Egypt from Nasser to Mubarak (RLE Egypt) Anthony McDermott, 2013-01-03 Ever since Nasser overthrew Prince Farouk in 1952 Egypt has held a special leading position within the Arab world It is now facing major problems the most serious of which are the growing strength of the Muslim fundamentalists continuing population growth and external debt problems Together these are creating a volatile and potentially explosive climate In this book the journalist Anthony McDermott examines the development of Egypt from Revolution to the present describing various features of Egyptian society and the contributions of its leaders He asks whether Egypt has fulfilled its expected role as the model for Arab and developing countries or whether the peace pact made by Sadat with Israel was a major error causing Egypt's withdrawal under Mubarak from the centre of international politics The book is lively and readable and provides a challenging introduction to the development and problems of the largest country in the Middle East First published 1988 Chronicles of the Egyptian Revolution and its Aftermath: 2011-2016 M. How Violence Shapes Religion Ziya Meral, 2018-08-23 Is there an inevitable global violent clash unfolding between the world's largest religions Islam and Christianity Do religions cause violent conflicts or are there other factors at play How can we make sense of increasing reports of violence between Christian and Muslim ethnic communities across the world By seeking to answer such questions about the relationship between religion and violence in today's world Ziya Meral challenges popular theories and offers an alternative explanation grounded on insights inferred from real cases of ethno religious violence in Africa and the Middle East The relationship between religion and violence runs deep and both are intrinsic to the human story Violence leads to and shapes religion while religion acts to enable violence as well as providing responses that contain and prevent it However with religious violence being one of the most serious challenges facing the modern world Meral shows that we need to de globalise our analysis and focus on individual conflicts instead of attempting to provide single answers to complex questions

Revisiting the Arab Uprisings Stéphane Lacroix, Jean-Pierre Filiu, 2018-12-15 Since 2013 the Middle East has experienced a double trend of chaos and civil war on the one hand and the return of authoritarianism on the other That convergence has eclipsed the political transitions that occurred in the countries whose regimes were toppled in 2011 as if they were merely footnotes to a narrative that naturally led from an Arab Spring to an Arab Winter This volume aims at rehabilitating those transitions by considering them as expressions of a revolutionary moment whose outcome was never pre determined but depended on the choices of a large range of actors It brings together leading scholars of Arab politics to adopt a comparative approach to a few crucial aspects of those transitions constitutional debates the question of transitional justice the evolution of civil military relations and the role of specific actors both domestic and international

Shaping Strategy Risa Brooks, 2018-06-05 Good strategic assessment does not guarantee success in international relations but bad strategic assessment dramatically increases the risk of disastrous failure The most glaring example of this reality is playing out in Iraq today But what explains why states and their leaders are sometimes so good at strategic assessment and why they are sometimes so bad at it Part of the explanation has to do with a state's civil military relations In Shaping Strategy Risa Brooks develops a novel theory of how states' civil military relations affect strategic assessment during international conflicts And her conclusions have broad practical importance to anticipate when

states are prone to strategic failure abroad we must look at how civil military relations affect the analysis of those strategies at home Drawing insights from both international relations and comparative politics Shaping Strategy shows that good strategic assessment depends on civil military relations that encourage an easy exchange of information and a rigorous analysis of a state's own relative capabilities and strategic environment Among the diverse case studies the book illuminates Brooks explains why strategic assessment in Egypt was so poor under Gamal Abdel Nasser prior to the 1967 Arab Israeli war and why it improved under Anwar Sadat The book also offers a new perspective on the devastating failure of U S planning for the second Iraq war Brooks argues that this failure far from being unique is an example of an assessment pathology to which states commonly succumb

Floundering Stability Amir Magdy Kamel, 2023-03-14 The US commitment to stability both domestically and abroad has been a consistent feature in the way Washington DC carries out international relations This commitment is complimented by the increased overlap between the economic and political spheres in international affairs Consequently this US approach to foreign interaction is informed by an assumption that foreign policy tools can influence global stability for the better In order to investigate this assumption this book details the foundations of what Amir Magdy Kamel refers to as the US Stability Policy how it evolved over time and how it was implemented in Egypt He finds that domestic and global forces were left unaccounted for by the Stability Policy ultimately leading to a failure to achieve the self stated stability goals Kamel's analysis is informed through a unique mixed method approach that sheds light on how and why this policy fared so poorly under Mubarak's Egypt He develops and tests a unique and particular way of examining the Stability Policy and presents a framework for future work to replicate and build on in the quest to understand other state on state relationships and the effectiveness of other foreign economic policies in achieving stability goals Floundering Stability reflects on what Kamel's findings mean for the relationship between the US and Egypt as well as specific US foreign policy suggestions on how the same mistakes can be avoided in the future

Bridging the Gap Cindy R. Jebb, 2004-01-01 In Bridging the Gap scholar and military officer Cindy R Jebb asks why the United States with its considerable diplomatic economic and military resources vested in the Middle East has not been able to successfully implement plans to quell unrest in the region To find an answer Jebb specifically focuses on the factors that drive United States foreign policy decisions in Egypt and Syria in a Cold War and post Cold War context The epilogue brings forward the post Cold War findings to a post 9 11 world providing insights on the changing legitimacy formulas for both states Using comparative politics literature to answer the international relations question of why states behave as they do this searching study builds an important foundation for further research in other critical areas of current scholarly interest including democratization consensus building multilateral institutions and ethnic studies Bridging the Gap will be indispensable to scholars in the international comparative and security fields and Jebb's insights will be of particular value to Middle East regional experts and policy makers

The Power Triangle Hazem Kandil, 2016-08-12 Revolution, reform and resilience comprise the respective fortunes of modern Iran, Turkey and Egypt Although the countries all experienced coups with remarkably similar ambitions each followed a very different trajectory Iran became an absolutist monarchy that was overthrown from below Turkey evolved into a limited democracy and Egypt turned into a police state In The Power Triangle Hazem Kandil attributes the different outcomes to the power struggle between the political, military and security institutions Coups establish a division of labor with one group of officers running government, another overseeing the military and a third handling security But their interests begin to vary as each group identifies with its own institution Politicians wish to rule indefinitely military officers prefer to return to barracks after implementing the needed reforms and security men scramble to maintain the privileges they acquired in the post-coup emergency Driven by conflicting agendas these partners in domination struggle over regime control Using comparative historical sociology Kandil demonstrates how regimes are constantly shaped and reshaped through the recurrent clashes and shifting alliances between the team of rivals in this power triangle The Power Triangle's realist approach to regime change shows that a clear explanation of pivotal events in Iran, Turkey and Egypt is impossible without a firm grasp of the power relations within each country's ruling bloc

Committed to Disillusion David DiMeo, 2016-08-12 Can a writer help to bring about a more just society This question was at the heart of the movement of al adab al multazim or committed literature which claimed to dominate Arab writing in the mid twentieth century By the 1960s however leading Egyptian writers had retreated into disillusionment producing agonized works that challenged the key assumptions of socially engaged writing Rather than a rejection of the idea however these works offered reinterpretation of committed writing that helped set the stage for activist writers of the present David DiMeo focuses on the work of three leading writers whose socially committed fiction was adapted to the disenchantment and discontent of the late twentieth century Naguib Mahfouz, Yusuf Idris and Sonallah Ibrahim Despite their disappointments with the direction of Egyptian society in the decades following the 1952 revolution they kept the spirit of committed literature alive through a deeply introspective examination of the relationship between the writer, the public and political power Reaching back to the roots of this literary movement DiMeo examines the development of committed literature from its European antecedents to its peak of influence in the 1950s and contrasts the committed works with those of disillusionment that followed Committed to Disillusion is vital reading for scholars and students of Arabic literature and the modern history and politics of the Middle East Journalism Education in Countries with Limited Media Freedom Beate Ursula Josephi, 2010 Journalism education surrounded by media tsunamis continues to expand as a crucial area of professional and academic life It gets to the roots of media society relations This volume gives important food for thought to the problematic classification of countries to free partly free and not free Kaarle Nordenstreng University of Tampere Book Jacket One World Divisible David Reynolds, 2000 A new volume in the Global Century series this masterful history of the world in our time captures the ground level drama of events and the larger contours of change during a period of global transformation Secularism, Gender and the State in the Middle East Nadjé Al-Ali, 2000-07-27 A considerable literature has been devoted to the study of Islamic activism By contrast Nadjé Al Ali s book explores the anthropological and political significance of secular oriented activism by focusing on the women s movement in Egypt In so doing it challenges stereotypical images of Arab women as passive victims and demonstrates how they fight for their rights and confront conservative forces Al Ali s book also takes issue with prevailing constructions of the West and its perceived dichotomous relation to the East The argument is constructed around interviews which afford fascinating insights into the history of the women s movement in Egypt notions about secularism and how Islamist constituencies have impacted on women s activism generally The balance between the empirical and conceptual material is adeptly handled The author frames her work in the context of current theoretical debates in Middle Eastern and post colonial scholarship while some of the ideas are complex her lucid style means they are always comprehensible the book will therefore appeal to students as well as to scholars in the field The Middle East Today Dona J. Stewart, 2008-12-22 The new edition of The Middle East Today provides an accessible and comprehensive introductory textbook for undergraduate students of Middle East Studies Middle East politics and geography This updated and revised edition features a host of pedagogical features to assist students with their learning including detailed maps and images case studies on key issues boxed sections and suggestions for further reading The book highlights the current issues facing the Middle East linking them to the rich political geographical and cultural history of the region The author examines the crises and conflicts both current and potential likely to dominate the region in coming years The second edition has been fully updated and revised to include discussion of such recent events as the effects of the Arab Spring Turkey s growing influence in the region the dramatic increase in Iran s nuclear capabilities Osama bin Laden s death and declining support for violent extremist movements in the Middle East Further supplemented by a companion website containing sample chapters a selection of maps formatted for use in presentations and annotated links to online resources and websites The Middle East Today is an essential resource for all students of Middle East Studies Middle East politics and geography Committed to Disillusion David Fred DiMeo, 2016 Arabic literature Egypt 20th century history and criticism Conflict in the Holy Land Robert C.
