Heavy Water Poem For Chernobyl:

Heavy Water Mario Petrucci, 2004 This book length poem pays tribute to the courage and humour displayed in suffering by the people of Chernobyl following the events of April 1986 Each segment paints an intimate picture some elements of everyday life remain unchanged others are profoundly altered The collection s recurring motifs of black and white signal how all are silenced reduced to anonymity which in turn engenders fierce solidarity Meanwhile men and machines toil side by side to tackle the insurmountable Petrucci s use of scientific and medical terminology makes his descriptions chillingly precise In contrast we hear from a deeply personal angle the simply expressed accounts of real people who struggle to cope with the enormity of the disaster These poems are at once deeply shocking yet pervaded by an uplifting beauty Throughout the collection emphasis is placed on the importance of human dignity and compassion on the simple persistence of nature in the context of unspeakable destruction Heavy Water: A Film for Chernobyl , 2006 Phil Grabsky uses Mario Petrucci s award winning poem Heavy Water to tell the story of the Chernobyl nuclear explosion and its catastrophic aftermath

POSTHUMAN SPACE IN MARIO PETRUCCI AND ALICE OSWALD'S POETRY Seçil ERKOÇ IQBAL, 2025-09-01 Drawing on recent posthumanist theories that promote a non anthropocentric perspective this study examines the works of contemporary British poets Mario Petrucci and Alice Oswald It is argued that their poetry can be described as posthuman poetry which envisions posthuman spaces of becoming where human and nonhuman worlds coexist on a non hierarchical basis Petrucci s engagement with ecocritical crises in the Anthropocene underscores the limits of human agency and it foregrounds destructive impact of human actions on the ecosystem In a posthuman context therefore Petrucci problematises the human nonhuman binary by representing the erosion of the anthropocentric worldview in the face of environmental crises such as deforestation global warming and the Chernobyl nuclear disaster in Bosco 1999 Heavy Water A Poem for Chernobyl 2004 and Half Life Poems for Chernobyl 2004 In these collections challenging the perception of nonhuman matter as passive Petrucci emphasises the agency of trees and radioactive particles Similarly Alice Oswald moves the reader beyond the human centred treatment of the natural world Rejecting human exceptionalism Oswald s Dart 2002 presents a polyphonic meshwork where the voices of alternating human speakers and the River Dart interweave within a posthuman space Representing the intersubjective and dialogic exchanges between the human and nonhuman inhabitants of the Severn Estuary and the lunar cycle Oswald s A Sleepwalk on the Severn 2009 further problematises the subject object binary by creating a posthuman space of becoming grounded in a communicative framework Hence bringing Petrucci and Oswald together this study draws attention to trans corporeal and polyphonic entanglements of human nonhuman subject object and self other non binaries and it aims to show how poetry as a literary medium can contribute to questioning and transforming the anthropocentric vision of humankind in the contemporary world Ecology and Literatures in English Françoise Besson, 2018-12-14 In all latitudes writers hold out a mirror leading the reader to awareness by telling real or imaginary stories about people of good will who try to save what can be saved and about animals showing humans the way to follow. Such tales argue that in spite of all destructions and tragedies if we are just aware of and connected to the real world around us to the blade of grass at our feet and the star above our heads there is hope in a reconciliation with the Earth. This may start with the emergence or rather the return of a nonverbal language restoring the connection between human beings and the nonhuman world through a form of communication beyond verbalization. Through a journey in Anglophone literature with examples taken from Aboriginal, African American, English Canadian and Indian works this book shows the role played by literature in the protection of the planet. It argues that literature reveals the fundamental idea that everything is connected and that it is only when most people are aware of this connection that the world will change. Exactly as a tree is connected with all the animal life in and around it, texts show that nothing should be separated. From Shakespeare's theatre to ecopoetics, from travel writing to detective novels, from children's books to novels, all literary genres show that literature responds to the violence destroying lands, men and nonhuman creatures whose voices can be heard through texts. The Portable Poetry Workshop Nigel McLoughlin, 2017-09-16. This book explores the art of poetry writing from a practice-based perspective showing how form, trope and theory inform the practical craft of writing poems. It is divided into three key sections: Form and structure covering sonnets, ballads, blank verse and more; Trope and device introducing topics such as irony, imagery and voice; Poetics and practice which discusses the writing of poets such as Robert Frost, Amy Lowell and Frank O'Hara. Each chapter unpacks a particular concept or form using examples to display it in practice. The book is filled with exercises to get you writing and hints and tips for effective re-writing and for avoiding common pitfalls. Written by published poets many of whom teach writing or literature, The Portable Poetry Workshop will push you to explore beyond your creative writing boundaries.

A Rhetoric of Ruins Andrew F. Wood, 2021-09-20. A Rhetoric of Ruins contributes to an interdisciplinary conversation about the role of wrecked and abandoned places in modern life. Topics in this book stretch from retro and post-human futures to a Jeremiadic analysis of the role of ruins in American presidential discourse. From that foundation A Rhetoric of Ruins employs hauntology to visit a California ghost town, psychogeography to confront Detroit ruins, heterochrony to survey Pennsylvania's once and future Graffiti Highway, an expanded articulation of heterotopia to explore the pleasurable contamination of Chernobyl and an evening in Turkmenistan's Doorway to Hell that stretches across time from Homer's Iliad to Little Richard's Long Tall Sally. Written to engage scholars and students of communication studies, cultural geography, anthropology, landscape studies, performance studies, public memory, urban studies and tourism studies, A Rhetoric of Ruins is a conceptually rich and vividly written account of how broken and derelict places help us manage our fears in the modern era.

Creativity in Language and Literature Joan Swann, Robert Pope, Ronald Carter, 2017-09-16. Creativity in Language and Literature is a provocative and valuable book. Its breadth of topics, variety of approaches and self-consciously creative and dialogic nature are especially appropriate and creative ways of approaching the subject of creativity.
