migration is especially high within Europe and Central Asia with 80 percent of the region's emigrants choosing to move to other countries in the region. In high income destination countries migrants are often blamed for high unemployment and declining social services. There are also widespread concerns about brain drain in the migrant sending countries of Eastern Europe, the Western Balkans and Central Asia. This update focuses on the design of policies on labor mobility and presents the trends, determinants and impacts of low and high skilled labor.      Energy And Economic Theory Ferdinand E Banks, 2015-02-11 This book is an up to date primer covering the most important subjects in energy economics with particular attention paid to oil, natural gas and nuclear energy and without an excessive amount of mathematics. The first three survey chapters constitute an introductory and mostly non technical short course in modern energy economics. Most of the technical analysis is taken up in the following four chapters while the last chapter is a completely non technical summation that can be read independent of the rest of the book. Written in a user friendly tone it is suitable as a textbook for undergraduate and or graduate students but most of the book should be accessible to anyone with a serious interest in energy economics.      Devolution and the UK Economy David Bailey, Leslie Budd, 2016-02-24 The Scottish Referendum in September 2014 had significant and far reaching consequences for the political settlement of the United Kingdom. The pressure for more fiscal devolution and other economic powers in the devolved nations has increased demands for greater economic decentralisation in the regions and sub regions of England. This edited collection constructs an analytical narrative that draws on the evidence of the Scottish experience and expert testimony from the Smith Commission and other policy advisors. Drawing on ideas from fiscal federalism and agglomeration economics the contributors examine the reorganisation and restructuring of economic territories within the UK. What is apparent in the UK experience of asymmetrical devolution is that many of the complex issues surrounding decentralised economic governance are not going to be addressed through simple expedients. The pertinent question is what should be the appropriate institutional logics and formal policy bailiwicks underpinning a new constitutional settlement. In other words what new governmental powers and accompanying forms of governance are needed to achieve a more economically and spatially balanced economy.      Economic Dimensions in International Law Jagdeep S. Bhandari, Alan O. Sykes, 1997 Each of the chapters was presented at a conference in the spring of 1995 sponsored by Duquesne University and George Mason University. Pref.      Themes in the Economics of Aging David A. Wise, 2007-11-01 In the past few years the economic ramifications of aging have garnered close attention from a group of NBER researchers led by David A. Wise. In this volume Wise and his collaborators continue to analyze a nexus of age related issues. This volume begins by looking at the implications of private and public personal retirement plans focusing in particular on the impact of 401 k programs on retirement strategies in light of potential social security reform and factors such as annuitization and on asset accumulation. Next the often observed relationship between health and wealth is dissected from two different perspectives and correlated with striking increases in health care spending over the past two decades despite the improved health of older populations The volume concludes with an investigation of the retirement effects of various social security provisions in both U S and German systems This carefully developed collection expands the current investigative focus and broadens the dialogue on a rapidly growing area of social and economic concern
