Return of Creegar and Eight Keys to Eden David Wright O'Brien, Mark Clifton, 2018-02-06 Armchair Fiction presents extra large editions of classic science fiction double novels with original illustrations The first novel is Return of Creegar by David Wright O'Brien Creegar sought vengeance from across the Solar System He had been an inmate in a penal planet prison for five agonizing years He'd been set up framed by a high ranking law enforcement official named Judson Bellham to whom Creegar at one time Bellham's right hand man had become an obstacle The sticking point had been the love of a beautiful young woman named Sherry Bennet a love that Bellham desperately wanted but that Creegar possessed So in a carefully executed plot Bellham had gotten Creegar out of the way swept away in the cruelest of frame ups But now five years later Bellham had agreed to Creegar's release in exchange for Sherry Bennet's promise of marriage But Creegar was forbidden to return to Earth under penalty of death But death meant nothing to Creegar who was now driven solely by a desire for revenge Unfortunately he had one of the shrewdest man hunters in the Solar System out to track him down The second novel is Mark Clifton's wonderful tale of the future Eight Keys to Eden There was trouble brewing on the frontier of Space The colony was billions of miles away So much depended on their regular check ins their reports and their findings that many alternative systems of communication had been set up Yet now there was silence now it seemed they were completely cut off with no way for Earth to know what was happening or had already happened except to send someone to find out In such circumstances Earth did not waste time they dispatched a crew to accompany a member of the very exclusive very small group that ruled Earth an E man a super brain a genius a man outside all law because he was gifted with an intellect so powerful that he was theoretically untouchable Even he was to find terror and wonder on Eden

The Science Fiction of Mark Clifton Mark Clifton, 1980 This collection of the best short stories of Mark Clifton makes these fine tales readily available for the first time in two decades Winner with Frank Riley of the 1955 Hugo Award for They'd Rather Be Right Clifton has for a variety of reasons unrelated to the quality of his writing all but disappeared from the awareness of today's science fiction audience Never a prolific writer he had published only about twenty five short stories before his death in 1963 But with those stories and his three novels he irrevocably altered the course of contemporary science fiction Almost single handedly he introduced the full range of psychological insights to the commonly occurring themes of the genre alien invasion expanding technology revolution against political theocracy and space exploration and colonization to ever more truthfully portray how humanity would react to a future that could be either mindless or intellectually stunning With his first published story What Have I Done Clifton initiated the theme of a starkly realistic world in which at its best humanity is inalterably vile a theme that became an inextricable part of all his subsequent works In his later works Clifton occasionally clothed his bitter indictment in the garb of comedy The stories collected here include What Have I Done Star Bright Crazy Joey What Thin Partitions Sense from Thought Divide How Allied Remembrance and Reflection Hide Hide Witch Clerical Error What Now Little Man and Hang Head Vandal
