

The book cover features a collage of various illustrations related to evolution and biology. At the top left is a white animal head with large ears. Next to it is a close-up of a cat's face with orange eyes. To the right is a blue fish. Below the cat is a lizard. To the right of the lizard is a green frog. In the center, a large, detailed illustration of a T-Rex head is prominent. To the left of the T-Rex is a small, pink, rodent-like creature. Below the T-Rex is a black silhouette of a running hominid. To the right of the T-Rex is a white, coiled object resembling a shell or a fossil. At the bottom left is a white skeleton of a bipedal animal. To its right is a pink, worm-like creature. At the bottom right is a brown, four-legged animal. On the far right, a vertical red strip contains a white skeleton of a long, thin, bipedal creature. The background of the cover is a dark, starry space with a small blue planet visible on the left side.

In the Beginning: World History from Human

Evolution to the First States Lauren Ristvet,2007-01-09 This engaging and accessible volume draws on the most recent historical archeological scholarship to tell the stories of human evolution gathering and hunting societies and the distinct breakthroughs that led to the emergence of the earliest cities states and civilizations Highlighting both the separate paths and the intersecting journeys of diverse human communities In the Beginning provides the essential but often neglected foundation on which all subsequent historical development was constructed

Human Evolution P. J. Andrews,C. B.

Stringer,1989-09-29 The development of our ancestors is traced by fossil evidence of various ancestral groups in a survey that expands from man s earliest beginnings through the emergence of modern humans

A Story of Us Lesley

Newson,Peter J. Richerson,2021 Changes in the environment drive evolution and evidence suggests that our ancestors evolved to use cultural adaptations to survive environmental fluctuations of great severity In A Story of Us Lesley Newson and Peter Richerson explain the evidence and ideas that provide an account of how they coped using short descriptive stories to illustrate life at different stages of our evolutionary history

Stone Tools in Human Evolution John J. Shea,2017 An exploration of how the evolution of behavioral differences between humans and other primates affected the archaeological stone tool evidence

Human Evolution Robin Dunbar,2014-05-01 What makes us human How did we develop language thought and culture Why did we survive and other human species fail The past 12 000 years represent the only time in the sweep of human history when there has been only one human species How did this extraordinary proliferation of species come about and then go extinct And why did we emerge such intellectual giants The tale of our origins has inevitably been told through the stones and bones of the archaeological record yet Robin Dunbar shows it was our social and cognitive changes rather than our physical development which truly made us distinct from other species

The Human Story Charles

Lockwood,2008 Anthropology professor Charles Lockwood tells the amazing story of human evolution in a concise and compelling introduction to all our ancestors and extinct relatives He draws on the explosion of discoveries made over the past 20 years to demystify the fascinating cast of characters who hold the secret to our origins and describes the main sites individual fossils key scientific breakthroughs and latest research that have fed our knowledge With the help of a rich assortment of photographs reconstructions and maps Lockwood takes us from the earliest hominins who date back six or seven million years ago to contemporary homo sapiens providing the basic facts about each species what it looked like what it ate how and when it lives and how we know this information Created in association with London s Natural History Museum this is a truly readable up to date well illustrated and user friendly summary of the evidence as it stands today

A Pocket

History of Human Evolution Silvana Condemi,François Savatier,2019-11-01 Why aren t we more like other apes How did we win the evolutionary race Find out how wise Homo sapiens really are Prehistory has never been more exciting New discoveries are overturning long held theories left and right Stone tools in Australia date back 65 000 years a time when we once thought the first Sapiens had barely left Africa DNA sequencing has unearthed a new hominid group the Denisovans and confirmed that crossbreeding with them and Neanderthals made Homo sapiens who we are today A Pocket History of Human Evolution brings us up to date on the exploits of all our ancient relatives Paleoanthropologist Silvana Condemi and science journalist Francois Savatier consider what accelerated our evolution Was it tools our large brains language empathy or something else entirely And why are we the sole survivors among many early bipedal humans Their conclusions reveal the various ways ancient humans live on today from gossip as modern grooming to our gendered division of labor and what the future might hold for our strange and unique species

The World from Beginnings to 4000 BCE Ian Tattersall, 2008-02 In this lively and readable introduction renowned anthropologist Ian Tattersall thoroughly examines both fossil and archaeological records to trace human evolution from the earliest beginnings of our zoological family Hominidae through the appearance of Homo sapiens to the Agricultural Revolution

Kinship and Human Evolution Steen Bergendorff, 2016-03-07 Kinship and Human Evolution Making Culture Becoming Human offers an exciting new explanation of human evolution Based on insights from anthropology it shows how humans became cultured beings capable of symbolic thought by developing kinship based exchange relationships Kinship was as an adaptive response to the harsh environment caused by the last major ice age In the extreme ice age conditions natural selection favored those groups that could forge and sustain such alliances and the resulting relationships enabled them to share different food resources between groups Kinship was a means of symbolically linking two or more groups to the mutual reproductive advantage of both From an evolutionary point of view kinship freed humans from their dependence on their immediate environment vastly expanding the niches they could occupy If we take kinship to be the major factor in human evolution networks and alliances must precede cultural units becoming the defining element of localized cultures Kinship and Human Evolution argues that it is living in networks that produces cultural differences and not culturally different groups that encounter one another it shows that kinship both saved and created humanity as we know it in all its cultural diversity

The Skull in the Rock Marc Aronson, Lee R. Berger, 2012 Chronicles the story behind one of the most significant archaeological discoveries of all time explaining its significance for understanding human evolution and how it is shaping the thinking of the scientific community

Wakan Tanka John Bennett, 2021-02-25 Where did we come from Why are we here Is there a god In our modern world many people yearn for answers to these most fundamental of life's questions having become disillusioned with trite explanations and troubled by narratives that deny their intuitive spirituality Beginning with some of our most ancient ancestors Wakan Tanka traces the evolution of humanity through the ages Citing paleontological and archaeological discoveries along with recent genetic evidence it recounts how mankind evolved from the earliest mammals into anatomically and behaviourally modern humans Wakan Tanka describes how human culture and spirituality evolved in concert with anatomy Showing how humankind has since very ancient times had an instinctual moral sense it discusses how our spirituality has given us an appreciation for both the aesthetic and divine aspects of life as reflected in our cultures and artistic endeavours By comparing philosophical and religious views of creation with modern scientific theory Wakan Tanka reaches the conclusion that rather than conflicting these views are remarkably similar and equally valid ways of describing the same reality Indeed our scientific knowledge and spiritual beliefs can be harmonized providing us with a deeper understanding of ourselves of creation and of life s purpose
