Districts, Documentation, and Population in Rupert's Land (1740-1840) Aaron James Henry, 2019-11-05 This book interrogates how districts were used in British North America to inspect and document indigenous people by the Hudson's Bay Company HBC. In particular it examines how the HBC utilized districts to create a political geography that allowed for closer surveillance of indigenous people and stabilized debt. An initial examination of how the district was used to rework earlier 18th century conducts of observation into the more ordered and spatially limited regime of inspection is undertaken followed by an investigation of how the district became central to the HBC's efforts to limit the movement of indigenous people, individualize hunters and spur industriousness. The book points to how districts became key to a number of colonial projects laying the infrastructure for the modern reserve system in Canada. In this sense the book provides a critical genealogy of how the command of space and social vision shaped Canada's colonial geography.

Birds of Nunavut James M. Richards, Anthony J. Gaston, 2018-08-15 Nunavut is a land of islands encompassing some of the most remote places on Earth. It is also home to some of the world's most fascinating bird species. The windswept tundra, rocky shorelines and icy waters of this thinly populated land are integral to the survival of numerous breeding and non-breeding birds including the colourful King Eider, the stately Snowy Owl, the spritely Snow Bunting and the globe spanning Northern Wheatear. Birds of Nunavut is the first complete survey of every species known to occur in the territory. It is co-written by a team of eighteen experts who have conducted a combined total of 300 seasons of fieldwork in Nunavut. They document 295 species of birds of which 145 are known to breed in the territory, presenting a wealth of information on identification, distribution, ecology, behaviour and conservation. Lavishly illustrated with over 800 colour photographs and 155 maps, it is a visually stunning reference work on the birds that live in and visit Nunavut.

Spaces of Global Knowledge Diarmid A. Finnegan, Jonathan Jeffrey Wright, 2016-03-09 Global knowledge was constructed, communicated and contested during the long nineteenth century in numerous ways and places. This book focuses on the life geographies, material practices and varied contributions to knowledge by medical or botanical, cartographic or cultural actors whose lives crisscrossed an increasingly connected world. Integrating detailed archival research with broader thematic and conceptual reflection, the individual case studies use local specificity to shed light on global structures and processes, revealing the latter to be lived and experienced phenomena rather than abstract historiographical categories. This volume makes an original and compelling contribution to a growing body of scholarship on the global history of knowledge. Given its wide geographic disciplinary and thematic range, this book will appeal to a broad readership including historical geographers and specialists in history of science and medicine, imperial history, museum studies and book history.

Gifts from the Thunder Beings Roland Bohr, 2014-05-01 Gifts from the Thunder Beings examines North American Aboriginal peoples' use of Indigenous and European distance weapons in big game hunting and combat. Beyond the capabilities of European weapons, Aboriginal peoples' ways of adapting and using this technology in combination with Indigenous weaponry contributed greatly to the impact these weapons had on Aboriginal cultures. This gradual transition took place from the beginning of the fur trade in the Hudson's Bay Company trading territory to the treaty and reserve period that began in Canada in the 1870s. Technological change and the effects of European contact were not uniform throughout North America as Roland Bohr illustrates by comparing the northern Great Plains and the Central Subarctic, two adjacent but environmentally different regions of North America and their respective Indigenous cultures. Beginning with a brief survey of the subarctic and Northern Plains environments and the most common subsistence strategies in these regions around the time of contact, Bohr provides the context for a detailed examination of social, spiritual, and cultural aspects of bows, arrows, quivers, and firearms. His detailed analysis of the shifting usage of bows and arrows and firearms in the northern Great Plains and the Central Subarctic makes Gifts from the Thunder Beings an important addition to the canon of North American ethnology.

Collecting the World James Delbourgo, 2017-07-31 Winner of the Leo Gershoy Award Winner of the Louis Gottschalk Prize A Times Book of the Week A Guardian Book of the Week A wonderfully intelligent book Linda Colley A superb biography humane, judicious, and as passionately curious as Sloane himself Times Literary Supplement When the British Museum opened its doors in 1759 it was the first free national public museum in the world. Collecting the World tells the story of the eccentric collector whose thirst for universal knowledge brought it into being. A man of insatiable curiosity and wide-ranging interests, Hans Sloane assembled a collection of antiquities, oddities, and artifacts from around the British Empire. It became the most famous cabinet of curiosities of its time. With few curbs on his passion, he established a network of agents to supply him with objects from China, India, the Caribbean, and beyond: Wampum beads, rare manuscripts, a shoe made of human skin, nothing was off-limits, regardless of its human cost. The first biography of Sloane based on his complete writings, Collecting the World portrays one of the Enlightenment's most original and controversial luminaries. Engrossing, it situates Sloane within the welter of intellectual and political crosscurrents that marked his times. New York Times Book Review A magnificent scholarly coup and an enthralling read. It conveys the excitement of original research as well as the thrill of tracking exotic curiosities to their source. Sunday Times This book is a fitting tribute to Sloane's contradiction-riven life. Collecting the World is about the torment of slavery and it's about buttered muffins and about snakes shot on boats. It teaches us about how we know how we organize and discipline our knowledge. New Republic
