Economic Bulletin for Europe ,1997      Global Social Policy Bob Deacon,1997-10-27 This accessible text looks at the impact of the globalization process on social policy National social policy is increasingly determined by global economic competition and international organizations Its substance is becoming more and more transnational and now has to be understood in terms of global social redistribution social regulation social provision and empowerment Global Social Policy examines trends in global inequity and summarizes the diverse experiences of different welfare regimes across the world The authors review the social policies of international organizations such as the World Bank the International Monetary Fund UN Agencies and the European Union and show them to be engaged in heated controversy regarding the future for welfare They argue that this concealed global discourse needs to be brought into an accountable arena      Kazakstan 1993 - 2000 Lutz Hoffmann,Peter Bofinger,Heiner Flassbeck,Alfred Steinherr,2012-12-06 By introducing a new national currency in November 1993 the Republic of Kazakstan took a decisive step towards establishing its political and economic independence In the following years Kazakstan made great efforts to lay the institutional foundation for economic policy in line with a free market system The cooperation between Kazak experts and independent international advisors such as the group of German economists under the leadership of Lutz Hoffmann played an important role for the Kazak government in choosing the most effective concepts and instruments for economic policy Thus the main topic of this book is the discussion of the macroeconomic problems during the first years of transition and the role of international financial institutions in particular the International Monetary Fund The topics are dealt with in a new form of presentation collecting the papers of the advisory group in chronological order      Banking, International Capital Flows and Growth in Europe Paul J.J. Welfens,Holger C. Wolf,2012-12-06 Paul J J Welfens and Holger C Wolf While the economies of Asia and more recently South as well as North America have enjoyed sustained high growth the growth performance of western Europe and in particular continental Europe has been rather modest Coupled with sizable improvements in labor productivity and at best steady capital productivity growth proved insufficient to sustain employment levels much less to replicate the US job creation success Relative inflation performance has been much better in the run up to European Monetary Union inflation rates have dramatically converged towards the lower end of the distribution while risk premia on formerly high inflation economies have fallen Yet looking forward the undoubted success in achieving price stability is mitigated by the lackluster growth and in particular employment performance Indeed the relative little attention paid to initiatives directed at raising economic growth is startling not only in the light of the US policy record but also in light of the remarkable rebound of those European economies which have aggressively tackled the structural problems most prominently the UK and Ireland      Social and Economic Change in Eastern Ukraine Hans van Zon,Andre Batako,Anna Kreslavaska,2018-12-07 First published in 1998 this deeply engaging volume describes the great transformation of our time While transformation it is definitely not a transition to the market economy civil society and democratic rule Instead this book maps the growth of the economic jungle clan society and a corrupted criminalised state Capitalists but no capitalism Watching Warsaw Prague and Budapest one should not forget about Zaporizhzhya After this book one cannot      World Trade after the Uruguay Round Andras Inotai, Harald Sander, 2002-01-31 The completion of the Uruguay round promised a new era in international trading relations However there remains a wide range of issues which could threaten international trading stability including regionalisation and regionalism increased non tariff forms of protection and the proliferation of unilateral and bilateral trade deals This work assesses both the immediate impact of the GATT deal and the future of the world trading system It concludes with an assessment of the long term possibilities for creating a mutually beneficial world economic system      Transformation and Integration John Eatwell, 1995 Presents the alternatives for economic transition and integration in central and eastern Europe      Institutions, Economic Performance and Sustainable Development Biman C. Prasad, Clement Allan Tisdell, 2006 Fiji has distinct institutional features that make it an ideal case for examining and discussing the consequences of institutional arrangements particularly the nature of property rights for national economic performance development prospects and the state of the environment which in turn reflects a nation s ability to achieve sustainable development Furthermore the nature of institutional arrangements in Fiji can be used to illustrate aspects of both the new and the old institutional economics Apart from the fact that Fiji provides considerable scope for the exploration of institutional economics and its applications Fiji is a comparatively important island nation in the south west Pacific that is an important member of the Pacific Island Forum grouping of 14 island nations The recent development of Fiji has been much influenced by its social history particularly by its institutional structures established or codified during British colonial rule Its present racial composition is largely a product of British colonisation of Indians brought to Fiji by the British to produce sugar cane as a contribution to the economic development of the former British Empire In many respects the type of global imperialism that was well established during the nineteenth century was a forerunner to modern economic globalisation which involves a mixture of free trading blocs and multilateralism The current population mixture of Fiji consisting of about equal numbers of Indian Fijians and Indigenous Fijians has its roots in Fiji s colonial history Furthermore the codified systems of property rights which largely excludes Indian Fijians from the ownership of land was established by the British It has been a major source of ethnic tension and of social and political conflict in Fiji We show that this system of property rights has had important negative consequences for economic growth in Fiji for the economic performance of its industries and for the conservation of its natural resources natural resources which may not be equitable and which also does not appear to be efficient administratively This adds to social and political tension in Fiji      Policy Competition and Foreign Direct Investment in Europe Philip Raines, Ross Brown, 2018-08-20 First published in 1999 this volume recognised how widespread attention has been given to charting how the global rise in investment flows has caused numerous changes in the operation of economies such as the globalisation of production and increasing international economic interdependency Less research has been made on the role of government policy in promoting FDI This book based on a report for the OECD Development Centre examines the rising competition between European governments to attract mobile investment projects and its impact on the use of different policy areas to influence FDI decisions The Southeast European Yearbook ,1998

Emerging Capitalism in Central Europe and Southeast Asia F. Bafoil,2015-12-24 This book examines the emergence of different forms of capitalism in Central Eastern states in Europe and Mekong states within the Association of Southeast Asian Nations ASEAN All of them but Thailand have historically disappeared from the regional maps for long periods of time due to colonial or imperial rule Most of them were previously members of a soviet type economy and they all joined ASEAN or the European Union in the 1990s or in the 2000s These states are characterized by a strong urge toward feelings of national sovereignty due to their experiences with colonialism and imperialism But due to the regional economic pressures and the globalization dynamic these states cannot articulate protectionist policies They are forced to open their economies in order to attract Foreign Direct Investments This results in less regulated and more political forms of capitalism than in some more developed capitalist countries This book analyzes forms of capitalism as the arising from a combination of three conditions the legacy of the foreign occupations the national construction process of the sovereign state and lastly the dynamics of regional integration These states claims to national sovereignty and the manner in which they developed suggests a causative link between the forms of political domination that have presided over these transformations and the forms of capitalism that have resulted Index to International Statistics ,1998 The Economics of European Integration
