Frontier Of Fear:

Frontier of Fear Michael Hartland, 1986 Frontiers of Historical Imagination Kerwin Lee Klein, 2023-11-15 The American frontier a potent symbol since Europeans first stepped ashore on North America serves as the touchstone for Kerwin Klein's analysis of the narrating of history Klein explores the traditions through which historians philosophers anthropologists and literary critics have understood the story of America's origin and the way those understandings have shaped and been shaped by changing conceptions of history The American West was once the frontier space where migrating Europe collided with Native America where the historical civilizations of the Old World met the nonhistorical wilds of the New It was not only the cultural combat zone where American democracy was forged but also the ragged edge of History itself where historical and nonhistorical defied and defined each other Klein maintains that the idea of a collision between people with and without history still dominates public memory But the collision he believes resounds even more powerfully in the historical imagination which creates conflicts between narration and knowledge and carries them into the language used to describe the American frontier In Klein's words We remain obscurely entangled in philosophies of history we no longer profess and the very idea of America balances on history's shifting frontiers The American frontier a potent symbol since Europeans first stepped ashore on North America serves as the touchstone for Kerwin Klein's analysis of the narrating of history Klein explores the traditions through which historians philosophers anthropol Can Psychedelic Therapies open a New Frontier in Mental Healthcare \(Or Will the Bubble Burst?\) Antonio Metastasio, Graham Campbell, Renee Harvey, Peter Schuyler Hendricks, Joanna Caroline Neill, Katrin H. Matsinhe,2016-05-23 Apartheid vertigo the dizzying sensation following prolonged oppression and delusions of skin colour is the focus of this book For centuries the colour code shaped state and national ideals created social and emotional distances between social groups permeated public and private spheres and dehumanized Africans of all nationalities in South Africa Two decades after the demise of official apartheid despite four successive black governments apartheid vertigo still distorts South Africa s postcolonial reality The colour code endures but now in postcolonial masks Political freedom notwithstanding vast sections of the black citizenry have adopted and adapted the code to fit the new reality This vertiginous reality is manifest in the neo apartheid ideology of Makwerekwere the postcolonial colour code mobilized to distinguish black outsiders from black insiders Apartheid vertigo ranges from negative sentiments to outright violence against black outsiders including insults humiliations extortions searches arrests detentions deportations tortures rapes beatings and killings Ironically the victims are not only the outsiders against whom the code is mobilized but also the insiders who mobilize it Drawing on evidence from interviews observation press articles reports research monographs and history this book unravels the synergies of history migration nationalism black group relations and violence in South Africa deconstructing the idea of visible differences between black nationals and black foreign nationals The book demonstrates that in South Africa violence always lurks on the surface of everyday life with the potential to burst through the fragile limits set upon it and possibly escalate to ethnic cleansing Frontier of Fear Michael Hartland,1992 Instructed to have an affair with Dr Nazim Khan a nuclear energy attache at the Pakistani Embassy in Vienna British Agent Sarah Cable becomes involved in her country s attempt to blackmail Khan into revealing his country s nuclear weapons capability Curriculum and the Problem of Violence James P. Burns,2023-12-20 This book is a genealogical inquiry into the present problem of violence in the United States and internationally through the lens of curriculum theory It explores a constellation of problems including war authoritarianism post truth social disparities and increasingly onerous surveillance technologies Arguing that the current problem of violence is neither new nor aberrant the author historicises the conditions of possibility that have produced the violence that presently confronts our world Seemingly disparate issues such as ethnonationalism authoritarian populism Christian nationalism neoliberalism the proliferation of sophisticated surveillance technologies and military Keynesianism are traced to historical features such as Ur Fascism white supremacy corporate capitalism religious extremism propaganda and public relations institutional power and the biopolitical death function endemic in modern societies Through a sweeping powerful and in depth analysis of violence in its genealogical trajectories in global setting it promises to re examine curriculum in a different light and open up new possibilities As such the book is an important curriculum study which supports curricular ethics as articulated by Bill Pinar such as the situation of the self socially and historically the reconstruction of one s understanding of the self and the world and the potential reconstruction of the social world as more peaceful and just Significantly the book contributes to a retheorisation of Foucault s biopolitics as affirmative biopower imbued with ethics of truth seeking as a technology of the self It will appeal to scholars and students of curriculum studies with interests in curriculum theory authoritarianism non violence studies justice studies ethnonationalism and technologies of the self
