Who Will Throw the Ball? Ida H. Love Ph.D.,2015-11-06 School leadership is the difference maker in achieving high expectations for all students by involving all staff parents community and business partnerships Everyone employed in the school has an important role in promoting high student achievement The principal is the leader and is ultimately responsible for everything but does not need to do or know everything Organization early learning professional learning implementation follow up and feedback are critical components in building an effective school. The principal needs a strong leadership team and a very smart dependable and knowledgeable secretary administrative assistant to give leadership to the front office. Any principal without anyone other than the best in this position has a setup for failure because the major part of the job is in the classroom for the leader and not the office. Early learning is the foundation for all future learning and beginning in pre k and kindergarten educators can set the tone for student success. All children can learn to read by the end of kindergarten by utilizing the services of paraprofessionals who have received professional learning skills to reinforce instruction previously taught by the teacher. Why do we have some students in middle and high schools who can't read? The answer is obvious: the foundation was not set in the early years. Try building a house without a foundation and you will find yourself spending twice the amount of time and money doing what should have been done in the first place. Many times when students have not been adequately prepared to enter secondary schools they no longer have the will and motivation to learn and this is tragic because dropout is usually the only option. Students need social emotional and other developmental skills in the early years but it is time to emphasize instructional skills also starting with writing reading listening to daily storytelling and daily high frequency words. We can't afford to continue moving students from grade to grade and they cannot read.

School Family and Community Partnerships: Preparing Educators and Improving Schools addresses a fundamental question in education today: How will colleges and universities prepare future teachers, administrators, counselors and other education professionals to conduct effective programs of family and community involvement that contribute to students' success in school? The work of Joyce L. Epstein has advanced theories, research, policies and practices of family and community involvement in elementary, middle and high schools, districts and states nationwide. In this second edition she shows that there are new and better ways to organize programs of family and community involvement as essential components of district leadership and school improvement. THE SECOND EDITION OFFERS EDUCATORS AND RESEARCHERS A framework for helping rising educators to develop comprehensive goal-linked programs of school, family and community partnerships. A clear discussion of the theory of overlapping spheres of influence which asserts that schools, families and communities share responsibility for student success in school. A historic overview and exploration of research on the nature and effects of parent involvement. Methods for applying the theory, framework and research on partnerships in college course assignments, class discussions, projects and activities and field experiences. Examples that show how research-based approaches improve policies on partnerships, district leadership and school programs of family and community involvement. Definitive and engaging.
