Critical wisdom has it that we said a long goodbye to film noir in the 1950s Robert Miklitsch begs to differ Pursuing leads down the back streets and alleyways of cultural history The Red and the Black proposes that the received rise and fall narrative about the genre radically undervalues the formal and thematic complexity of 50s noir and the dynamic segue it effected between the spectacular expressionism of 40s noir and early modernist neo noir Mixing scholarship with a fan s devotion to the crooked roads of critique Miklitsch autopsies marquee films like D O A Niagara and Kiss Me Deadly plus a number of lesser known classics Throughout he addresses the social and technological factors that dealt deuce after deuce to the genre its celebrated style threatened by new media and technologies such as TV and 3 D color and widescreen its born losers replaced like zombies by All American heroes the nation rocked by the red menace and nightmares of nuclear annihilation But against all odds the author argues inventive filmmakers continued to make formally daring and socially compelling pictures that remain surprisingly startlingly alive Cutting edge and entertaining The Red and the Black reconsiders a lost period in the history of American movies The ^AOxford Companion to American Theatre Gerald

Posthuman Buddhism and the Digital Self Les Roberts, 2023-09-20 In Posthuman Buddhism and the Digital Self Les Roberts extends his earlier work on spatial anthropology to consider questions of time spaciousness and the phenomenology of self Across the book's four main chapters which range from David Bowie's long standing interest in Buddhism to street photography of 1980s Liverpool to the ambient soundscapes of Derek Jarman's Blue or to the slow contemplative cinema of Tsai Ming Liang Roberts lays the groundwork for the concept of dwellspace as a means by which to unpick the shifting spatial temporal and experiential modalities of everyday mediascapes Understood as a particular disposition towards time Roberts's foray into dwellspace proceeds from a Pascalian reflection on the self non self in which being content in an empty room vies with the demands of having content in an empty room Taking the idea of posthuman Buddhism as a heuristic lens Roberts sets in motion a number of interrelated lines of enquiry that prompt renewed focus on questions of boredom distraction and reverie and cast into sharper relief the psychosocial and creative affordances of ambience spaciousness and slowness The book argues that the colonisation of empty time by 24/7 digital capitalism has gone hand in hand with the growth of the corporate mindfulness industry and with it the co-option commodification and digitisation of dwellspace Posthuman Buddhism is thus in part an exploration of the dialectics of dwellspace that orbits around a creative self praxis rooted in the negation and dissolution of the self one of the foundational cornerstones of Buddhist theory and practice
