Aviation in Australia Jill Blee, 2007 When the first hot air balloons took to the air the guest to build machines that could carry people safely across the skies captured the imagination of the world It triggered a surge of daring and ingenuity that saw technological barriers tumble and by World War One man was using aeroplanes in combat Among these young men in their flying machines were Australians Richard Williams Hudson Fysh Ross and Keith Smith Bert Hinkler and Charles Kingsford Smith who would all become household names on their return home From becoming the father of the RAAF to winning the inaugural London to Australia air race from founding Qantas to being the first to cross the Pacific Ocean these were some of the men who placed Australia at the forefront of the aviation industry AVIATION IN AUSTRALIA tells their stories but also looks at more recent events that have seen the demise of icons such as Ansett and the rise of new players in this most competitive of industries This book is part of Exisle Publishing's Little Red Books series Every title in the Little Red Books series provides an overview of key events people or places in Australian history. They cover the essentials bringing the reader up to speed on the most important fascinating or intriguing facts Appealing to everyone from students to pensioners who ve always wanted to know a bit about that they re an essential part of every Australian bookshelf Oceans Robert Bluffield, 2014-11-19 This a story of pioneers intrepid aviators adventurers tycoons and innovators It is also a story of dedication and determination for despite fixed wing aircraft proving their value over the battlefields of the Western Front during the First World War convincing governments and public alike that they had a role in peacetime proved far more challenging The Americans as inventors of heavier than air powered flight had briefly courted with a passenger airline across Tampa Bay in 1914 yet it took a further nine years for mail to be flown coast to coast In 1919 a British company made the first international scheduled flight between London and Paris but the continuation of regular services was thwarted by a less than enthusiastic government that allowed its generously subsidised French competition for a short time at least to fly cross Channel passenger schedules unimpeded The British eventually realzed that fast links with their Empire were vital followed the example of the French and Dutch who had forged air links with their cousins in North Africa and the Far East Meanwhile in South America the Germans forbidden under the Versailles Treaty from any major aircraft building were establishing cunning supremacy by forming airlines throughout South America and in China While America awaited a transcontinental passenger service Juan Trippe s Pan American Airways was crossing swords with Ralph O Neill of New York Rio Buenos Aires Line NYRBA for air supremacy between the US Brazil Argentina and elsewhere in Latin America that led to the formation of arguably the world's greatest airline In Russia Igor Sikorsky had built a vast passenger carrying aircraft the Il ya Muromets and politicians debated whether giant airships or fixed wing aircraft should rule the skies an issue that was put firmly to bed when the mighty German airship Hindenburg exploded while mooring at Lakehurst in 1937 Robert Bluffield's highly researched and detailed account tells the dramatic stories of explorers such as Kingsford Smith Lindbergh and Cobham and flamboyant entrepreneurs some well known others forgotten who risked fortunes and reputations to follow their dreams of reaching and ruling the skies over empires continents and oceans Against bewildering adversity corruption underhanded deals and dwindling resources these tenacious individuals braved the elements using primitive entirely unsuitable equipment to establish earth shrinking aerial services that criss crossed the great oceans and the globe s most inhospitable territories These are the stories of those pioneers of A ropostale CNAC Air Orient Imperial Airways KLM Deutsche Luft Hansa Pan Am SCADTA The Condor Syndicat Qantas and others that had a far reaching impact on the way the modern world would travel

VC10: Icon of the Skies Lance Cole, 2017-03-30 An excellent account of the political battles and the commercial skulduggery and its outstanding service as a transport and tanker with the RAF Firetrench The VC10 was the nation s biggest jet airliner of its age and regarded as the world's best looking airliner. It was safe fast and designed to take off from short runways in Africa and Asia at the request of its main operator BOAC the airline that would later go on to become today s British Airways The VC10 and the larger Super VC10 were beloved by pilots and passengers alike and became icons of the 1960s They were hugely popular all over the world Yet the VC10 was eclipsed by Boeing s 707 which sold by the hundreds despite the fact that the 707 was less capable and could not initially operate from the runways of the Commonwealth and old British Empire routes as the VC10 undoubtedly could This book blends the story of VC10 development with a well researched tale of corporate and political power play It asks just what lay behind the sales failure of the VC1O Politics played an important part of course as did BOACs tactics and a whodunnit cast of politico corporate events and machinations at the highest level of society during the dying days of Empire in 1960s Britain Key players in the story from Tony Benn to famous test pilot Brian Trubshaw Concorde are cited and quoted By exploring this historical period in depth and highlighting all the various impediments that stood in the way of success for the VC10 Lance Cole adds an important layer to our understanding of twentieth century history International Directory of Company Histories Tina Grant, Thomas Derdak, 2005-02 Annotation This multi volume series provides detailed histories of more than 7 000 of the most influential companies International Directory of Company Histories ,1988 International Directory of Company Histories worldwide Jay P.
