Hebrews From Biblical Text To Contemporary Life:

The Hebrew Bible in Contemporary Fiction and Poetry Lena-Sofia Tiemeyer, 2025-03-31 This book discusses 20th and 21st centuries literary retellings of biblical texts focusing on how fiction and poetry fill the extant narrative gaps present in the often sparse biblical accounts and align the narratives with theological and or cultural expectations of modern interpreting communities The chapters written by an international group of scholars explore biblical retellings in a variety of modern languages ranging from Korean and Chinese to Hebrew and Arabic Most of the contributions deal with retellings of the narrative books Genesis Exodus Judges Ruth 1 2 Samuel Daniel but a few are devoted to prophetic Hosea and poetic Psalms ones Another set of articles looks beyond specific biblical books and instead analyses how the Bible has been retold in different literary genres Children and YA literature sci fi and fantasy Christian Inspiration fiction and in modern political discourse North and South Korea All the chapters further highlight how literary retellings of the Bible form two way movements They reveal the often subversive quality of literary retellings retellings not only emphasise those nuances in the biblical texts that create unease but also problematise their standpoint and question their moral and theological message The Hebrew Bible in Contemporary Fiction and Poetry is suitable for students and scholars of biblical studies working on intertextuality and reception history It is also of interest to those working on comparative literature particularly with regards to the Hebrew Bible in popular culture and literature

The Black Church Studies Reader Alton B. Pollard, Carol B. Duncan, 2016-04-29 The Black Church Studies Reader addresses the depth and breadth of Black theological studies from Biblical studies and ethics to homiletics and pastoral care The book examines salient themes of social and religious significance such as gender sexuality race social class health care and public policy While the volume centers around African American experiences and studies it also attends to broader African continental and Diasporan religious contexts The contributors reflect an interdisciplinary blend of Black Church Studies scholars and practitioners from across the country The text seeks to address the following fundamental questions What constitutes Black Church Studies as a discipline or field of study What is the significance of Black Church Studies for theological education What is the relationship between Black Church Studies and the broader academic study of Black religions What is the relationship between Black Church Studies and local congregations as well as other faith based entities The book s search for the answers to these questions is compelling and illuminating For Us, but Not to Us Adam E. Miglio, Caryn A. Reeder, Joshua T. Walton, Kenneth C. Way, 2020-10-02 John H Walton is a significant voice in Old Testament studies who has influenced many scholars in this field as well as others This volume is an acknowledgment from his students of Walton s role as a teacher scholar and mentor Each essay is offered by scholars and former students working in a range of fields from Old and New Testament studies to archaeology and theology They are offered as a testimony and tribute to Walton s prolific career The Death Wish in the Hebrew Bible Hanne Løland

Levinson, 2021-09-23 This is the first book to systematically investigate the texts in the Hebrew Bible in which a character expresses a wish to die Contrary to previous scholarship on these texts that assumed these death wishes were simply a desire to escape suffering Hanne L land Levinson employs narrative criticism and conversation analysis together with diachronic methods to carefully hear each death wish text in its literary context She demonstrates that death wishes embody powerful multi faceted rhetorical strategies Grouping the death wish texts into four main rhetorical strategies of negotiation expression of despair and anger longing to undo one s existence and wishing for a different reality L land Levinson portrays the complex reasons why characters in the Hebrew Bible wish for death She concludes that the death wishes navigate the tension between longing for death and fighting for survival a tension that many live with also today as they attempt to claim agency and autonomy in life Genesis 1 as Ancient Cosmology John H. Walton, 2011-06-30 The ancient Near Eastern mode of thought is not at all intuitive to us moderns but our understanding of ancient perspectives can only approach accuracy when we begin to penetrate ancient texts on their own terms rather than imposing our own world view In this task we are aided by the ever growing corpus of literature that is being recovered and analyzed After an introduction that presents some of the history of comparative studies and how it has been applied to the study of ancient texts in general and cosmology in particular Walton focuses in the first half of this book on the ancient Near Eastern texts that inform our understanding about ancient ways of thinking about cosmology Of primary interest are the texts that can help us discern the parameters of ancient perspectives on cosmic ontology that is how the writers perceived origins Texts from across the ancient Near East are presented including primarily Egyptian Sumerian and Akkadian texts but occasionally also Ugaritic and Hittite as appropriate Walton s intention first of all is to understand the texts but also to demonstrate that a functional ontology pervaded the cognitive environment of the ancient Near East This functional ontology involves more than just the idea that ordering the cosmos was the focus of the cosmological texts He posits that in the ancient world bringing about

order and functionality was the very essence of creative activity He also pays close attention to the ancient ideology of temples to show the close connection between temples and the functioning cosmos The second half of the book is devoted to a fresh analysis of Genesis 1 1 2 4 Walton offers studies of significant Hebrew terms and seeks to show that the Israelite texts evidence a functional ontology and a cosmology that is constructed with temple ideology in mind as in the rest of the ancient Near East He contends that Genesis 1 never was an account of material origins but that as in the rest of the ancient world the focus of creation texts was to order the cosmos by initiating functions for the components of the cosmos He further contends that the cosmology of Genesis 1 is founded on the premise that the cosmos should be understood in temple terms All of this is intended to demonstrate that when we read Genesis 1 as the ancient document it is rather than trying to read it in light of our own world view the text comes to life in ways that help recover the energy it had in its original context At the same time it provides a new perspective on Genesis 1 in relation to what have long been controversial issues Far from being a borrowed text Genesis 1 offers a unique theology even while it speaks from the platform of its contemporaneous cognitive environment

Appealing to God or Man Nicholas J. Campbell, 2025-03-31 Appealing to God or Man Contrasting Barrenness and Family Death Narratives in the Hebrew Bible and Ancient Near East argues for a reevaluation of barrenness type scenes in the Hebrew Bible and ancient Near East More specifically the argument is for a distinction women in family death narratives appeal to men while women in barrenness narratives appeal to God Even the male centric epics of the ancient Near East show that women interact with the divine more during barrenness crises e g the wife's prophetic dream in the Etana myth than during family death crises e g male divine narratives in Kirta and Aqhat This distinction not only clarifies the narrative tropes but emphasizes the role of women in these crises and intersects with discussions of household roles in the ancient Near East Male and female roles in marriage and fertility drive the responses of characters in these idealized narrative worlds especially in family death and barrenness narratives
