From Plan To Market The Economic Transition In Vietnam:

From Plan To Market Adam Fforde, 2019-03-13 This clear and accessible text explores Vietnam's successful transition from neo Stalinist central planning to a market economy Vietnamese style After describing the north Vietnamese system prior to 1975 and its colonial and precolonial antecedents the authors uncover the mechanisms of that changeover They contend that the Vietnamese transition was largely bottom up in character and that it evolved over a long enough period for the country's political economy to adjust This explains in part the rapid shift to a high growth externally oriented development path in the early 1990s despite the loss of Soviet aid and the lack of significant Western substitutes until 1992 1993 Based upon extensive in-country experience a wealth of primary materials and wide comparative knowledge of development issues the book challenges many preconceived notions both about Vietnam and about the general nature of transition processes

From Plan to Market Adam Fforde, 1997 Economic Transition in Vietnam Melanie Beresford, Dang Phong, 2000-12-20 The authors show how development of non plan trading relations was based on supplies of scarce aid subsidised goods which provided the means for local authorities enterprises and individuals to convert their positions of political and social power into capital They further highlight the ways in which new market oriented trade relations emerged in symbiosis with the planning system and continue to influence the economic structure and institutions today Economic Transition in Vietnam outlines the many problems currently facing Vietnam not least how new global forms of integration are affecting future development
