Expressionism and Poster Design in Germany 1905-1922 Kathleen G. Chapman, 2019-01-21 In Expressionism and Poster Design in Germany 1905 1925 Kathleen Chapman re defines Expressionism by situating it in relation to the most common type of picture in public space during the Wilhelmine twentieth century the commercial poster Focusing equally on visual material and contemporaneous debates surrounding art posters and the image in general this study reveals that conceptions of a modern image were characterized not so much by style or mode of production and distribution but by a visual rhetoric designed to communicate more directly than words As instances of such rhetoric Expressionist art and posters emerge as equally significant examples of this modern image demonstrating the interconnectedness of the aesthetic the utilitarian and the commercial in European modernism

Designing Modern Germany Jeremy Aynsley, 2009-05-15 German design and architecture reflects the country s rich and fraught political history in its structure and aesthetic philosophy Jeremy Aynsley now offers an in depth study of this relationship between German history and design since 1870 and the compl

History of Modern Design David Raizman, 2003 An exploration of the parallel development of product and graphic design from the 18th century to the 21st The effects of mass production and consumption man made industrial materials and extended lines of communication are also discussed

Graphic Design Stephen J. Eskilson, 2019-05-21 A classic and indispensable account of graphic design history from the Industrial Revolution to the present Now in its third edition this acclaimed survey explores the evolution of graphic design from the 19th century to the present day Following an exploration of design s prehistory in ancient civilizations through the Industrial Revolution author Stephen J Eskilson argues that modern design as we know it grew out of the influence of Victorian age reformers He traces the emergence of modernist design styles in the early 20th century examining the wartime politicization of regional styles Richly contextualized chapters chronicle the history of the Bauhaus and the rise of the International Style in the 1950s and 60s and the postmodern movement of the 1970s and 80s Contemporary considerations bring the third edition up to date with discussions of app design social media emojis big data visualization and the use of animated graphics in film and television The contemporary phenomenon of the citizen designer professionals who address societal issues either through or in addition to their commercial work is also addressed highlighting protagonists like Bruce Mau and the Center for Urban Pedagogy This edition also features 45 additional images an expanded introduction and epilogue and revised text throughout A newly redesigned interior reinforces the fresh contents of this now classic volume

An Introduction to Design and Culture Penny Sparke, 2013-02-11 This third edition of An Introduction to Design and Culture has been revised and updated throughout to include issues of globalization sustainability and digital interactive design New for this edition is a chapter which covers key changes in design culture Design culture has changed dramatically in the 21st century the designer hero is now much less in evidence and design has become much more interdisciplinary Drawing on a wealth of mass produced artefacts images and environments including sewing machines cars televisions clothes electronic and branded goods and exhibitions author Penny Sparke shows how design has helped to shape and reflect our social and cultural development This introduction to the development of modern and postmodern design is ideal for undergraduate students Design, Vienna, 1890s to 1930s Joann Skrypzak, Barbara Copeland Buenger, 2003 Barbara Buenger traces the development of Viennese modernism from turn of the century Jugendstil as Art Nouveau was known in German speaking countries to early twentieth century Expressionism and interwar Art Deco This exhibition catalogue features 103 fine and decorative art works produced by the Vienna Secession and Wiener Werksttte movements between the 1890s and 1930s The fully illustrated catalog features textiles furniture ceramics paintings and prints books metalwork glass and a variety of other objects from a private midwestern collection Distributed for the Chazen Museum of Art University of Wisconsin Madison Showing resistance Harriet Atkinson, 2024-07-23 How did exhibitions become a vital tool for public communication in early twentieth century Britain Showing resistance reveals how exhibitions were taken up by activists and politicians from 1933 to 1953 becoming manifestos weapons of war and a means of signalling political solidarities Drawing on dozens of examples mounted in empty shops workers canteens station ticket halls and beyond this richly illustrated book shows how this overlooked form was created by significant makers including artists Paul Nash John Heartfield and Oskar Kokoschka architect Erno Goldfinger and photographer Edith Tudor Hart Showing resistance is the first study of exhibitions as communications in mid twentieth century Britain Selling under the Swastika Pamela E. Swett, 2013-12-18 Selling under the Swastika is the first in depth study of commercial advertising in the Third Reich While scholars have focused extensively on the political propaganda that infused daily life in Nazi Germany they have paid little attention to the role played by commercial ads and sales culture in legitimizing and stabilizing the regime Historian Pamela Swett explores the extent of the transformation of the German ads industry from the internationally infused republican era that preceded 1933 through the relative calm of the mid 1930s and into the war years She argues that advertisements helped to normalize the concept of a racial community and that individual consumption played a larger role in the Nazi worldview than is often assumed Furthermore Selling under the Swastika demonstrates that commercial actors at all levels from traveling sales representatives to company executives and ad designers enjoyed relative independence as they sought to enhance their professional status and boost profits through the manipulation of National Socialist messages Body Modern Michael Sappol, 2017-04-11 A poster first printed in Germany in 1926 depicts the human body as a factory populated by tiny workers doing industrial tasks Devised by Fritz Kahn 1888 1968 a German Jewish physician and popular science writer Der Mensch als Industriepalast or Man as Industrial Palace achieved international fame and was reprinted in various languages and versions all over the world It was a new kind of image an illustration that was conceptual and scientific a visual explanation of how things work and Kahn built a career of this new genre In collaboration with a stable of artists only some of whom were credited Kahn created thousands of images that were metaphorical allusive and self consciously modern using an eclectic grab bag of schools and styles Dada Art Deco photomontage Art Nouveau Bauhaus functionalism and commercial illustration In Body Modern Michael Sappol offers the first in depth critical study of Fritz Kahn and his visual rhetoric Kahn was an impresario of the modern who catered to readers who were hungry for products and concepts that could help them acquire and perform an overdetermined modern identity He and his artists created playful new visual tropes and genres that used striking metaphors to scientifically explain the life of Man This rich and largely obscure corpus of images was a technology of the self that naturalized the modern and its technologies by situating them inside the human body The scope of Kahn s project was vast entirely new kinds of visual explanation and so was his influence Today his legacy can be seen in textbooks magazines posters public health pamphlets educational websites and Hollywood movies But Sappol concludes Kahn s illustrations also pose profound and unsettling epistemological questions about the construction and performance of the self Lavishly illustrated with more than 100 images Body Modern imaginatively explores the relationship between conceptual image image production and embodied experience

Gender, Orientalism and the Jewish Nation Lynne M. Swarts, 2020-01-23 Ephraim Moses Lilien 1874 1925 was one of the most important Jewish artists of modern times As a successful illustrator photographer painter and printer he became the first major Zionist artist Surprisingly there has been little in depth scholarly research and analysis of Lilien s work available in English making this book an important contribution to historical and art historical scholarship Concentrating mainly on his illustrations for journals and books Lynne Swarts acknowledges the importance of Lilien s groundbreaking male iconography in Zionist art but is the first to examine Lilien s complex and nuanced depiction of women which comprised a major dimension of his work Lilien s female images offer a compelling glimpse of an alternate independent and often sexually liberated modern Jewish woman a portrayal that often eluded the Zionist imagination Using an interdisciplinary approach to integrate intellectual and cultural history with issues of gender Jewish history and visual culture Swarts also explores the important fin de si cle tensions between European and Oriental expressions of Jewish femininity The work demonstrates that Lilien was not a minor figure in the European art scene but a major figure whose work needs re reading in light of his cosmopolitan and national artistic genius The Professionalization of Window Display in Britain, 1919-1939 Kerry Meakin, 2024-09-05 This book provides the first comprehensive history of window display as a practice and profession in Britain during the dynamic period of 1919 to 1939 In recent decades the disciplines of retail history business history design and cultural history have contributed to the study of department stores and other types of shops However these studies have only made passing references to window display and its role in retail society and culture Kerry Meakin investigates the conditions that enabled window display to become a professional practice during the interwar period exploring the shift in display styles developments within education and training and the international influence on methods and techniques Piecing together the evidence visual and written about people events organisations exhibitions and debates Meakin provides a critical examination of this vital period of design history highlighting major display designers and artists The book reveals the modernist aesthetic developments that influenced high street displays and how they introduced passers by to modern art movements German Colonialism and National Identity Michael Perraudin, Juergen Zimmerer, 2010-09-14 German colonialism is a thriving field of study From North America to Japan within Germany Austria and Switzerland scholars are increasingly applying post colonial questions and methods to the study of Germany and its culture However no introduction on this emerging field of study has combined political and cultural approaches the study of literature and art and the examination of both metropolitan and local discourses and memories This book will fill that gap and offer a broad prelude of interest to any scholar and student of German history and culture as well as of colonialism in general It will be an indispensable tool for both undergraduate and postgraduate teaching The Female Secession Megan

Brandow-Faller, 2020-06-22 Decorative handcrafts are commonly associated with traditional femininity and unthreatening docility However the artists connected with interwar Vienna's female Secession created craft based artworks that may be understood as sites of feminist resistance In this book historian Megan Brandow Faller tells the story of how these artists disrupted long established boundaries by working to dislodge fixed oppositions between art and craft decorative and profound and masculine and feminine in art Tracing the history of the women's art movement in Secessionist Vienna from its origins in 1897 at the Women's Academy to the Association of Austrian Women Artists and its radical offshoot the Wiener Frauenkunst Brandow Faller tells the compelling story of a movement that reclaimed the stereotypes attached to the idea of Frauenkunst or women's art She shows how generational struggles and diverging artistic philosophies of art craft and design drove the conservative and radical wings of Austria's women's art movement apart and explores the ways female artists and craftswomen reinterpreted and extended the Klimt Group's ideas in the interwar years Brandow Faller draws a direct connection to the themes that impelled the better known explosion of feminist art in 1970s America In this provocative story of a Viennese modernism that never disavowed its ornamental decorative roots she gives careful attention to key primary sources including photographs and reviews of early twentieth century exhibitions and archival records of school curricula and personnel Engagingly written and featuring more than eighty representative illustrations The Female Secession recaptures the radical potential of what Fanny Harlfinger Zakucka referred to as works from women's hands It will appeal to art historians working in the decorative arts and modernism as well as historians of Secession era Vienna and gender history

The Politics of the Artificial Victor Margolin, 2018-01-11 Emerging from the world of commercial art and product styling design has now become completely integrated into human life Its marks are all around us from the chairs we sit on to the Web sites on our computer screens One of the pioneers of design studies and still one of its most distinguished practitioners Victor Margolin here offers a timely meditation on design and its study at the turn of the millennium and charts new directions for the future development of both fields Divided into sections on the practice and study of design the essays in The Politics of the Artificial cover such topics as design history design research design as a political tool sustainable design and the problems of design's relation to advanced technologies Margolin also examines the work of key practitioners such as the matrix designer Ken Isaacs Throughout the book Margolin demonstrates the underlying connections between the many ways of reflecting on and practicing design He argues for the creation of an international interdisciplinary field of design research and proposes a new ethical agenda for designers and researchers that encompasses the responsibility to users the problems of sustainability and the complicated questions of how to set boundaries for applying advanced technology to solve the problems of human life Opinionated and erudite Victor Margolin's The Politics of the Artificial breaks fresh ground in its call for a new approach to design research and practice Designers engineers architects anthropologists sociologists and historians will all benefit from its insights Bauhaus Effects in Art, Architecture, and Design Kathleen

James-Chakraborty, Sabine T. Kriebel, 2022-04-21 Bringing together an international team of scholars this book offers new perspectives on the impact that the Bauhaus and its teaching had on a wide range of artistic practices Three of the fields in which the Bauhaus generated immediately transformative effects were housing typography and photography Contributors go further to chart the surprising relation of the school to contemporary developments in hairstyling and shop window display in unprecedented detail New scholarship has detailed the degree to which Bauhaus faculty and students set off around the world but it has seldom paid attention to its impact in communist East Germany or in countries like Ireland where no Bauhausler settled This wide ranging collection makes clear that a century after its founding many new stories remain to be told about the influence of the twentieth century's most innovative arts institution The book will be of interest to scholars working in art history design history photography and architectural history
