Hidden Lives explores four marriages including her own in different times and societies to find the answer In 1848 Mary Moffatt became the wife of the missionary and explorer David Livingstone and her obedience and devotion eventually killed her In 1960 Margaret Forster married her school sweetheart Hunter Davies in a London Registry Office and interpreted the role very differently Between these two marriages is a huge gulf in which the notion of marriage changed immeasurably Forster traces the shift in emphasis from submission to partnership first through the marriage of one unconventional American Fanny Osbourne to Robert Louis Stevenson in the late nineteenth century and then through that of Jennie Lee to Aneurin Bevan in the 1930s Why does a woman still want to be a wife in the twenty first century What is the value of marriage today Why do couples still marry in church These are some of the questions Forster asks as she weaves the personal experience of forty years through the stories of three wives who have long fascinated her Vaughan Williams

Robert Louis Stevenson's collaborative process
Contains new readings of thirteen works by Robert Louis Stevenson including several rarely discussed
Sheds light on connections between authorship, celebrity, the literary marketplace and the creative process
Supported by extensive manuscript research
This book investigates Stevenson's literary collaborations with family and friends as he travelled Scotland, America and the Pacific
With critical readings of both major and minor Stevenson texts supported and contextualised by unpublished manuscripts and letters by both Stevenson and those he wrote with this book argues that Stevenson's writings are both a product of and a meditation on collaborative writing
Stevenson's self-reflective body of work reimagines late Victorian authorship by examining the ways that authors choose material, negotiate the marketplace and ultimately maintain power over their own words or let that power go

The Triumph of Human Empire
Rosalind Williams, 2022-12-22
In the early 1600s in a haunting tale titled New Atlantis, Sir Francis Bacon imagined the discovery of an uncharted island. This island was home to the descendants of the lost realm of Atlantis who had organized themselves to seek the knowledge of causes and secret motions of things and the enlarging of the bounds of Human Empire to the effecting of all things possible. Bacon's make-believe island was not an empire in the usual sense marked by territorial control; instead, it was the center of a vast general expansion of human knowledge and power. Rosalind Williams uses Bacon's island as a jumping-off point to explore the overarching historical event of our time: the rise and triumph of human empire, the apotheosis of the modern ambition to increase knowledge and power in order to achieve world domination. Confronting an intensely humanized world was a singular event of consciousness which Williams explores through the lives and works of three writers of the late nineteenth century: Jules Verne, William Morris, and Robert Louis Stevenson. As the century drew to a close, these writers were unhappy with the direction in which their world seemed to be headed and worried that organized humanity would use knowledge and power for unworthy ends. In response, Williams shows each engaged in a lifelong quest to make a home in the midst of human empire, to transcend it, and most of all, to understand it. They accomplished this first by taking to the water: in life and in art, the transition from land to water offered them release from the condition of human domination. At the same time, each writer transformed his world by exploring the literary boundary between realism and romance. Williams shows how Verne, Morris, and Stevenson experimented with romance and fantasy and how these traditions allowed them to express their growing awareness of the need for a new relationship between humans and Earth. The Triumph of Human Empire shows that for these writers and their readers, romance was an exceptionally powerful way of grappling with the political, technical, and environmental situations of modernity. As environmental consciousness rises in our time along with evidence that our seeming control over nature is pathological and unpredictable, Williams's history is one that speaks very much to the present.

Robert Louis Stevenson's Pacific Impressions Carla Manfredi,2018-11-11 This book tackles photography s role during Robert Louis Stevenson s travels throughout the Pacific Island region and is the first study of his family s previously unpublished photographs Cutting across disciplinary boundaries the book integrates photographs with letters non fiction and poetry and includes much unpublished material The original readings of photographs and non fiction highlight Stevenson s engagement with colonial ideology and reality and advance new arguments about Victorian travel settlement and colonialisms in the Pacific Like the Stevensons the book moves from the Marquesas to the atolls of the Gilbert Islands in Micronesia from the Kingdom of Hawai i s political ambitions to Samoan plantations and the Stevensons settlement at Vailima Central to this study is the notion that Pacific history and Pacific Island cultures matter to the interpretation of Stevenson s work and a rigorous historical and cultural contextualization ensures that local details structure literary and photographic interpretation The book s historical grounding is key to its insightful conclusions regarding travel settlement photography and colonialism
