The Farming Game Bryan Jones, 1995-03-01 In cantankerous opinions hard headed advice and free swinging sketches of real farmers Bryan Jones addresses everyone who feels the pull of the land He accepts the emotional appeal of going back to the land and then takes the unconventional stand that above all farming can be a good way to make money Against the grain of public policy that he maintains encourages big agriculture Jones works out how a shrewd stubborn small farmer can still make a go of it His keen eyed sketches of farmers at work show the variety of ways a farmer may succeed or fail Even his own neighborhood dominated by thousands of acres of corn and high technology is peopled with scalper who makes a living in the cattle business with little more stake than a gooseneck trailer a telephone and his native wits the sheep man who secretly grows rich while looking poor and raising an animal that other farmer disdain the experimenter who never turns a nickel himself but whose successful innovations are readily adopted by his neighbors the hog raiser who makes a large family pay The heart of the book is the primer for novices and for city folk who dream of farming Jones emphasizes the practicalities of farm finance and recommends sidelines for the beginner welding giving guitar lessons keeping the books for a local elevator as an alternative to starving He urges newcomers to start small and to be sure that farming is something they really want to do To interested bystanders The Farming Game offers one farmer's audacious stimulating and entertaining view of American agriculture today

Contested Karoo: Interdisciplinary perspectives on change and continuity in South Africa's drylands Cherryl Walker,M Timm Hoffman,2024-05-15 This inter disciplinary collection explores significant land use changes in South Africa s semi arid Karoo region and their implications for social justice and the environment across different scales It brings together recent scholarship by established and younger researchers in both the social and the natural sciences to examine the ways in which the Karoo is being reconfigured as a new resource frontier and the tensions and contestations that result Along with ongoing mining major investments in astronomy notably the Square Kilometre Array radio telescope in renewable and non renewable sources of energy solar wind potential shale gas mining in biodiversity conservation and commercial game farming are reshaping land use and authority in this vast and long marginalised area While promising significant benefits to society at large these developments are built on older histories of dispossession and extractivism histories that many Karoo residents fear are being reproduced in new forms today Collectively these dynamics place this unique region at the centre of national and global concerns around climate change the politics of knowledge production the conservation of threatened biodiversity and the meaning and possibility of sustainable development These issues are explored through a series of case studies of selected developments complemented by chapters providing more historical context and general overviews While challenging perceptions of this region as a peripheral wasteland this collection raises conceptual and policy questions that resonate far beyond the Karoo itself It also highlights the importance of interdisciplinary collaboration in research aimed not only at understanding but also at responding appropriately to the mounting challenges of our time

Social Innovation and Sustainability Transition Geoff Desa,Xiangping Jia,2022-11-09 This book uses a historical and modern lens to reimagine the role that Extension could potentially play in catalyzing reciprocal co learning relationships between Land Grant Universities and their diverse local constituencies The establishment of statewide extension systems was once seen as a way to ensure that Land Grant Universities would be accessible and responsive to all of a state s residents Extension systems continue to offer a front door to a major public university in almost every county of the United States but they tend to be viewed primarily as a way to translate science or distribute information from the university to the public This books argues for the importance of Extension and shows that we are conceiving of this system too narrowly Only by retelling the stories of the Extension and getting people to see themselves as part of the story can we imagine a different future in which state universities and land grant colleges engage more authentically and equitably in two way relationships with their local constituents in catalyzing reciprocal co learning relationships between Land Grant Universities and their diverse local constituencies Chapter Palatable disruption the politics of plant milk chapter Feeding the melting pot inclusive strategies for the multi ethnic city chapter A carrot isn t a carrot isn t a carrot tracing value in alternative practices of food exchange chapter Virtualizing the good life reworking narratives of agrarianism and the rural idyll in a computer game and chapter Workable utopias for social change through inclusion and empowerment Community supported agriculture CSA in Wales as social innovation are available open access under a Creative Commons Attribution 4 0 International license via link springer.com
