Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, The Canons of Our Fathers Bentley Layton, 2014-09-18 This book is the first publication of a very early set of Christian monastic rules from Roman Egypt accompanied by four preliminary chapters discussing their historical and social context and their character as rules These rules were found quoted in the writings of the great Egyptian monastic leader Shenoute Designed for a federation of monks and nuns who banded together about 360 CE forming the so called White Monastery Federation the rules date back to the fourth and fifth centuries New historical evidence is presented for the founding of the Federation Providing almost the earliest evidence for Christian communal cenobitic monasticism the rules depict many intimate aspects of ascetic practice Details of monastic daily life are mentioned in passing in the rules and the author uses these details to describe their picture logic has a much wider cachet than simply functioning as a way of thinking only about bureaucratic institutions The logic is crucial to how these institutions function but more so it is a dominant force in forming modern state social order

Bureaucratic logic is used incessantly to invent and to modify all kinds of systems of classification that often have profound consequences for individuals and for groups and that are ritualized powerfully through a host of state related public events
