Ethnicity and the American Short Story Julie Brown,2013-05-13 How do different ethnic groups approach the short story form Do different groups develop culture related themes Do oral traditions within a particular culture shape the way in which written stories are told Why does the community loom so large in ethnic stories How do such traditional forms as African American slave narratives or the Chinese talk story shape the modern short story Which writers of color should be added to the canon Why have some minority writers been ignored for such a long time How does a person of color write for white publishers editors and readers Each essay in this collection of original studies addresses these questions and other related concerns It is common knowledge that most scholarly work on the short story has been on white writers This collection is the first work to specifically focus on short story practice by ethnic minorities in America ranging from African Americans to Native Americans Chinese Americans to Hispanic Americans The number of women writers discussed will be of particular interest to women studies and genre studies researchers and the collections will be of vital interest to scholars working in American literature narrative theory and multicultural studies

Spiritual, Blues, and Jazz People in African American Fiction A. Yemisi Jimoh,2002 In this book A Yemisi Jimoh demonstrates the critical influence of music on the fiction of various twentieth century African American writers Exploring novels and short stories by Toni Morrison John Edgar Wideman Zora Neale Hurston James Baldwin Ralph Ellison and others Jimoh shows how black musical traditions specifically Spirituals Blues and Jazz are used to shape characterizations and thematic content and to evince ideas emotions and experiences The author s analysis situates the literary texts she discusses within the diverse social energies of their times and locates important intersections where music history politics and literature meet Jimoh carefully distinguishes among the different musical forms and shows how in fiction they are transformed into rich metaphors She explains for example how characters and themes drawing on the Spiritual Gospel tradition de emphasize human agency depicting earthly survival as a transitory state and heavenly triumph as a victory By contrast in Blues fiction characters must often negotiate an environment of alienation change and uncertainty in order to achieve a more earthly triumph even if that triumph is only survival Jazz fiction meanwhile goes beyond Blues and Spiritual expressions to explore new realms revealing a space for infinite options radical change resistance and revolution This innovative book examines novels that have not previously received extensive attention including Albert Murray s Train Whistle Guitar Wallace Thurman s The Blacker the Berry and Ann Petry s The Street At the same time it brings fresh and intriguing readings to such widely studied works as Ellison s Invisible Man and Morrison s Sula Finally it suggests some exciting directions for future study as new generations of African American musicians and writers continue to develop and expand on established traditions and forms The Author A Yemisi Jimoh is an associate professor of English at the University of Arkansas Fayetteville Her articles have appeared in African American Review Contemporary African American Novelists and other publications She's Hard to Get Zi

Sheltered J. Dill, 2023-11-21 My mind is my enemy and my best friend My protector and a liar desperately seeking truth I live here aware but sheltered protected from the gifts of vulnerability Alex's songs always began with the pencil he kept behind his ear the place Sarah created when he first met her in high school and high school was where they started a conversation they never wanted to finish But life isn't high school and adolescence ended for Sarah and Alex when they graduated in 2006 and continued onto colleges near their Midwestern hometown The pair remained best friends as they approached the lives that had been handed to them but never asked for Alex had always been a dreamer who wished to become a musician And he loves Sarah but he's never known how to balance his dreams with responsibilities and one of his dreams is to believe that she might love him back His hopes are complicated further when the grandmother who raised him developed dementia and he found himself running her business full time while struggling to care for her Sarah had been burned one too many times Finding a date was always easy she was beautiful smart adventurous and proud Finding the right connection was a different story And she couldn't help but long for connection She loved sharing her knowledge with others and learning about the stories they had to tell Sarah didn't start dating with low expectations They slowly
