relatively disconnected from practical situations Are the categories and processes associated with Indigenous Peoples simply an extension of colonial categories and processes or do they challenge existing norms and structures This collection draws together the works of anthropologists political scientists and legal scholars to address such questions Examining the legal historical political economic and cultural dimensions of the Indigenous Peoples rights movement at global regional national and local levels the chapters present a series of case studies that reveal the complex power relations that inform the ongoing struggles of Indigenous Peoples to secure their human rights The book will be of interest to social scientists and legal scholars studying Indigenous Peoples rights and international human rights movements in general El Mundo Indígena
