Embodiment in Qualitative Research Laura L. Ellingson, 2017-04-07 Embodiment in Qualitative Research connects critical interdisciplinary theorizing of embodiment with creative practical strategies for engaging in embodied qualitative research Ellingson equips qualitative researchers not only to resist the mind body split in principle but to infuse their research with the vitality that comes from embracing knowledge production as deeply embedded in sensory experience Grounded in poststructuralist posthumanist and feminist perspectives this innovative book synthesizes current interdisciplinary theories and research on embodiment explores research examples from across the social sciences education and allied health and features embodied ethnographic tales and evocative moments from everyday life for reflexive consideration Each chapter offers flexible starting points for doing embodiment actively throughout every stage of qualitative research An awareness of and an active engagement with issues of embodiment enhances scholars ability to produce high quality research and enlarges their capacity as public intellectuals to spark positive social change particularly within marginalized communities The strategies offered relate to methodologies from across the entire spectrum from traditional qualitative methods such as grounded theory critical theoretical analysis and discourse analysis to arts based research including performance autoethnographic narrative poetry and documentary film making Embodiment in Qualitative Research is designed as a resource book for qualitative researchers who want to explore the latest trends in critical theorizing The writing style will appeal to researchers who seek a bridge between abstract theorizing and pragmatic strategies for producing outstanding qualitative research as well as to critical scholars who want to integrate embodied ways of knowing with their theorizing Graduate and advanced undergraduate qualitative methods students and early career researchers as well as advanced scholars seeking to enrich the scope and texture of their work will find the text inspiring and engaging Creating a Transnational Space in the First Year Writing Classroom W. Ordeman, 2021-05-04 During the first twenty years of the new millennium many scholars turned their attention to translanguaging an idea that focuses on the merging of language in distinct social and spatial contexts to serve unique mutually constitutive and temporal purposes This volume joins the more recent shift in pedagogical studies towards an altogether distinct phenomenon transnationalism By developing a framework for transnational pedagogical practice this volume demonstrates the exclusive opportunities afforded to freshmen writers who write in transnational spaces that act as points of fusion for several cultural lingual and national identities With reference to recent works on translingualism and transnationalism this volume is an attempt to conceptualize effective writing pedagogy in freshman writing courses which are becoming more and more transnational It also provides educators and first year writing administrators with practical pedagogical tools to help them use their transnational spaces as a means of achieving their desired learning outcomes as well as teaching students threshold concepts of composition studies This volume will be particularly useful for first year writing faculty at colleges and universities as well as writing program administrators to create a more effective curriculum that addresses these needs in classroom settings All scholars with a doctorate in Rhetoric and Composition English as a Second Language Translation Studies to name a few will also find this a valuable resource

El-Hi Textbooks & Serials in Print, 2000 ,2000 Rethinking Basic Writing Laura Gray-Rosendale,1999-12 This book surveys the history of basic writing scholarship suggesting that we cannot adequately theorize the situations of basic writers unless we examine how they construct their own conceptions of their identities their constructions of their relationships to social forces and their representations of their relationships to written work Using a cross disciplinary analytic model Gray Rosendale offers a detailed examination of the oral conversations that take place within one basic writing peer revision group She explains the ways in which the students own conversational structures impact and shape their written products Gray Rosendale then draws out the potentials of her work for basic writing administrators curricula builders and teachers
