The Design, Production and Reception of Eighteenth-Century Wallpaper in Britain Clare Taylor, 2018-06-12 Wallpaper s spread across trades class and gender is charted in this first full length study of the material s use in Britain during the long eighteenth century It examines the types of wallpaper that were designed and produced and the interior spaces it occupied from the country house to the homes of prosperous townsfolk and gentry showing that wallpaper was hung by Earls and merchants as well as by aristocratic women Drawing on a wide range of little known examples of interior schemes and surviving wallpapers together with unpublished evidence from archives including letters and bills it charts wallpaper s evolution across the century from cheap textile imitation to innovative new decorative material Wallpaper s growth is considered not in terms of chronology but rather alongside the categories used by eighteenth century tradesmen and consumers from plains to flocks from China papers to papier m ch and from stucco papers to materials for creating print rooms It ends by assessing the ways in which eighteenth century wallpaper was used to create historicist interiors in the twentieth century Including a wide range of illustrations many in colour the book will be of interest to historians of material culture and design scholars of art and architectural history as well as practicing designers and those interested in the historic interior
