Economia New Economic Systems To Empower People And Support The Living World:

Economia Geoffrey Frederick Davies,2004 Most of us feel that the brave new world of globalism hasn't delivered. If as our leaders tell us the industrial and technological revolutions existed to make our lives freer and easier why are we still stressed? In a time of unprecedented prosperity for the Western world why do we feel impoverished? Geoff Davies explains how the economic systems under which we live do not fit the needs of the people they're supposed to serve. Drawing on his scientific background he describes the way the natural world operates and argues that there is no reason why economies can't operate according to the same principles as the human societies and the living systems from which they have emerged. Economia is an engagingly written far-reaching critique that provides compelling evidence for a new way of thinking about our institutions, the natural world and ourselves.

Climate Action Mark Diesendorf,2009 Climate Action is a campaign manual that draws upon positive case studies of successful grass roots social movements from the last few decades and presents a menu of strategies for activists and citizens who want to pressure governments and businesses to create a framework for big and rapid reductions in greenhouse gas emissions.

Pathways to a Sustainable Economy Moazzem Hossain,Robert Hales,Tapan Sarker,2017-10-24 The focus of this edited volume is to identify challenges facing organizations in achieving zero greenhouse gas emissions by 2050 and a new energy economy and to explore solutions from various sectors of the economy to enable the transition to a zero emissions future. Research presented here is divided into three parts with an introductory statement on growth and sustainability. Part one discusses strategies towards a sustainable economy under a zero emissions goal. Part two contains industry specific case studies focusing on construction and related activities. Part three is devoted to country specific case studies from the Asia Pacific region. Each of the chapters address one or more of the following issues: restoration, mitigation, adaptation and/or promoting resilience in the face of climate change as part of achieving a sustainable economy. The volume is multi-disciplinary in nature drawing on various disciplines in social science, business, environment and policy and will be of interest to UN development agencies, academic institutions, government policy makers, NGOs and business leaders.

Westerly ,2004 Who Owns Your Health? Thomas Alured Faunce,2008-01-02 Across the globe large corporations are dominating the supply and delivery of health care products and services and altering the behavior of health professionals. In Who Owns Your Health Thomas Faunce applies moral, bioethical and human rights perspectives to examine how the privatization of health care affects the public good. Drawing on the author's rich knowledge of relevant law, philosophy and literature, his personal experience on the front lines of clinical medicine and interviews with players who are intimately familiar with the pharmaceutical industry, this elegantly written analysis explores the urgent issues surrounding growing corporate influence on health policy and medical professionalism. In addressing the inherent tensions involved in the business of health care, Faunce promotes a framework by which the benefits of corporate competition might be better harnessed to promote patient well-being while acknowledging the need to ensure that global health remains a sustainable enterprise Australian Book Review ,2005 Social Enterprise in Latin America Luiz Inácio Gaiger,Marthe Nyssens,Fernanda Wanderley,2019-05-22 In the absence of a widely accepted and common definition of social enterprise SE a large research project the International Comparative Social Enterprise Models ICSEM Project was carried out over a five year period it involved more than 200 researchers from 55 countries and relied on bottom up approaches to capture the SE phenomenon This strategy made it possible to take into account and give legitimacy to locally embedded approaches thus resulting in an analysis encompassing a wide diversity of social enterprises while simultaneously allowing for the identification of major SE models to delineate the field on common grounds at the international level These SE models reveal or confirm an overall trend towards new ways of sharing the responsibility for the common good in today s economies and societies We tend to consider as good news the fact that social enterprises actually stem from all parts of the economy Indeed societies are facing many complex challenges at all levels from the local to the global level The diversity and internal variety of SE models are a sign of a broadly shared willingness to develop appropriate although sometimes embryonic responses to these challenges on the basis of innovative economic business models driven by a social mission In spite of their weaknesses social enterprises may be seen as advocates for and vehicles of the general interest across the whole economy Of course the debate about privatisation deregulation and globalised market competition all factors that may hinder efforts in the search for the common good has to be addressed as well The second of a series of four ICSEM books Social Enterprise in Latin America will serve as a key reference and resource for teachers researchers students experts policy makers journalists and other categories of people who want to acquire a broad understanding of the phenomena of social enterprise and social entrepreneurship as they emerge and develop across the world Yearbook of International Organizations 2014-2015 (Volume 4) Union Of International Associations,Union of International Associations,2014-09-17 The Yearbook of International Organizations provides the most extensive coverage of non profit international organizations currently available Detailed profiles of international non governmental and intergovernmental organizations IGO collected and documented by the Union of International Associations can be found here In addition to the history aims and activities of international organizations with their events publications and contact details the volumes of the Yearbook include networks between associations biographies of key people involved and extensive statistical data Providing both an international organizations and research bibliography Volume 4 cites over 46 000 publications and information resources supplied by international organizations and provides nearly 18 000 research citations under 40 subject headings This volume also includes a research bibliography on international organizations and transnational associations World Agricultural Economics and Rural Sociology Abstracts ,1993 Empowering Organizations Teresina Torre,Alessio Maria Braccini,Riccardo Spinelli,2015-10-03 This book presents a collection of original research papers focusing on the enabling aspects of Information and Communication Technologies In particular it focuses on the two topics of digital platforms and digital artefacts and discusses backgrounds face substantial income losses necessitating basic needs support and enhanced provision of public services particularly for the large families that are more likely to migrate Agriculture a critical sector for rural livelihoods has been significantly affected across all states Most households reported not cultivating land during the summer season of 2023 due to the conflict The sharp reduction in the area of crops planted underscores the need for support for farming activities particularly for smallholder households The survey highlights extensive exposure to shocks among rural households with personal shocks such as illnesses among household members being the most common Natural and climatic shocks although less prevalent alongside conflict related shocks like theft and violence emphasize the complex challenges faced by these communities Market access and disruptions have further impacted rural households with a considerable proportion of rural households unable to sell or buy goods primarily due to high prices and sharp reductions in income for most households These market challenges coupled with the overall economic instability necessitate interventions aimed at maintaining and improving market accessibility and functionality to promote recovery and resilience The findings from the analysis of the survey data lend support to designing and implementing comprehensive strategies that address the immediate needs of displaced populations and other rural households affected by income losses and market disruptions Enhancing public services supporting livelihoods building resilience through shock responsive social protection systems agricultural and economic interventions and ensuring equitable access to resources and markets for all households particularly those headed by women and vulnerable groups are the principal policy recommendations that emerged from this analysis This study of rural household livelihoods amid the armed conflict in Sudan provides a foundation for targeted interventions and policy reforms aimed at mitigating the conflict's impacts and fostering long term resilience and economic stability
