Herbert Bormann, Stephen R. Kellert, Stephan R... Kellert, Professor F Herbert Bormann, 1991 In this book a distinguished group of environmental experts argues that in order to solve global environmental problems we must view them in a broad interdisciplinary perspective that recognizes the relations the interconnected circle among ecology economics and ethics Currently the circle is broken they say because environmental policy is decided on short term estimations of material return that take little account of the economic or moral burdens that will be borne by future generations if we deplete our resources now The Environmental Ethics and Policy Book Donald VanDeVeer, Christine Pierce, 1994 This text is designed for students who wish to explore in depth questions about how on earth we ought to live e g how we can behave responsibly toward nonhumans and toward the planet Although primarily oriented toward questions of ethics broadly understood and approached philosophically the volume crosses disciplinary boundaries and attends seriously to economic reasoning and its implications for environmental policy issues It seeks to extract for critical attention the relevant moral or normative presuppositions which lie behind policy recommendations whether they are ones made by biologists ecologists economists philosphers engineers public officials or anyone concerned with policy decisions The Elgar Companion to Social Economics, Second Edition John B. Davis, Wilfred Dolfsma, 2015-05-29 Social economics is a dynamic and growing field that emphasizes the key roles social values play in the economy and economic life This second edition of the Elgar Companion to Social Economics revises all chapters from the first edition and adds impo Introduction to the Law and Economics of Environmental Policy T. Vatn s book shows the way John Gowdy Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute US This important text develops an institutional response to the core issues raised in public policy making and develops a distinct understanding of the role of institutions not least in the study of environmental problems It questions how are conflicting interests shaped and taken into account in policy making How should they be accounted for What motivates the behaviour of firms and individuals and how is it possible to change these motivations to produce the favoured common outcomes The author addresses these questions by integrating elements from classical institutional economics neoclassical economics sociology and ecological economics He argues that public policy in general and environmental policy in particular are best examined from an institutional perspective In this way the author presents a distinct and consistent alternative to standard neoclassical economics for students and scholars who
