

The diagram illustrates an automatic pig feeding system. On the left, a large white storage bin is connected by a pipe to a green hopper mounted on a stand. This hopper is part of a motorized unit with a grey motor on top. A horizontal blue pipe runs from this unit to the right, where another motor is located. Below this horizontal pipe, a series of vertical pipes lead down to eight blue feeding cups. A small orange pig is shown at the bottom right, near the feeding cups. The entire system is housed within a structure with a brick wall on the left and a window with vertical bars on the right.
