Handbook of Psychotherapies with Children and Families Sandra W. Russ, Thomas H. Ollendick, 2013-11-11 The aim of this book on psychotherapies with children and families is to present a comprehensive overview of the current array of intervention approaches in the child mental health field There is a focus on the integration of theory research and practice throughout the book The book proceeds from the more global presentations of basic theoretical approaches to applications of these approaches with specific problems and populations It then presents more integrated intervention approaches and overviews of the research literature One of the unique features of this book is its focus on future directions for each approach both in clinical practice and in research A second unique feature is its structured format across diverse approaches with a focus on empirical validation of approaches Another innovation is the presentation of interventions that integrate major components of different theoretical approaches Thus the book reflects the current trends in the field of interventions with specific problems and populations empirical validation of the approach and the integration of treatment approaches There are five major sections in this book Part I consists of four chapters that address a variety of issues related to child psychotherapy Chapter 1 by the editors examines the historical roots of child psychotherapy and explores current trends in the treatment of diverse child disorders It emphasizes the movement to treatments that work and sets the stage for the chapters that follow

Parents as Educators Keith J. Topping, 2025-08-05 Modern practice in the 1980s was to involve parents increasingly in the education of their children and was supported by legislation Particularly when children had special needs parents required structured training and support to ensure they affectively sustained their vital role as educators at home Many large scale programmes to provide this had been developed throughout the world at the time for example Home Start Portage Home Visiting Projects and Paired Reading Projects However not all of these had been thoroughly evaluated and the existing literature was scattered and difficult to access Some projects demonstrated spectacular results and high cost effectiveness while others proved more disappointing Originally published in 1986 this book critically analyses over 600 international English language research reports on the effectiveness of parent training programmes In addition a detailed guide to the practicalities of planning projects is provided together with a comprehensive directory of useful resource materials After an introductory overview the evidence on the effects on child progress of parental involvement in school activities is reviewed as is research on the impact of schemes of regular structured communication between home and school Programmes designed to train parents to accelerate the development of their
