American Pacificism Paul Lyons, 2006-09-27 This provocative analysis and critique of American representations of Oceania and Oceanians from the nineteenth century to the present argues that imperial fantasies have glossed over a complex violent history It introduces the concept of American Pacificism a theoretical framework that draws on contemporary theories of friendship hospitality and tourism to refigure established debates around orientalism for an Oceanian context Paul Lyons explores American Islander relations and traces the ways in which two fundamental conceptions of Oceania have been entwined in the American imagination On the one hand the Pacific islands are seen as economic and geopolitical stepping stones rather than ends in themselves whilst on the other they are viewed as ends of the earth or cultural limits unencumbered by notions of sin antitheses to the industrial worlds of economic and political modernity However both conceptions obscure not only Islander cultures but also innovative responses to incursion The islands instead emerge in relation to American national identity as places for scientific discovery soul saving and civilizing missions manhood testing adventure nuclear testing and eroticized furloughs between maritime work and warfare Ranging from first contact and the colonial archive through to postcolonialism and global tourism this thought provoking volume draws upon a wide rewarding collection of literary works historical and cultural scholarship government documents and tourist literature

American Studies as Transnational Practice Yuan Shu, Donald E. Pease, 2015-12-22 This wide ranging collection brings together an eclectic group of scholars to reflect upon the transnational configurations of the field of American studies and how these have affected its localizations epistemological perspectives ecological imaginaries and politics of translation The volume elaborates on the causes of the transnational paradigm shift in American studies and describes the material changes that this new paradigm has effected during the past two decades The contributors hail from a variety of postcolonial transoceanic hemispheric and post national positions and sensibilities enabling them to theorize a crossroads of cultures explanation of transnational American studies that moves beyond the multicultural studies model Offering a rich and rewarding mix of essays and case studies this collection will satisfy a broad range of students and scholars

Oceanic Becoming Rob Wilson, 2025-02-14 From disappearing coral reefs and ocean acidification to floating great garbage patches the Pacific Ocean is an ever present reminder of the Anthropocene In Oceanic Becoming Rob Wilson demonstrates that in the midst of the planetary crises the Pacific now faces it must be understood as interconnected to the other oceans Wilson frames this interconnection as Oceania reconceiving the world oceans as tied to sites of urban dwelling and life sustenance from Boston to Brisbane that are increasingly threatened by late capitalism Confronting these threats Wilson argues requires a project he theorizes as worlding a process of world making and world remaking across Oceania that would create new forms of belonging and connection at local regional and transnational levels Wilson shows how Oceania is not just a site of peril but one charged with emergent literary and social formations that can provide the basis for new solidarities futures and ecologies

Pacific Islands Writing Michelle Keown, 2007 Beginning with an overview of European representations of the Pacific Michelle Keown presents a broad ranging introduction to the postcolonial literatures of the Pacific from the late 1960s through to the new millennium focusing mainly on writing in English but also exploring the growing corpus of francophone and hispanophone Pacific writing

Westlake Wayne Kaumualii Westlake, 2009-01-07 In an all too brief life and literary career Wayne Kaumualii Westlake 1947 1984 produced a substantial body of poetry He broke new ground as a poet translated Taoist classical literature and Japanese haiku interwove perspectives from his Hawaiian heritage into his writing and art and published his work locally regionally and internationally Westlake was born on Maui and raised on the island of Oahu where he attended Punahou School and later the University of Oregon He earned his B A in Chinese studies at the University of Hawaii At the time of his tragic death in 1984 Westlake was at the height of his poetic career Unfortunately the only collection of his poems available at the time was a 32 page limited edition chapbook independently published by a small press The present volume long overdue includes nearly two hundred of Westlake's poems most unavailable to the public or never before published
