

OUR FREEDOM

Once a tiny seed was planted
By some Pilgrim people.
They came to this land where there was
Neither church nor steeple.
There was neither field nor fence,
Nor fireplace glowing red.
There was not a single place
To rest a weary head.

But sturdy Pilgrims come
To plant this noble seed.
And staunchly did they linger though
So deep and sad their need.
The seed they planted reached the sky
A mighty springing tree!
We call this great growth Freedom -
And it's meant for you and me.

situated in a specific cultural context and moment in history informs the meanings attributed to the pilgrimage experience. The various contributions reflect on how in their stories pilgrims draw on multiple cultural discourses and practices that shape their daily lifeworlds to convey the ways in which the pilgrimage to Mecca speaks to their senses and moves them emotionally. Together the written memoirs and oral accounts discussed in the book offer unique insights in Islam's rich and evolving tradition of hajj and umra storytelling. Transmitting and Circulating the Late Antique and Byzantine Worlds, 2019-10-29. Transmitting and Circulating the Late Antique and Byzantine Worlds seeks to be a crucial contribution to the history of medieval connectedness. Using one of the methodological tools associated with the global history movement, this volume aims to use connectedness to revitalise local and regional networks of exchange and movement. Its case studies collectively point caution toward assuming or asserting global scale transmission of meaning or items unchanged and show instead how meaning is locally produced and regionally formulated and how this is no less dynamic than any global level connectedness. These case studies by early career scholars range from the movement of cotton growing practices to the transmission of information within individual texts. Their wide scope however is nonetheless united by their preoccupation with transmission and circulation as categories of analysing or explaining movement and change in history. This volume hopes to be therefore a useful contribution to the growing field of a history of connectivity and connectedness. Contributors are Jovana Anelković, Peter Bara, Mathew Barber, Julia Burdajewicz, Adele Curness, Carl Dixon, Alex MacFarlane, Anna Kelley, Matteo G. Randazzo, Katinka Sewing and Grace Stafford. Viking and Ecclesiastical Interactions in the Irish Sea Area from the 9th to 11th Centuries, Danica Ramsey-Brimberg, 2024-05-15. Different approaches have been conducted to analyse the interactions of the different belief systems in the early medieval world. This book assesses the relationship between clerics and Scandinavian influenced laity in the Irish Sea area through the placement of furnished graves at or near ecclesiastical sites in the ninth through the eleventh centuries. Other areas of funerary studies have moved beyond a dichotomy of Christianity and paganism, acknowledging that practices can be multifaceted. Yet statements regarding Viking Age furnished graves in or near ecclesiastical sites are still not as pervasively open to this line of thinking. To bridge this gap, this book delves into the historiography and context of the burial practices through multidisciplinary analysis. The ecclesiastical sites and furnished graves of the eastern southwest Scotland and northwest England, central Isle of Man and western Ireland and Northern Ireland Irish Sea areas are then examined using various sources to understand their contexts and relationships. In the final chapters, the sites and graves are brought together to identify any trends, any unique circumstances that led to local variances and their fit into the larger picture. Viking Age furnished graves can be seen as an acceptable variation among an array of burial practices and the relationship between the clergy and laity is far more complex and closely tied than has been portrayed Viking and Ecclesiastical Interactions in the Irish Sea Area from the 9th to 11th Centuries will appeal to students and scholars alike interested in the history of the Vikings in the British Irish Isles and their relationships with ecclesiastical institutions

The Emergence of Arabic Poetry Nathaniel A. Miller, 2024-08-13 A new literary history of Arabic poetry from 500 750 CE that includes hundreds of lines of poetry never before translated into English To interpret the Quran s Arabic early medieval Muslims turned to pre Islamic poetry a corpus that the Prophet Muhammad s cousin called the archive of the Arabs While this principle seems straightforward pre Islamic Arabs did not in fact think of themselves as either pre Islamic or Arab The term Arab barely appears at all in pre Islamic poetry The Emergence of Arabic Poetry reexamines this early poetry to reconstruct what pre Islamic culture actually entailed Nathaniel A Miller draws on a wide range of texts including hundreds of lines of poetry never before translated into English in addition to new inscriptional archaeological and non Arabic sources to explore the diverse world of pre and early Islamic Arabia in which Islam developed Miller traces the emergence of two regional identities and their distinctive poetic traditions in the Arabian Peninsula of late antiquity Najdi in the center and northeast and Hijazi in the southwest The book shows how later efforts of Muslim scholars to use early poetry as an aesthetic linguistic ideal to interpret the Quran resulted in an image of a unitary exceptional and isolated Arab identity and culture These scholars drew on the Najdi tradition canonizing its forms as classical Arabic poetry par excellence and solidifying many tropes of Arabness that are still ubiquitous today of nomadism performative generosity and martial equestrianism However Miller argues it was the neglected Hijazi tradition that was actually more central to the emergence of early Islam Early Arabic poetry has been largely overlooked in current scholarship in adjacent fields largely due to twentieth century controversies over whether this corpus is legitimate or was forged In combining a reconstruction of pre Islamic poetry s social function with a consideration of the circumstances of its later canonization The Emergence of Arabic Poetry offers an urgently needed reappraisal of a significant but underexamined poetic corpus as well as a new literary history of the origins of Arabic poetry from 500 to 750 CE
