

Publishers' Note

This is the authentic Report of the Kargil Review Committee with minor deletions made by the Government in the interest of national security and as tabled in Parliament. The Annexures and Appendices, cited in the Report, are not included here for the same reason.

The Publishers have not edited the Report and the original one has been retained as it is. The Publishers have added an index for the facility of the reader though the same was not a part of the original report. The front and back covers of the book have also been redesigned by the Publishers. The book cloth is taken largely from Chapter I of the Report.

enable some form of parity with a rising China. The reality has been otherwise. China's spectacular growth and accompanying military modernisation has hugely outpaced that of India while the Indian military modernisation has moved fitfully. In the past several years budgets have committed less than 2 per cent of GDP, the lowest levels since the war of 1962 for the military. Even if spending were to rise to 3 per cent, little funding would be available for modernisation after allowing for rising pensions, salaries and other components of the budget. Put simply, the authors state India needs a national security strategy for hard times. It would be a strategy grounded in reality. India's priority has to be the raising of vast numbers of its people out of abject poverty even if the strategies of countries like China and the United States, economically more developed, can aim at being global powers. In Hard Times is an important collection that highlights the major challenges India confronts and the ways they can be tackled, especially in the light of the upheavals caused by the COVID-19 pandemic. Its contributors include former military officers including Admiral Arun Prakash and Lt Gen D S Hooda whose views have helped shape discussions on strategy as well as commentators such as Dr Sanjaya Baru. Experience tells us that in war it's often the smarter side that wins, not the stronger one. These essays point us in that direction.

The Making of India's Foreign Policy Jayantanuja Bandyopadhyaya, 2003

The Kashmir Question Sumit Ganguly, 2004-03-01

India, which had been created as a civic polity, initially sought to hold on to this Muslim majority state to demonstrate its secular credentials. Pakistan, in turn, had laid claim to Kashmir because it had been created as the homeland for the Muslims of South Asia. After the break-up of Pakistan in 1971, the Pakistani irredentist claim to Kashmir lost substantial ground. If Pakistan could not cohere on the basis of religion alone, it had few moral claims on its co-religionists in Kashmir. Similarly, in the 1980s, as the practice of Indian secularism was eroded, India's claim to Kashmir on the grounds of secularism largely came apart. Today, their respective claims to Kashmir are mostly on the basis of statecraft. This title provides a comprehensive assessment of a number of different facets of the on-going dispute over Kashmir between India and Pakistan. Among other matters, it examines the respective endgames of both states, the evolution of American policy toward the dispute, the dangers of nuclear escalation in the region, and the state of the insurgency in the Indian-controlled portion of the disputed state.

The Making of Indian Diplomacy Deep K. Datta-Ray, 2015-05-21

Breaks from the argument that for Indians the moment of colonial liberation was a false one, as the colonized had internalized European practices.

Seeking the Bomb Vipin Narang, 2022-01-11

The first systematic look at the different strategies that states employ in their pursuit of nuclear weapons. Much of the work on nuclear proliferation has focused on why states pursue nuclear weapons. The question of how states pursue nuclear weapons has received little attention. Seeking the Bomb is the first book to analyze this topic by examining which strategies of nuclear proliferation are available to aspirants, why aspirants select one strategy over another, and how this matters to international politics. Looking at a wide range of nations from India and Japan to the Soviet Union and North Korea to Iraq and Iran, Vipin Narang develops an original typology of proliferation strategies: hedging, sprinting, sheltered pursuit and hiding Each strategy of proliferation provides different opportunities for the development of nuclear weapons while at the same time presenting distinct vulnerabilities that can be exploited to prevent states from doing so Narang delves into the crucial implications these strategies have for nuclear proliferation and international security Hiders for example are especially disruptive since either they successfully attain nuclear weapons irrevocably altering the global power structure or they are discovered potentially triggering serious crises or war as external powers try to halt or reverse a previously clandestine nuclear weapons program As the international community confronts the next generation of potential nuclear proliferators Seeking the Bomb explores how global conflict and stability are shaped by the ruthlessly pragmatic ways states choose strategies of proliferation

Psychological Warfare and India Dr Arunkumar Bhatt, 2015-03-16 Wars are born in human mind Great military leaders belonging to all times and cultures have always tried to influence the minds of their foes and friends alike to facilitate their own victories by making their enemies hesitant The minds concerned could be influenced with a variety of overt and covert actions that send right signals to the target audiences In the words of Allied Supreme Commander of the World War II Gen Dwight Eisenhower these actions are anything from the singing of a beautiful anthem to the most extraordinary kind of physical sabotage This is Psychological Warfare and the most preferred action is communication Dr Arunkumar Bhatt who being a defence journalist knows nuances of communication and unfolds here this soft kill strategy and its tactics He traces the history of the psychological warfare to establish how steadily its importance has grown It became a war winning factor in the Great War and its role further expanded in the World War II The Psywar as it has come to be known among many names has not looked back since then The advances in science and technology revolution in communication and information technologies have greatly enhanced the range and effectiveness of the psychological warfare in terms of both time and space The Revolution in Military Affairs has been further sharpening the Psywar weapons Dedicated Psywar units and even commands backed by elements in formation staff are in the vogue The Psychological Warfare has now found a place among war by other means It is recognised as a command function and is factored in planning at all levels It is so important that the decision to deploy the psy weapons is taken at the top echelon of the high command and this is done much ahead of the breaking out of hostilities Where does India that has a poor strategic culture and still poorer awareness about its security stand vis vis Psywar Indian culture has instances of the Psywar It was being practised in the ancient period Kautilya recommends it strongly Different invaders used it The British practised it in an institutionalised fashion to rule India India did counter the British psywar but in a rather irregular way India used it successfully in some of the post independence wars but the country needs to do much more to protect itself against Psywar attacks and to use it effectively to enhance its own security in the present day multi threat scenario This is an attempt to table a calling attention motion before the nation
