochban, 1994 The story is told in the form of an allegory featuring a family of bears This child centered look at family violence encourages victims to take action to help break the cycle of abuse Breaking the Silence Linda Goldman, 2014-06-11 The second edition of this bestselling book is designed for mental health professionals educators and the parent caregiver this book provides specific ideas and techniques to work with children in various areas of complicated grief It presents words and methods to help initiate discussions of these delicate topics as well as tools to help children understand and separate complicated grief into parts These parts in turn can be grieved for and released one at a time A new chapter is included called Communities Grieve Involvement with Children and Trauma It includes information on The Taiwan Earthquake and how the community worked with children a school bus accident in which 36 elementary school children witnessed the death of the bus driver that was driving and how the school system worked with these children and their families a boy who was running on a cross country team and got hit by a car which was witnessed by teammates and how a non profit community grief agency worked with family school and community The last study is from the Oklahoma bombing and the outgrowth of a place for the traumatized children and how they still work with kids and family today This chapter then contains new activities to work with traumatized grieving children The new edition also includes updated resources books curriculums websites hotlines and another new chapter on bullying and victimization issues The chapter for educators has been expanded including the coverage of topics such as at risk students gay and lesbian issues and self injurious behaviors Children Who See Too Much Betsy Mcalister Groves, 2003-01-20 For the last ten years Betsy Groves has been working with children traumatized by witnessing violence In this book she shows how children understand respond to and are affected by violence especially domestic violence Groves makes the powerful case that traumatic events carried out by family members carry the most severe psychological risks for very young children She uses clinical case studies to show that being young does not protect against the lasting effects of witnessing violence and she offers ways adults can help
