Eileens Story An Inspirational Story Of How One Woman Overcame Terminal Cancer:

Eileen's Story Rosamond Richardson,1997 In a direct and simple first person style that reverberates with the honesty of her experience Rosamond Richardson describes the often insensitive treatment of cancer patients at the hands of the medical establishment In vivid detail she talks about the alternative paths she has chosen and shares with readers her personal evolution to a state of mind in which she could trust her own instincts and take responsibility for her recovery and her life

Fi Munro,2019-01-28 Please note This is the second edition to the previously entitled Love Light and mermaid Tails It has four new chapters new sections a new foreword and updates throughout Suitcases filled with medication Life and death situations Multiple organ removal Risking everything to stay alive just one more day And people still moan to you when they have a cold Welcome to the life of a terminal cancer patient In January 2016 thirty year old Fi Munro was diagnosed with stage four ovarian cancer Told from day one that her cancer was incurable and terminal Fi faced unimaginable pain heartache and suffering as the life she d dreamed of was suddenly pulled away from her Yet in the wake of this news she did not wallow Instead she discovered a remarkable inner strength resilience and above all a very dark sense of humour Years later and she is still here having outlived in her opinion two very unreasonable prognoses How Long Have I Got is her inspiring story Honest open and often tear jerking this is everything you wanted to know and some stuff you

I want to forget about living with cancer and an important reminder that we are all terminal. Reading this will change your life forever. Fi Munro Ph D is a multi award winning researcher, author, blogger, speaker and mentor recognised internationally for her presentations and articles on her journey and the importance of holistic health. She has been featured in two BBC documentaries in TV and radio shows and in newspaper and magazine articles across the globe. Today she is healthier and happier than ever before and believes cancer saved her life. She is currently training to be a shaman and is excited for what the future holds. www.fkmunro.com/fkmunro REVIEWS Please read How Long Have I Got. Fi has courageously chosen to share her experiences of becoming a warrior of HAVING to become a warrior. Of having to almost fight for a correct diagnosis of ovarian cancer and then to fight on with her own extraordinary armoury of joy, light and love. Her generosity in sharing her every step knows no bounds. If you or someone you know has just received a frightening diagnosis, please have this book as your lifeline. I wish my family had had the gift of Fi's beautifully written account eight years ago when the symptoms of my mother's ovarian cancer were dismissed. No more of brushing off. No more dismissal. No more leaving the doctor's surgery without getting that referral for a scan, exam or test. Take courage and heart from Fi Munro. Oh yes, she'll make you laugh too. Sarah Greene, television personality. Fi is a true cancer warrior and thriver. She has been to the brink, undergone potentially catastrophic surgery and emerged more herself than before. She finds light in darkness. Sophie Sabbage, bestselling author of The Cancer Whisperer and Lifeshocks And How to Love Them. Cancer is a scary word for most people. Putting ovarian before it makes many clinicians sigh deeply because of the tough prognosis. Diagnosis often comes late. Raising awareness is vital and that's why wonderful women like Fi telling their stories is at the heart of what we do as a charity. Fi doesn't ask why me statistically it really shouldn't be her. Her call to arms is this could be any of us so what can we all do. Above everything Fi shows us how to live well with cancer, not to be defined as potentially dying from it. Athena Lamnisos, CEO of The Eve Appeal. Fi brings her distinctive voice and perpetual positivity to this wonderful book. Fi and Target Ovarian Cancer share a goal of raising awareness of ovarian cancer, yes, but more than that, of showing the world that you can live a full life after a diagnosis. She is an incredible inspirational member of a wonderful community and I am full of admiration for all that she does. Annwen Jones, Chief Executive of Target Ovarian Cancer.

Surviving Cancer Margie Levine, 2008-12-10. When cancer specialists at Boston's internationally renowned Dana Farber Cancer Institute diagnosed Margie Levine with a deadly asbestos related lung cancer, they predicted that she had only six months to live. Refusing to give up hope, she chose an approach that combined state of the art medicine with her own holistic program. Eleven years later, her mind/body regimen has evolved into a prescription for survival and she has dedicated her life to sharing it with others. Surviving Cancer offers a practical, integrated way of self healing with advice on: Creating the best possible team of physicians and loved ones; Maximizing nutrition using veggie over dosing; Ridding your cells of harbored anger with a six point forgiveness program; Using music to boost your immune system and fight pain; Using visualization to make your own affirmation tape Building up endorphins by seeking joy Using creative meditation techniques Covering these topics and dozens more

Surviving Cancer is not only one woman's lifesaving testimony it's a plan for finding rejuvenation in every new day

Cancer Is What I Had Not Who I Am Katina S. Acker, 2017-12-06 Cancer is What I Had Not Who I AM is a book that chronicles the life of a family struggles and victories before and after the diagnoses of cancer The book was written to share Katina's personal testimony of her experiences with cancer with men and women across the world that have encountered similar experiences The book was ordained to help bring awareness restore hope and shatter the strongholds and lies that the enemy Satan has purposed in the lives of God's children Katina states she wrote the book to remind the world that we still serve the same God that heal and raises the dead Katina's prayer is that her personal testimonies will open the eyes of our understanding and will enlighten the world so we may know the hope and inheritance of the saints of God Her goal is to remind the people that we must walk by faith and not by sight and that the same God that raised Lazarus from the grave John 12:1 healed the woman with the blood issues Mark 9:20-22 has also healed her of cancer Katina states she wants to also bring awareness of the importance of staying on top of our health and learning how to listen to our bodies She reminds the readers that cancer doesn't care what your ethnicity is how much money you have or what your plans were Cancer usually shows up with no warning or invites and demands a presence in your life and you must make the decision to fight or not Each of us have a testimony or story of how we overcame so we should never allow our current circumstances or situations to dictate our future You're more than your diagnosis You're more than your battle scars You are victorious and that makes you a survivor

I Have Survived Erin Arbabha, 2013-12 A Heart Warming Story of Courage Hope and Resilience of a Breast Cancer Survivor I Have Survived is the true story of one woman's 10 year journey through cancer Erin invites you to walk in her shoes and witness her most intimate moments of devastation and loss along with her finest episodes of hope and courage It is the inspiring account of how she overcame the many personal physical and emotional challenges that breast cancer put in her path ultimately coming to a place of joy and love for life This book also contains helpful guidelines for cancer patients caregivers family friends and employers As a two time breast cancer survivor I was moved by Erin's candor as she explains what she faced as a patient from diagnosis through treatment This book is both a heartfelt memoir and a helpful guide full of suggestions for patients friends and caregivers Michele Donahue Chair of the Komen Florida Public Policy Collaborative

The Joy of Cancer Olga Munari Assaly, 2012-10-31 In April of 2006 Olga Munari was at the end of her rope Unhappy with her life and her marriage Olga confessed to her personal trainer that she wished something bad would happen to her as a means to create change in her life and her relationship The following Monday she was diagnosed with breast cancer Kim Mecca narrates the moving story of how Olga bravely faced a life threatening diagnosis and used it as an opportunity to create a sacred bond with her children adopt a positive attitude and give back to others As Olga began her journey through surgery and subsequent treatment she soon discovered that her healing was not only physical but also emotional. She learned to create joy from her immense challenges. As Mecca details Olga's dedication to fundraising, her decision to not change her life because she had cancer, and her devotion to her family, she provides an unforgettable glimpse into all the ways Olga walked through the darkness of her disease and into the light of healing. The Joy of Cancer tells the inspiring story of how one woman used her breast cancer diagnosis to slowly transform, break free of her cocoon, and become the beautiful butterfly she was always meant to be.
